SOMETHING FOR THE LANDSCAPE

Dennis Patton of 474 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, has been in Marin less than a year but has become much enamored of it. One thing it needs, though, he decided, is some eye-catchers on the less attractive stretches of freeway. So Patton, an artist, decided to do something about it. What he did was this 14-foot Trojan horse under the Greenbrae highway interchange, which he completed yesterday after 10 hours' work — and in which he showed justifiable pride.

$85,000 Sausalito Triplex Gutted By Midnight Flames

Tenants In Hospital For Smoke Inhalation

Fire early today gutted an $85,000 Sausalito triplex at 145 Prospect Avenue and hospitalized two occupants of the building with smoke inhalation.

James Caffaro and Morrell Willeford, both 40 and occupants of the second floor apartment, were reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital.

All of the 21 firemen who fought the two-hour blaze from three trucks suffered from smoke inhalation, but none required medical treatment.

Cause of the fire remained under investigation, Fire Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen said.

The fire was reported at 12:21 a. m. by Mrs. George Nevitt, 158 Prospect Avenue, when she discovered flames soaring from every opening of the top apartment. The fire collapsed the roof and burned down into the middle apartment.

OWNER ABSENT

Owner of the building, C. H. Hobbs, was not in his top floor apartment when the fire started. A guest, Chris Pagan, 26, was forced by flames to slide down a balcony support to the balcony of the apartment below. He also managed to rescue Hobbs' two-year-old Schnauzer, Max.

Occupants of the bottom apartment, Russ Bonnett, 28, and Lee Morris were not injured, but their apartment suffered heavy water damage.

Hobbs, part owner of the Sausalito Hotel, told firemen that his apartment contained $30,000 in rare antiques and old paintings. All were lost.

A "hot" high voltage wire ran wild for awhile on the south side of the building, shooting blue sparks until turned off by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

TWO CARS LOST

The fire also burned two cars in the carport, one owned by Hobbs and one by Caffaro.

The fire occurred after 30 guests had left a party in Caffaro's apartment.

Two surges of electric power in recent weeks, Hobbs noted, burned out electric appliances in the building.

Alto fire department sent an engine and two men to cover Sausalito Fire Station No. 1 during the fire.

THIS WAS THE FRONT ROOM— Asst. Chief Frank Christ of Sausalito Fire Department and Ronald A. Hoag, gas service man from Pacific Gas and Electric Co., today examined ruins of $85,000 Sausalito triplex in search of cause of fire which destroyed its upper stories.

Nuclear Test Rocks Nevada, Detected Afar

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) one of the largest underground thermonuclear blasts in history today, the rival of a Russian test last October.

The explosion, which had a maximum equivalent of one million tons of TNT, swayed high-rise gambling resorts in Las Vegas 100 miles away and solidly jolted a small desert town near ground zero.

NO INJURIES

No injuries or severe damage was reported in southern or central Nevada.

The blast was recorded on seismographs at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena some 300 miles from round zero. Dr. Charles Richter of Caltech said the detonation apparently was the largest underground nuclear blast ever tested in Nevada.

Seismographs on the East Coast recorded the blast approximately six minutes after detonation.

6.3 ON SCALE

The University of California at Berkeley said its seismograph recorded the blast as having a magnitude of 6.3 on the Richter Scale. The Russian test in October registered in Sweden at 6.2 on the Richter Scale.

Dust rose from the desert floor at ground zero when the device was touched off at 7:30 a.m. PST. The earth bulged skyward between six inches to a foot. The earth shock waves struck Las Vegas in a series of jolts only seconds after tht detonation.

E. T. Wood, a bellman at the high-rise Dunes Hotel on the Las Vegas Strip, said he could feel the earth shocks for four or five minutes.

Television antennas swayed like tree limbs in Beatty, according to one of the 750 residents in the town located about 30 miles from ground zero.

Most Beatty residents were out in the streets before blast time. Fire engines and an ambulance were standing by. They were not needed.

The AEC said there was no indication that any radiation escaped into the atmosphere.

Another Cold Marin Night

Marin's two-day cold snap will continue tonight and tomorrow, pushing temperatures down into the 30s in some areas, the Weather Bureau said today.

At noon, the thermometer read only 46 in San Rafael, where the early morning low was 40. Woodacre recorded a county low of 39 early today.

The Weather Bureau said the recent chill has been caused by longer nights and a moist fog which has cloaked the area. A temperature range of 45 to 53 was forecast for today, with a low of 35 predicted for normally cool areas tonight.

Novato, Sausalito and Mill Valley also had lows of 40. San Anselmo reported a low of 41.

Courthouse Bidding Widened By Board

By STEPHEN COOK

Marin County supervisors today approved a compromise resolution for sale of the San Rafael Courthouse square which will require preservation of the buildings and grounds for only five years after purchase.

Effect of the unanimous agreement, said Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, should be to make the bidding "wide open."

The action followed more than an hour of debate, with Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Ernest N. Kettenhofen the principal sparrers, over the historical value of the building vs. best interest of downtown San Rafael and the county coffers.

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Marin Visitors Bureau all questioned the contention of the Marin County Historical Society that the courthouse building has historical value.

They urged unrestricted bidding. "This is such an unusual opportunity," said Sig K. Herzog Jr., president of the San Rafael Chamber. "Proper development would revitalize the whole downtown area."

Just before acceptance of the resolution calling for bids at 2 p.m. Feb. 14, a substitute motion supported by Kettenhofen and Leydecker failed 3-2.

The motion would have required preservation for five years after physical possession of the courthouse by the new owner in 1968. The motion approved preserves it only three years after the county moves out.

The resolution calls for a minimum bid of $900,000 and states that it can be paid in two instalments, July 1 of 1967 and 1968, or one lump sum on July 1, 1967.

It sets rent to be paid by the county after the entire sum is paid at one per cent of the purchase price per month.

County counsel Douglas J. Maloney said this is a rate of 17 and one-third cents per square foot, based on a $900,000 price tag, as opposed to the 21 and one-

Council Asks Courthouse Zoning Action

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Zoning of the courthouse square will proceed at once, and its sale by the county should await the zoning, the San Rafael City Council agreed last night.

The council would not go beyond that, however, in a response to a plea by Sig K. Herzog, president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, that it "do something to stop" sale of the old square to Harry Heifetz under an arrangement for preserving the old courthouse.

The San Rafael Planning Commission is to resume discussion of the zoning at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in City Hall.

Heifezt has offered the county $900,000 for the property with an agreement that the courthouse shall remain virtually unchanged from its present appearance.

Red Missile Backfires On Own Fleet

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops today blasted one of their own fishing fleets with surface-to-air (SAM) missiles intended for raiding U. S. Navy planes, a military spokesman reported.

The spokesman said the reports were only fragmentary but indications were that two SAMs fell back to the ground and exploded and that others hit in the middle of a Communist fishing fleet and blew up.

The American reports tended to substantiate earlier U.S. reports that some SAM missiles had fallen back onto Hanoi during the Dec. 13-14 raids, causing heavy damage the Communists blamed on American planes.

The announcement of the fishing fleet incident indicated American planes once more bombed North Vietnam today but there were no details.

No U.S. plane losses were reported from yesterday's raid, although swarms of Soviet-built jets rose to meet the Americans. The petroleum dump at Ha Gia, 14 miles from Hanoi, is adjacent to the Phuc Yen airfield and is where the MIGs draw their fuel supplies.

B-52 strategic bombers returned today and bombed Communist troop concentrations on the six-mile wide Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam where the Communists are still trying to mount an offensive. The B-52s hit just below the DMZ late yesterday.

Hanoi Cold-Shoulders Thant's Peace Effort

COMBINED AP & UPI

United Nations Secretary General Thant today was pressing his peace maneuvers requested by the U.S., but the North Vietnam government was busy throwing cold water on the proposal.

Thant's maneuvering in response to the American peace appeal was expected to take place quietly outside the formal work of the United Nations.

Armed with a promise of full U.S. cooperation, Thant met yesterday with Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Federenko and Algerian Ambassador Tewfik Bouattoura to discuss the request.

In the past the secretary general, who has no direct communications with North Vietnam, has communicated to Hanoi through the North Vietnamese legation in Algiers.

Soviet support of any drive toward peace was considered essential. The Russians are believed anxious to see and end to the war, which has been a drain on their economy and a roadblock to better East-West relations.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg submitted the U.S. call in a letter to Thant, urging him to take the "steps necessary" to arrange talks for an extended ceasefire in iVetnam.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong representative in Communist China rejected today the U.S. request for peace in Vietnam through the United Nations, a Japanese report from Peking said.

Kyodo news service's Peking-based correspondent said the rejection was contained in a speech delivered in the Chinese capital by Nguyen Minh Phuong, acting head of the permanent mission of the National Front for Liberation, the Viet Cong political organ.

Kyodo quoted Nguyen as saying "the South Vietnamese people will not accept any condition for peace offered by the United States and will not allow U.S. use of the United Nations for its interference in South Vietnam."

Kyodo said Nguyen charged the United States is attempting to internationalize what he called "an aggressive war" in Vietnam by bringing it into the world body, which he contended is controlled by the United States.

Local union officials in Pittsburgh and New Castle declined comment.

Brown Sums Up Career, Has Warnings For Reagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — In his farewell address, Gov. Brown has told Californians he is leaving the house of government in order but is worried about how Ronald Reagan intends to maintain it.

The Democratic chief executive wrapped up 23 years of elective service last night in an evening mixing nostalgia, humor and pride in the work of him and his administration.

He managed to get a laugh out of his defeat by the Republican candidate, quipping "This is not exactly the kind of dinner I had planned on."

Turning serious, he told the hundreds of friends and others who have staffed eight years of his administration that "We are breaking up a great team this month. There may never be another like it in this or any other state government."

Reciting the list of achievements in water, education and other areas, Brown declared:

"Eight years ago, we set California's house in order. And we will leave here with the house in order—in splendid order."

Brown noted that the outgoing administration will leave a surplus of about $150 million for the new team to work with, obviously recalling the deficit left for himself when Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight left office in 1959.

The outgoing governor agreed that the state's main tax problem "is that the burden is unfairly distributed — with too much of the burden being carried by some property taxpayers and others."

Brown added that "The new administration ... must find new revenues within the next 18 months. But it has the time. All it needs is the courage to make an investment in the future that may be unpopular today."

He made it clear that Reagan's promises to cut the budget wherever possible and orders to departments to hold their next year's requests to this year's levels are unpopular with him.

"Government's only product is service. And services can only suffer when cuts in a budget are made across the board — or across the throat — without regard to the long-run impact of such action."

Reagan has said often that government must be run on a more business-like basis, and his top advisers are from business. Brown indirectly reacted to this by saying "The quality of government is not measured by any profit-and-loss sheet. It is measured by how well it plans for future needs of its people and how wisely it invests the peoples' funds in programs to meet those needs."

Treated For Fall

Mrs. Helen M. Wilson, 67, of 39 Pixley Avenue, Corte Madera, was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on her left leg after she fell from a chair while decorating a Christmas tree at her home at 7 p.m. yesterday.

FINANCE FIRM HAS TO PLAY SANTA'S ROLE

KANSAS, CITY, Mo. (AP)— The telephone in a finance company's office rang and a child's voice asked for Santa Claus.

In the next few hours, 75 to 100 children telephoned their Christmas requests to Jim McDonald, the company president.

"We just had to lay business aside," said McDonald. "The business of Santa Claus comes first."

He said he didn't know what mixup in phone numbers brought him the calls.

Topless Again Wins In Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Superior Court judge ruled Monday that the California Alcoholic Beverage Commission does not have the legal power to revoke a club's liquor license for employing topless waitresses or dancers.

The ABC had ruled that topless waitresses offended public health, welfare and morals regulations, even though courts had acquitted waitresses and dancers charged with criminal law violations.

Judge Joseph Karesh ruled the ABC's contention that barebosomed women were offensive was "arbitrary and capricious." He said the ABC failed to prove that topless waitresses increased immorality or intemperance.

Reagan, Unruh Talk Tax Cuts; Williams Named Welfare Chief

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan has filled another vacancy in his new administration and now is giving serious thought to creating "deputy governors" to help run the mammoth state government.

Republican Reagan also met with Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood during a visit to the capital yesterday. Both agreed property tax reduction in 1967 "is a must."

Reagan chose Spencer Williams, 49, Santa Clara County counsel and defeated Republican candidate for attorney general, to head the Health and Welfare Agency, which runs a billion-dollar social welfare program.

SPENCER WILLIAMS
To run big agency

A few minutes later, however, Williams was informed his $27,500-a-year job would be eliminated in a government reorganization plan proposed by one of Reagan's task forces.

The task force proposed immediate disbanding of four superagencies created by Democratic Gov. Brown's executive order. These are Revenue and Management, Business and Commerce, Public Safety, and Employment Relations. Their chiefs are heads of other departments and receive no extra pay for the additional duty.

The task force also proposed legislation dropping four more superagencies created by law in 1961. These are headed by $27,500-a-year administrators. They are Highway Transportation, Youth and Adult Corrections, Resources and Williams' agency, Health and Welfare.

Instead of superagency administrators, the task force said, the Reagan administration should seek creation of deputy governors. These high ranking officials would report directly to the governor and be in charge of broad policy for reorganized and consolidated state departments.

"I think it makes a good deal of sense," Reagan told a news conference.

He was flanked by Williams and Caspar Weinberger, head of the reorganization task force.

Dunrig the campaign, Reagan criticized the superagency plan as a layer of "fat" in government. Yesterday, he said requirements of federal law forced him to name a health and welfare chief. The agency receives $500 million in federal welfare funds. He did not specifically say whether the other agency administrator jobs would be filled.

In his pre-election speeches, Reagan also criticized Brown for appointing defeated candidates to public office. Williams was the only losing Republican statewide candidate in November's election.

Williams, he said, was recommended by a screening committee and had not applied for the job.

Weinberger told newsmen his task force also recommended that the Finance Department be revamped and that a director of the budget — reporting directly to the governor — prepare the state budget.

But U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver P. Gasch ruled yesterday that some Baker conversations which were monitored by the FBI cannot be introduced in evidence.

Baker

Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, claimed the grand jury which indicted him was biased by extensive publicity and that his constitutional rights were violated by the FBI's electronic eavesdropping. He also asked for separate trials on the three categories of charges.

Gasch refused to dismiss the indictment, ruled against separate trials and said any recorded conversation Baker had with persons who cannot be identified will not be introduced.

Baker, 38, was indicted nearly a year ago on nine counts which, if he is convicted, could bring total punishment of 48 years in prison and $47,000 in fines. He has pleaded innocent.

Brown Sums Up Career, Has Warnings For Reagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — In his farewell address, Gov. Brown has told Californians he is leaving the house of government in order but is worried about how Ronald Reagan intends to maintain it.

The Democratic chief executive wrapped up 23 years of elective service last night in an evening mixing nostalgia, humor and pride in the work of him and his administration.

He managed to get a laugh out of his defeat by the Republican candidate, quipping "This is not exactly the kind of dinner I had planned on."

Turning serious, he told the hundreds of friends and others who have staffed eight years of his administration that "We are breaking up a great team this month. There may never be another like it in this or any other state government."

Reciting the list of achievements in water, education and other areas, Brown declared:

"Eight years ago, we set California's house in order. And we will leave here with the house in order—in splendid order."

KENNEDY TAKES TO THE EXPERT SLOPES

CAB Blames Air Collision On Illusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board blamed today an optical illusion for the two-mile-high collision last December of two airliners with 112 persons aboard about 50 miles north of New York City. Four persons died in the accident.

One plane — a four-engine jet from San Francisco — landed at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York City with 25 feet of its left wing missing. The other — a four-engine propeller craft on the Boston-Newark, N.J., shuttle — crashed into a rural hillside near the New York-Connecticut border.

The board said the probable cause of the collision was a misjudgment in aititude by the crew of the Eastern Air Lines shuttle because of an optical illusion created by the up-slope effect of cloud tops.

This, the board said, made it appear as if the plane were on a collision course, although both were at their proper altitudes — the Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 jet at 11,000 feet and the Eastern Air Lines Constellation at 10,000 feet.

The illusion prompted the crew of the Eastern shuttle to make an evasive maneuver — a sharp climb — while the crew of the jet made a right bank, the board said. The left wing of the jet collided with the right vertical fin and horizontal stabilizer of the propeller plane, the board said.

Two Teens Victims Of Sadistic Slayings

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A massive manhunt by Utah law enforcement officers was under way today in the bizarre murders of two teen-aged service station attendants.

Steven Shea and Michael Holtz, both 18, were robbed, abducted and slashed to death on consecutive nights. The killer or killers apparently carried out the sadistic slayings after stripping all the clothing from the victims.

Holtz' mutilated body was found yesterday in the snow-covered mountains east of Salt Lake City. He had been abducted Sunday night about 12 hours after Shea's body was located by a party of rabbit hunters in the Western Utah desert. Each was stabbed five times.

Outraged by the killings, the state of Utah and the Salt Lake City Deseret News each offered $1,000 rewards in cash.

Authorities sought to determine whether the killings were linked to the mysterious disappearance of two service station attendants in Denver.

Police patrols were doubled yesterday and service station owners and operators took steps to guard against a recurrence of the tragedies. Many stations put a second man on the night shift and replaced youngsters on those shifts with older, more expeienced attendants.

Police said a late model car that was "very powerful" may have been used in the abductions. This theory was advanced on the basis of tire tracks left by a car at the scene where Holtz' body was discovered.

Officers surmised the killer or killers threw Holtz' body from a car and that it landed on its back. They then got out of the car and turned the body face down in the snow.

Charge Of Auto Theft Dismissed

A charge of car theft against Grady Lester Harper Jr., 30, San Mateo, was dismissed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. because of insufficient evidence.

Dismissal was on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty, Jerry Herman. Harper was arrested by San Rafael police Nov. 11 when he failed to produce registration for a car he was in on B Street.

Compromise Still Sought In Kennedy Book Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he hopes for a compromise in the dispute over publication of the book about the assassination of his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

"I hope that some day the book will be published," the Massachusetts Democrat said in an interview last night over Boston television station WHDH on the program "Channel 5 Reports."

Asked by the interviewer whether, despite the legal fight, there was a possibility of compromise, Kennedy replied: "Let's hope so."

A spokesman for Look magazine, one of the two publishers named last Friday in a suit filed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy to block publication of the book, said today "informal communications" between the two opposing sides are still continuing in efforts to settle the case out of court. A hearing on Mrs. Kennedy's suit has been set for Dec. 27.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said from Sun Valley, Idaho, where he is on a winter skiing vacation, that he thought only four pages of the Manchester book were objectionable. He said he agreed material turned over to Manchester on the late president should be kept for posterity — but not for the general public right now.

Robert Kennedy also echoed the charges made in the statement issued by the Kennedy family spokesman in New York.

He said the two publishers had forced him and the president's widow into the suit because they had refused to allow representatives of the Kennedy family to see the manuscript until Mrs. Kennedy filed her suit last Friday.

Edward Kennedy said that "there has never been any question on my part or Mrs. Kennedy's or Sen. Robert Kennedy's part" but the book would be published.

He said 10 hours of taped interviews that Mrs. Kennedy gave to Manchester in late 1963 revealed "the most intimate kinds of personal details."

Mrs. Kennedy, he said, allowed the tapings for "background and perspective." He said it was her "very earnest hope" that she would have a say in what would be used.

Fonda Marijuana Jury Deadlocks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A mistrial has been declared in the marijuana case of actor Peter Fonda after a jury was unable to reach a verdict yesterday.

The 26-year-old son of actor Henry Fonda had been accused of possessing the drug which police said they found in a house in suburban Tarzana.

The prosecution charged Fonda leased the house and resided there with three friends who were codefendants.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A massive manhunt by Utah law enforcement officers was under way today in the bizarre murders of two teen-aged service station attendants.

Steven Shea and Michael Holtz, both 18, were robbed, abducted and slashed to death on consecutive nights. The killer or killers apparently carried out the sadistic slayings after stripping all the clothing from the victims.

Holtz' mutilated body was found yesterday in the snow-covered mountains east of Salt Lake City. He had been abducted Sunday night about 12 hours after Shea's body was located by a party of rabbit hunters in the Western Utah desert. Each was stabbed five times.

Outraged by the killings, the state of Utah and the Salt Lake City Deseret News each offered $1,000 rewards in cash.

Authorities sought to determine whether the killings were linked to the mysterious disappearance of two service station attendants in Denver.

Police patrols were doubled yesterday and service station owners and operators took steps to guard against a recurrence of the tragedies. Many stations put a second man on the night shift and replaced youngsters on those shifts with older, more expeienced attendants.

Police said a late model car that was "very powerful" may have been used in the abductions. This theory was advanced on the basis of tire tracks left by a car at the scene where Holtz' body was discovered.

Officers surmised the killer or killers threw Holtz' body from a car and that it landed on its back. They then got out of the car and turned the body face down in the snow.

Charge Of Auto Theft Dismissed

A charge of car theft against Grady Lester Harper Jr., 30, San Mateo, was dismissed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. because of insufficient evidence.

Dismissal was on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry Herman. Harper was arrested by San Rafael police Nov. 11 when he failed to produce registration for a car he was in on B Street.

Compromise Still Sought In Kennedy Book Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he hopes for a compromise in the dispute over publication of the book about the assassination of his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

"I hope that some day the book will be published," the Massachusetts Democrat said in an interview last night over Boston television station WHDH on the program "Channel 5 Reports."

Asked by the interviewer whether, despite the legal fight, there was a possibility of compromise, Kennedy replied: "Let's hope so."

A spokesman for Look magazine, one of the two publishers named last Friday in a suit filed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy to block publication of the book, said today "informal communications" between the two opposing sides are still continuing in efforts to settle the case out of court. A hearing on Mrs. Kennedy's suit has been set for Dec. 27.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said from Sun Valley, Idaho, where he is on a winter skiing vacation, that he thought only four pages of the Manchester book were objectionable. He said he agreed material turned over to Manchester on the late president should be kept for posterity — but not for the general public right now.

Robert Kennedy also echoed the charges made in the statement issued by the Kennedy family spokesman in New York.

He said the two publishers had forced him and the president's widow into the suit because they had refused to allow representatives of the Kennedy family to see the manuscript until Mrs. Kennedy filed her suit last Friday.

Edward Kennedy said that "there has never been any question on my part or Mrs. Kennedy's or Sen. Robert Kennedy's part" but the book would be published.

He said 10 hours of taped interviews that Mrs. Kennedy gave to Manchester in late 1963 revealed "the most intimate kinds of personal details."

Mrs. Kennedy, he said, allowed the tapings for "background and perspective." He said it was her "very earnest hope" that she would have a say in what would be used.

The prosecution charged Fonda leased the house and resided there with three friends who were codefendants.

half cents per square foot paid to rent the county schools offices in Corte Madera.

Before the supervisors began bargaining, Behr argued for no restriction for preservation of the courthouse, saying:

"My best friends will hate me tonight, but I think we should leave the future of this site in the hands of the city of San Rafael. We can't afford the possibility of losing $200,000 or $300,000. The historical value of this building will be simply in its facade. We have no reason to believe the merchants are not correct, that something can be done here."

Kettenhofen praised developer Harry Heifetz for his offer of $900,000 for the site, saying that bids on the property would probably have come in around $600,000 if he had not made the offer.

He argued for 10-year preservation of the site as is, with possible waiver of restrictions after that time if the developer, the county, and San Rafael agreed.

"Thisis a way of marking time," he said. "If you rush this development, you're going to settle for second best. The longer we wait the better the development will be. There is not a building standing today that would not have been improved by a five-year wait."

"They did pretty well with the parthenon," Behr responded.

Eliminated from the resolution, as prepared by the county staff, was a requirement that after the five years, the courthouse could be taken down only by agreement of both San Rafael and the county. Maloney said this might be illegally infringing on the city's jurisdiction.

Raymond H. Shone, attorney for Heifitz, said his client will bid under the rules established. He said Heifitz had two motives in his offer — profit and preservation of the courthouse, particularly the open land fronting on Fourth Street.

Peace Pickets Plan March

Silent "peace pickets" were scheduled to parade outside Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, unsuccessful candidate tinuing "silent vigil" protesting the war in Vietnam.

Organized by the Marin County chapter of the Conference for New Politics, the group is headed by Phillip Drath of San Rafael, unsuccessful ecandidate for the Democratic nomination for the First District Congressional seat in the June primaries.

Mrs. Drath said today that the picketing, which began Saturday, has gained impetus, and yesterday's total of 25 pickets should be exceeded today.

The vigil will continue each afternoon until Christmas Day.

Half a dozen persons suffered burns, police said.

More than 20 pieces of fire equipment responded but the firemen were hampered because the blazing area was surrounded by buildings and firewalls and could be reached only by walkways.

LINDY CRABTREE
Mother wants her home

Adventuress Has Plane Fare Home

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A girl who ran away from her Honolulu home last month has an airlines ticket waiting for her at the Bureau of Missing Persons.

Mrs. Patsy Crabtree, Honolulu, sent the ticket in hopes of getting her daughter, Lindy, 16, home before Christmas. Mrs. Crabtree also asked news media in the San Francisco Bay Area to help locate the girl.

Lindy was arrested last month as a probable runaway in San Francisco. She told police at the time she was Cynthia Watts, 21, a British adventuress who stowed away on ships and smuggled narcotics from the Orient.

Doubting her story, police agencies distributed her photograph through the U. S. Immigration Department, British Consulate and the FBI. Her mother saw one of the photos and recognized the girl.

She telephoned the Missing Persons Bureau only to learn Lindy had left a foster home with an unidentified young man last Wednesday night.

"We still don't know where she is," said a bureau spokesman today. "We've got that airline ticket laying on a desk with her name on it. No one has picked it up yet."

Kuchel Demands Red Steel Probe

BURBANK (UPI) —A "complete and thorough investigation" of reports that American forces in South Vietnam bought steel from Communist China was demanded yesterday by Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.

"True or false the incredible London Observer story demands complete and thorough investigation by both the executive and legislative branches of the government," Kuchel said.

The newspaper said Sunday that several thousand tons of Red Chinese Steel valued at $1 million had been supplied to American forces through intermediaries in Hong Kong and Singapore.

Violinist Goes Back To Fiddle

BUREAU, Ill. (AP) — Violin playing will be a new line again for W. A. Johnston, 66, who retired as a mechanic after 44 years with the Rock Island Railroad.

His wife, who is a musician, bought him a $35 bow for his violin so he can take up the hobby where he left off soon after he married.

"She changed things," he said. "She taught me to read music."

Until then, Johnston played "by ear" like his father.

WILD BIRD DUCKED IN; FISHED OUT

A wild bird they call a Helldiver took to the Crom family's swimming pool in Tiburon like a duck takes to water. It had so much fun over the weekend no one could it out.

Officials of the Humane Society of Marin spend most of Sunday trying to catch the duck, which had made its home in the pool at 212 Martinique Avenue, Paradise Cay.

Yesterday, they returned with Tiburon Fire Capt. Charles Pruett and fireman George Haggett, and together they caught the wayward duck in a fish net.

The Helldiver was taken to the edge of the bay and when last seen was heading straight for the deep end.

COUNCIL

downtown San Rafael, urged that the city buy the square to assure its proper development.

Councilman Charles W. Aby squelched that idea with the retort, "Suppose you give us the money."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that the city had offered to swap salable Francisco Boulevard property for the square but the county board of supervisors "did not appear interested."

The chamber of commerce a few weeks ago joined with a courthouse square committee appointed by the board of supervisors to ask delay in zoning.

The committee and chamber agreed that the square should be placed in a special zone for limited commercial development retaining its park-like atmosphere, but objected to specific open-space and setback requirements in an especially written ordinance modeled on a plan drawn by eingneer Daniel P. Coleman.

That was before the Heifetz offer.

Last night, Herzog was all for speedy action. And the council had letters from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and from the supervisor-appointed committee, headed by Fred F. Enemark, urging that it "do something"to prevent the sale under Heifetz's terms.

"You couldn't force them to tear the courthouse down,' pointed out City Atty. David Menary.

"We should put any purchaser on notice that the city is holding hearings on rezoning," said Councilman Charles W. Aby. "Anyone buying it now is buying a pig in a poke."

Aby pointed out that a letter to the supervisors from County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney suggested periodic city-county review of any deed restrictions placed on the sale—indicating the promise that the courthouse would remain "for 50 years" which Heifetz gave the supervisors might be subject to modification.

"Certainly the county could wait 60 or 90 days for the zoning," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini. "They don't need the money until 1968."

State Committed On 1967 Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California is "pretty well committed" to a next year's budget close to $5 billion despite what an economy-minded governor and legislature may do, Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post said today.

Post and Sen. George Miller, Jr., D-Martinez, told a news conference that the state should have an overall budget surplus of $156 million in June, 1967, and a deficit of $227 million in June, 1968.

half cents per square foot paid to rent the county schools offices in Corte Madera.

Before the supervisors began bargaining, Behr argued for no restriction for preservation of the courthouse, saying:

"My best friends will hate me tonight, but I think we should leave the future of this site in the hands of the city of San Rafael. We can't afford the possibility of losing $200,000 or $300,000. The historical value of this building will be simply in its facade. We have no reason to believe the merchants are not correct, that something can be done here."

Kettenhofen praised developer Harry Heifetz for his offer of $900,000 for the site, saying that bids on the property would probably have come in around $600,000 if he had not made the offer.

He argued for 10-year preservation of the site as is, with possible waiver of restrictions after that time if the developer, the county, and San Rafael agreed.

"Thisis a way of marking time," he said. "If you rush this development, you're going to settle for second best. The longer we wait the better the development will be. There is not a building standing today that would not have been improved by a five-year wait."

"They did pretty well with the parthenon," Behr responded.

Eliminated from the resolution, as prepared by the county staff, was a requirement that after the five years, the courthouse could be taken down only by agreement of both San Rafael and the county. Maloney said this might be illegally infringing on the city's jurisdiction.

Raymond H. Shone, attorney for Heifitz, said his client will bid under the rules established. He said Heifitz had two motives in his offer — profit and preservation of the courthouse, particularly the open land fronting on Fourth Street.

Peace Pickets Plan March

Silent "peace pickets" were scheduled to parade outside Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, unsuccessful candidate tinuing "silent vigil" protesting the war in Vietnam.

Organized by the Marin County chapter of the Conference for New Politics, the group is headed by Phillip Drath of San Rafael, unsuccessful ccandidate for the Democratic nomination for the First District Congressional seat in the June primaries.

The vigil will continue each afternoon until Christmas Day.

LINDY CRABTREE
Mother wants her home

Adventuress Has Plane Fare Home

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A girl who ran away from her Honolulu home last month has an airlines ticket waiting for her at the Bureau of Missing Persons.

Mrs. Patsy Crabtree, Honolulu, sent the ticket in hopes of getting her daughter, Lindy, 16, home before Christmas. Mrs. Crabtree also asked news media in the San Francisco Bay Area to help locate the girl.

Lindy was arrested last month as a probable runaway in San Francisco. She told police at the time she was Cynthia Watts, 21, a British adventuress who stowed away on ships and smuggled narcotics from the Orient.

Doubting her story, police agencies distributed her photograph through the U. S. Immigration Department, British Consulate and the FBI. Her mother saw one of the photos and recognized the girl.

She telephoned the Missing Persons Bureau only to learn Lindy had left a foster home with an unidentified young man last Wednesday night.

"We still don't know where she is," said a bureau spokesman today. "We've got that airline ticket laying on a desk with her name on it. No one has picked it up yet."

Kuchel Demands Red Steel Probe

BURBANK (UPI) —A "complete and thorough investigation" of reports that American forces in South Vietnam bought steel from Communist China was demanded yesterday by Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.

"True or false the incredible London Observer story demands complete and thorough investigation by both the executive and legislative branches of the government," Kuchel said.

The newspaper said Sunday that several thousand tons of Red Chinese Steel valued at $1 million had been supplied to American forces through intermediaries in Hong Kong and Singapore.

Violinist Goes Back To Fiddle

BUREAU, Ill. (AP) — Violin playing will be a new line again for W. A. Johnston, 66, who retired as a mechanic after 44 years with the Rock Island Railroad.

His wife, who is a musician, bought him a $35 bow for his violin so he can take up the hobby where he left off soon after he married.

"She changed things," he said. "She taught me to read music."

Until then, Johnston played "by ear" like his father.

WILD BIRD DUCKED IN; FISHED OUT

A wild bird they call a Helldiver took to the Crom family's swimming pool in Tiburon like a duck takes to water. It had so much fun over the weekend no one could it out.

Officials of the Humane Society of Marin spend most of Sunday trying to catch the duck, which had made its home in the pool at 212 Martinique Avenue, Paradise Cay.

Yesterday, they returned with Tiburon Fire Capt. Charles Pruett and fireman George Haggett, and together they caught the wayward duck in a fish net.

The Helldiver was taken to the edge of the bay and when last seen was heading straight for the deep end.

downtown San Rafael, urged that the city buy the square to assure its proper development.

Councilman Charles W. Aby squelched that idea with the retort, "Suppose you give us the money."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that the city had offered to swap salable Francisco Boulevard property for the square but the county board of supervisors "did not appear interested."

The chamber of commerce a few weeks ago joined with a courthouse square committee appointed by the board of supervisors to ask delay in zoning.

The committee and chamber agreed that the square should be placed in a special zone for limited commercial development retaining its park-like atmosphere, but objected to specific open-space and setback requirements in an especially written ordinance modeled on a plan drawn by eingneer Daniel P. Coleman.

That was before the Heifetz offer.

Last night, Herzog was all for speedy action. And the council had letters from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and from the supervisor-appointed committee, headed by Fred F. Enemark, urging that it "do something"to prevent the sale under Heifetz's terms.

"You couldn't force them to tear the courthouse down,' pointed out City Atty. David Menary.

"We should put any purchaser on notice that the city is holding hearings on rezoning," said Councilman Charles W. Aby. "Anyone buying it now is buying a pig in a poke."

Aby pointed out that a letter to the supervisors from County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney suggested periodic city-county review of any deed restrictions placed on the sale—indicating the promise that the courthouse would remain "for 50 years" which Heifetz gave the supervisors might be subject to modification.

"Certainly the county could wait 60 or 90 days for the zoning," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini. "They don't need the money until 1968."

State Committed On 1967 Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California is "pretty well committed" to a next year's budget close to $5 billion despite what an economy-minded governor and legislature may do, Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post said today.

Post and Sen. George Miller, Jr., D-Martinez, told a news conference that the state should have an overall budget surplus of $156 million in June, 1967, and a deficit of $227 million in June, 1968.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas week is here at last,
The tree is trimmed, the dye is cast,
Presents are wrapped and ready to give,
This is the time for which we live.

Now is the time to think and reflect,
For something is missing, what did we neglect?
Presents for all, dogs and cats, too,
Looking about and still no clue.

Turkey and roast, stuffing and cake,
What could it be for heaven's sake?
Seafood we have, produce and ice,
Juices and puddings, sugar and spice.

Lo and behold at the top of the tree,
A star so bright, so easy to see,
The message is clear, with its resounding call,

A Merry Christmas For One and All—

$4 Million Settlement In 1964 Nevada Air Tragedy

OAKLAND (AP)—A $4 million settlement yesterday ended a $29 million suit brought by the heirs of 81 passengers killed when an airplane crashed into a Nevada mountain.

Of the $4 million, five defendants are to pay three-quarters. Earlier Paradise Airlines had been ordered by a federal court to pay the other $1 million.

The passengers and four crew members were killed in March 1964 when a Paradise Constellation crashed near Lake Tahoe.

Settlement, approved by Judge Robert Brailsford in Alameda County Superior Court, came after 36 days of trial.

Paradise Airlines was not a defendant because of the payment previously ordered by a federal court.

Defendants were accused of contributing to the crash and Edward M. Digardi, attorney for the heirs, said they would share equally in paying the award.

Defendants were Harrah's Club; El Dorado County, operator of the Tahoe Valley Airport; the Robert Dollar Co., parent company of Hangar 4 at Oakland International Airport; Hangar 4; and Air Instrument Repair Co.

Harrah's was accused of encouraging the airline to fly even in bad weather. The Tahoe airport was accused of giving the airline faulty weather information. The hangar and instrument firms were accused of improperly installing and maintaining the plane's altimeter and compass.

Uncle Sam Publishes Weighty Yule Gift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With fewer than five shopping days left before Christmas, the government announced today publication of a 1,290-page, two-volume work of official presidential documents for 1965.

Selling for $12.50, the books cover President Johnson's second full year in office and include public messages and statements, transcripts of his news conferences and other documents made public by the White House.

U.S. Seeking Soviet Missile Base Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, seeking to head off a fantastically expensive new arms race, is said to be urging Russia to limit further deployment of its anti-ballistic missile (ABM) system.

Johnson administration sources said last night that the United States would not make a final decision on whether to begin deployment of its Nike-X ABM system until January or possibly February.

These sources said international discussions were in progress on the perils posed by the Soviet Union's entry into the anti-missile field. The Russians are said to have already begun deployment in a limited way.

The American hope is that the Russians can be induced to hold off further deployment until the Geneva disarmament conference reconvenes Feb. 21.

The question of whether the United States should proceed with the deployment of Nike-X became a major subject of concern here after Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed on Nov. 10 that the Russians had started placing anti-missile missiles in position.

The administration had oped to avoid getting involved in another arms race with Russia, especially one that involves expenditure of upwards of $40 billion, the price tag on Nike-X.

McNamara said recently in private conversations that the ABM could never be a really effective defense against improved missiles. His theory is that the best defense is an improved offense. The administration, following this line of thought, is planning to arm the far-ranging Polaris submarines with the new Poseidon missiles.

Arraignment Held On Grand Theft

Airman 1/c Thomas Jacob Susz, 28, of Hamilton Air Force Base, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on a felony charge of grand theft and is to enter plea Jan. 3.

Trailer Tree Fire Claims Four Tots

LOMPOC (UPI) — Four children playing around a Christmas tree were fatally burned last night when flames swept their trailer home and drove back rescue attempts by their mother.

The mother Mrs. Sandra Kay Moon, 21, was visiting a neighbor when another neighbor noticed flames coming from the two bedroom trailer home.

Mrs. Moon sped to her home and opened the door in hopes of reaching the youngsters. But smoke and flames spewing from the living room prevented the mother or neighbors from reaching the children.

Firemen responded from their station only a few blocks away and quenched the blaze within minutes. The bodies of the four little girls, Debra, 5, Dannette, 3, La Donna, 2, and La Vonda, 4 months, were found huddled around the charred Christmas tree and burned gifts,

Commission Urges Study Of State's Abortion Law

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Governor's Study Commission on Population is urging legislative study of California's 1872 abortion law.

The commission, failing to agree on a stronger resolution, sent that one to Gov. Brown yesterday.

Rev. C. Lester Kinsolving, who represented the Episcopal Diocese of California on the nine-member board, termed the watered-down resolution "an exercise in futility" and a "defection from duty."

He said, "I am going to write a minority report. We have taken no stand. It seems to me that if we can take no stand on this issue, our work has been worthless."

Father Kinsolving had supported a resolution which called the ancient abortion law "too restrictive" and urged it be liberalized. Dr. Kingsley Davis, chairman of the University of California Department of Sociology, and Dr. Keith Russell, Los Angeles obstetrician-gynecologist, prepared the resolution.

Right Rev. Timothy O'Brien director of the Department of Health and Hospitals of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco, and Francis Gallagher, San Diego lawyer, wrote the resolution that passed.

Police Seeking Tragedy's Cause

WILMINGTON (AP)—Police are seeking a motive for the apparent murder - suicide that resulted in the death of a family of five.

Anibal Saltares, 24, of Long Beach, shot his estranged wife, Carmen, 22, and their children, Anibal Jr., 4, Susan, 3, and Rose, 9 months, and then turned the revolver on himself yesterday, officers reported.

Mrs. Saltares died instantly, police said, and the children and Saltares died later at a local hospital. All had been shot in the head.

Police said the Saltares separated last October and that Mrs. Saltares and the children recently moved into her foster parents' Wilmington home.

How come Ernie sent a different Scotch this year?

Because he likes 100 Pipers better than the Scotch he used to send, and he thinks that you will too.

We don't mind telling you that we like being liked, and we worked pretty hard to earn Ernie's esteem.

We didn't dream up 100 Pipers overnight. It took 20 years of testing and tasting, testing and tasting, before we had a Scotch good enough to change Ernie's mind.

Maybe it'll change yours too. Think about it while you're finishing your drink. And now that the bottle is open for discussion, the least you can do is ask your old buddy over and pour some of that 100 Pipers where it'll be appreciated.

How come Ernie sent a different Scotch this year?

Because he likes 100 Pipers better than the Scotch he used to send, and he thinks that you will too.

We don't mind telling you that we like being liked, and we worked pretty hard to earn Ernie's esteem.

We didn't dream up 100 Pipers overnight. It took 20 years of testing and tasting, testing and tasting, before we had a Scotch good enough to change Ernie's mind.

Maybe it'll change yours too. Think about it while you're finishing your drink. And now that the bottle is open for discussion, the least you can do is ask your old buddy over and pour some of that 100 Pipers where it'll be appreciated.

In Ernest.

Lack Of Policy Blamed For Carol Commotion

Principal Allan Ellsberg of San Rafael High School yesterday blamed cancelling of Christmas carols in the school halls last Friday to lack of a written policy.

Ellsberg said he and his wife received about 20 phone calls during the weekend regarding the cancellation, although his number is not listed in the telephone directory.

"Most of the people complained about the lack of courage on the part of the administrators," he said.

However, said Ellsberg, he found no written policy in the district, so when teachers complained about the plan for Christmas caroling in the halls, he passed on the complaint to the acting superintendent for decision. Acting Supt. William C. Jordan called the county counsel. Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino advised caution in view of the Supreme Court decision of 1964 against holding prayers in public schools. The school cancelled the carols.

"In my previous districts," said Ellsberg, who came to San Rafael High School District this year from Emeryville, "we've had a board policy that we've followed. The policy was that as long as the event was educational in nature it was proper."

Ellsberg said some of the weekend callers were quite abusive, one telling his wife: "We used to have Christian administrators in the schools but I guess they've all left."

Ellsberg commented that he has been a lay reader in the Episcopal Church for 10 years.

Although Ellsberg, choir director Byron Jones, and Jordan all referred to "teachers" objecting to the carols as possibly illegal, no teacher has been identified as objecting except Morse F. Byer, social studies teacher who said his principal objection was that the caroling might interfere with final examinations he was giving.

Random Shot Kills Youth In East Bay

CONCORD (AP) — Terry Maloney, 18, of Lafayette was killed at 12:40 a.m. today by a bullet that crashed through a rear window of the automobile in which he was riding.

Lt. Ed Stockman of the sheriff's detective bureau said a Pleasant Hill youth he identified as Nicholas Antuna, 17, was arrested at his home two hours later.

Stockman said questioning of witnesses at the scene of the shooting led to the arrest.

Police indicated they were not certain the youths were acquainted.

The victim was a son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Maloney. The father has offices in Pleasant Hill.

Terry and a girl were in the back seat of a car, and another couple was in the front as the four left a country club dance. They were driving on the Danville Road when the bullet crashed into the car. It shattered the right side of Maloney's skull.

Deputies said the shot that killed the youth apparently was fired at random."

They did not amplify the remark. But there have been complaints to the sheriff and to county supervisors in recent months of "people shooting at random" in the area which is changing from rural to urban.

Rapid Transit Tracks Proposed

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Tracks proposed by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority in San Mateo County should run on the right of way of the Southern Pacific Railroad, it was decided yesterday.

The authority rejected a proposal to spend $34,000 for a study of the possibility of locating tracks of the $280 million project beneath El Camino Real.

County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald said the cost of the subway would be too high and traffic on the main thoroughfare would be disrupted during construction.

Prince Charles Studying Cello

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI)—Prince Charles, 18-year-old heir to the British throne, seems ambitious to become a one-man band. Already accomplished on the guitar and trumpet, he has taken up study of the cello at his Scottish school, Gordonstoun.

His teacher, Ella Taylor, a Scottish cellist, said the Prince needed only two months to master the fundamentals, something she said takes most students a year or so. And further, she said, "he has perfect pitch."

Councilmen Condemn Carol Foes

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, former longtime San Rafael Board of Education member, declared last night, "I would like to challenge those people who object to the singing of Christmas carols."

The mayor voiced this after City Councilman Harry A. Barbier declared near the close of last night's council meeting; "I think the Christmas spirit in San Rafael has been dampened by the fact that Byron Jones and his group were not allowed to sing carols in the high school halls. They were stopped by a handful of teachers. . . . I agree 100 per cent with Superintendent (William C.) Jordan that next year it should be scheduled and anyone who objects invited to take it to court."

"This is a Christian country," added Councilman Charles W. Aby. "It was founded as a Christian country. The rest of these people are here by sufferance, really."

"Next thing, they'll want to abolish Christmas," put in Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Judge Postpones Her Retirement

SACRAMENTO (AP) — San Francisco Municipal Judge Lenore Underwood today postponed her retirement until next year because she said Gov. Brown has refused to name a woman to replace her.

"I am postponing it only because I am being urged to do so by the women of San Francisco," said the lively, blonde jurist, who was 77 years old on Sunday.

Judge Underwood handed Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan a letter saying that she would not retire until Feb. 28, 1967—thus giving Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan a chance to name a woman judge if he wants to.

Chrysler Announces Plan For Cutbacks In January

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. today announced January production cutbacks at five U.S. and Canadian plants with planned company output trimmed 17,000 cars to a new goal of 124,000 passenger cars.

General Motors, Ford and American Motors previously had trimmed December or January production schedules.

Chrysler's announcement said the cutbacks were to balance production with demand.

It added that the St. Louis, Mo., and Windsor, Ont., plants will suspend production for the four-day work week beginning Jan. 3; the Detroit Lynch Road and Los Angeles plants the week of Jan. 9; and the Detroit Jefferson assembly plant the week of Jan. 16.

Production at the Jefferson plant will be reduced from 1,000 to 800 units daily when it resumes operations Jan. 25, Chrysler said.

Ford disclosed earlier this month that it had cut 22,000 cars from originally planned December-January production schedules, while AMC cut about 6,400 cars from its December plants.

General Motors disclosed Nov. 17 that it had trimmed its daily output of 20,000 cars by 3.7 per cent in December with a 4 per cent cut due to go into effect in January.

LIGHTER RUSSIAN SENTENCES HOPED

Craddock Gilmour of Salt Lake City (center) faces a $1,111.11 fine in a Leningrad court for Soviet currency violations while his friend Buel Ray Wortham of Little Rock, Ark., faces the possibility of five years in a Siberian labor camp for black marketeering and theft. However, Wortham's defense attorney pleaded today that Wortham had been punished enough and proposed a sentence that would set the American free within 10 days. The pair was arrested on Oct. 1 for exchanging American and Finnish dollars for Russian rubles on the Leningrad black market. (UPI Telephoto)

Is Frozen Gas Causing The Objects?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Small masses of frozen gas called cometoids may be responsible for numerous recent reports of unidentified flying objects, a scientist says.

Sightings of glowing, symetrically shaped objects high in the sky were reported seen Friday night by about a dozen residents of Imperial Beach and three Navy fliers at Ream Field.

They also were reported seen Saturday night and again Monday night by several residents in suburban areas.

An insurance broker and private pilot, William H. Gilchrist of nearby Lemon Grove, said the objects he observed Monday night were bright orange.

"I don't want to be typed as a screwball," Gilchrist said, "but I can't discount what I saw. It's beyond my knowledge."

Meanwhile, Donald H. Robey, an engineering staff specialist with General Dynamics - Convair, said the UFO sightings "sound like cometoids."

Robey, who has studied UFO's since 1956, said he did not observe the objects. But he said the descriptions are in line with the cometoid theory.

"I don't think we should jump to the conclusion that these are flying saucers if science can explain them," he said.

Robey explained that masses of frozen gas are capable of glowing and changing color, hovering, maneuvering and disappearing instantly. He said they originate in inter - stellar space.

Robey said the frozen gas masses are now on a predictable orbit that nears earth in late June and December.

Cometoids spin off jets of gas that allow them to skim the earth before they vaporize and disappear, he said.

Police Needed Twice To Halt Family Battle

San Rafael police found a family argument last night with the husband the injured party.

Robert L. Saxton of 211 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut on his forehead which he said was inflicted by a heavy ashtray thrown by his wife, Lou Saxton, police said.

Mrs. Saxton called the police to their house earlier to report her husband was abusing her. Police said they found Saxton locked in his bedroom and he told them he just wanted his wife to leave him alone. He promised to remain in the bedroom.

An hour later, they returned to the house, this time at Saxton's request. Police said he was bleeding severly from the head when they arrived.

Mrs. Saxton told officers that her husband emerged from his bedroom and began abusing her again. Saxton said his wife broke down the bedroom door and attacked him.

The officers reported the bedroom door appeared to have been forced inward. Mrs. Saxton was taken to a motel to spend the rest of the night.

It was the Saxtons' second separation by police in about five weeks. On Nov. 12, he was booked at Marin County Jail for battery after Mrs. Saxton placed him under citizen's arrest, telling police he had struck her. The case was dropped when she later failed to sign a complaint.

Two Girls Slain In City Dump

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —Gov. Frank G. Clement posted a $5,000 reward today for the killer of two girls who were bludgeoned to death as they looked for castaway dolls in a city dump.

The governor took the action in Nashville as local merchants started a fund to help the families of the girls, who were found dead yesterday.

Clement said the reward to be paid by the state would be added to any local reward funds to be established and "will be paid to whomever supplies information resulting in the conviction of the person or persons responsible for this horrible crime."

THE FACES OF JESUS

Woodworker's Career Influenced His Life

dren, had been shipped to Rome as slaves.

Tradition says that for about 20 years, from the time Jesus became a "son of the Torah" at 13, until He was 33, He had worked at His trade, handed down from the old woodworker, Joseph, who had died shortly after the young man's bar mitzvah, his coming of age.

Under pressures of making ends meet, He watched against waste. In later days, Scripture notes that He twice had His men gather up scraps of food "that nothing may be lost."

He was a saver, in the deepest sense.

He was familiar with patched clothes, pointing out that the patch ought to be shrunk like the garment or it would rip loose.

He also understood the necessity of having to borrow bread from a friend's house to feed an unexpected hungry guest, even though the hour was late and it troubled the friend to have to dress and come down to unbar the gate.

Nevertheless, "Ask, and it will be given you," Jesus advised. "Seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened unto you."

He also maintained, in a parable regarded as depicting His own great-hearted ultimate role, that a householder had a right to pay his men more than they earned, to fill needs of the scantily employed as much as the full-time jobholders.

"Do you begrudge My generosity? . . . the last will be first, and the first last."

The woodworking shop in Nazareth must have included the usual tools of that region and period — wedges, knives, awls, drillbits worked with a bow string, measuring rods, plummets, set-squares, bronze nails and the multipurposed adze.

Here the raw timber was split, planed into boards and made into tables, threshing floors and cabinets, or carved into wheels, yokes and ploughs—farm items for which Jesus was especially noted, according to ancient legend.

Jesus turned out dependable workmanship; He was highly regarded, increasing in "favor with God and man," as Scripture puts it. Such a reputation among fellow townsmen indicates he was a fair dealer, reliable in filling orders, considerate in His charges, prompt in paying for supplies.

On business in the marketplace, the identifying mark of His trade was a woodchip stuck behind an ear; dyers wore a colored cloth, weavers a large bone needle thurst in front of their tunics. Scribes carried a pen.

Besides handcrafting items, woodworkers also built houses, erecting frames, securing limestone and basalt from quarriers for walls, laying rooftrees to hold up the reed wattling packed with clay to form flat rooftops.

Out of practiced experience, Jesus could speak later of the foolhardiness of building a house on sand, where it would collapse from flood and winds, instead of on rock, where it would withstand the elements.

Distractions tugged at Him, coaxing Him to use His capacities for personal aggrandizement. He was tempted, Scripture says, an affectionate, proficient, vital man, fond of children and home life, tempted to push his own interests, yet foregoing to give Himself to others.

"This is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased," came the divine confirmation to Jesus at the age of 33, to the carpenter who carried the heavy trees up the mountainside and who said, "My yoke is easy, and My burden is light."

To ease that burden for others, at the anguished pith of existence, was the dominant chord within him: to bring rest to "all who labor and are heavy-laden"—even though it would mean shouldering a rougher tree — the cross.

Yet the woodworker always loved wood, the smell of it, the touch, the scaffolding it gave to the human habitat. Heaven itself, as He once described it, was like a tree noursihed in the good earth, like a tiny seed springing up until it became a great sheltering monarch, a homing place for all the creatures of the air — one that would never fall to a man's axe.

And at the last, the crack carpenter of Nazareth, the man of the hard arms, the quick hands and sure eye, said He still had a construction project to work on. "I go to prepare a place for you." It would be a "house of many rooms," firmly anchored, well - proportioned, built by a professional.

LIGHTER RUSSIAN SENTENCES HOPED

Craddock Gilmour of Salt Lake City (center) faces a $1,111.11 fine in a Leningrad court for Soviet currency violations while his friend Buel Ray Wortham of Little Rock, Ark., faces the possibility of five years in a Siberian labor camp for black marketeering and theft. However, Wortham's defense attorney pleaded today that Wortham had been punished enough and proposed a sentence that would set the American free within 10 days. The pair was arrested on Oct. 1 for exchanging American and Finnish dollars for Russian rubles on the Leningrad black market. (UPI Telephoto)

Is Frozen Gas Causing The Objects?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Small masses of frozen gas called cometoids may be responsible for numerous recent reports of unidentified flying objects, a scientist says.

Sightings of glowing, symetrically shaped objects high in the sky were reported seen Friday night by about a dozen residents of Imperial Beach and three Navy fliers at Ream Field.

They also were reported seen Saturday night and again Monday night by several residents in suburban areas.

An insurance broker and private pilot, William H. Gilchrist of nearby Lemon Grove, said the objects he observed Monday night were bright orange.

"I don't want to be typed as a screwball," Gilchrist said, "but I can't discount what I saw. It's beyond my knowledge."

Meanwhile, Donald H. Robey, an engineering staff specialist with General Dynamics - Convair, said the UFO sightings "sound like cometoids."

Robey, who has studied UFO's since 1956, said he did not observe the objects. But he said the descriptions are in line with the cometoid theory.

"I don't think we should jump to the conclusion that these are flying saucers if science can explain them," he said.

Robey explained that masses of frozen gas are capable of glowing and changing color, hovering, maneuvering and disappearing instantly. He said they originate in inter - stellar space.

Robey said the frozen gas masses are now on a predictable orbit that nears earth in late June and December.

Cometoids spin off jets of gas that allow them to skim the earth before they vaporize and disappear, he said.

Planners To Enter Joint Harbor Study

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted 5-1, with Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. dissenting, to enter detailed studies on the effect of the Bolinas Harbor District Development Plan.

Commissioner Michael Praszker was absent.

Schultz voted against the motion by commissioner Hugh Dougherty with the argument that such a study "should not be the burden of the county."

Dougherty offered his lengthy resolution as a substitute to one prepared by the county planning staff. The staff resolution called for a slower approach to study, saying a good deal had to be decided first on exactly what is wanted in the lagoon.

Dougherty's motion called for study by the county, either alone or with other interested groups, including the Bolinas Harbor District, on "the range of assumed development patterns and levels" at the 1,600-boat capacity suggested by the harbor district plan and at reduced levels.

It also asked study of an alternate plan suggested by architects Peter Kitchell, Woody Stockwell and David Tirrell which shows no development of the central island, locating marinas on the northwest and southeast shores. It further suggested the alternate of a harbor of refuge which would take deep draft vessels against a shallow draft harbor.

Dougherty said the study should not be limited to these things.

There was protracted discussion over what was meant by both resolutions. Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the planning staff opposed development of the island for a marina and other facilities, arguing that it would not be in keeping with the open character the county called for in the earlier adopted Bolinas-Stinson Beach Master Plan.

Extension to a full year of the 90-day interim zoning freeze adopted by supervisors last month was dropped from the motion finally adopted with the understanding that the extension would be discussed again in March when the 90 days are up.

John Campbell, of the Muskrat Corp. with plans for a 11-home developement in two clusters on the northwest shore of the lagoon, said he would challenge the legality of the freeze if it were extended for a year.

Later in the session, Campbell showed the plans for his development and received commendation from commissioners for the open shoreline it would preserve and the public access it would allow. The plan, however, is on land the county hopes to buy around the northern shoreline of the lagoon.

Further consideration of the Muskrat Corp. proposal was put off until March.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Continued until Jan. 9 consideration of the second stage of construction for the access road to Marincello, and scheduled a field trip to look at the terrain for the morning of Jan. 5.

2. Approved tentative map for the first tract to be developed by San Geronimo Valley Properties. The 15-lot tract on 18 acres on San Geronimo Drive adjacent to the south side of the golf course has been long delayed in a dispute over sewage disposal. The tract will be developed with septic tanks.

3. Continued until Jan. 9 the request to allow 18 per cent grade on a portion of Blackfield Drive in Reedland Woods Unit 2 on Tiburon Peninsula. The tentative map allowed a 15 per cent grade, but engineer Carlos Gonzalez said that this would require extensive cut and fill.

4. Approved 5-1, with commissioner William F. Upton dissenting, the tentative map for Draper Corp.'s Peacock Beach Unit One, an 61-lot development of cluster houses on 6.6 acres on Quarry Road at McNear's Beach.

5. Continued until Jan. 23 the proposed rezoning from agricultural to commercial of one acre at Bear Valley Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Olema.

6. Approved a lot division asked by Evelyn Ringen-Keck to create two half-acre lots at 20 Old Landing Road on Tiburon Peninsula.

7. Recommended a change in the ordinance to allow dropping of the $5 zone checking fee on builders when no zone change or variance is indicated.

8. Adjourned at 7:45 p.m.

Commissioner Michael Praszker was absent all day. Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley left an hour prior to adjournment.

Deputies Fail In Hunt For Otto Meyer

Santa Cruz County Sheriff's Office has abandoned its search for Otto H. Meyer, the former chief building inspector for Marin County who is feared the victim of a hiking accident.

The search of rugged terrain in the Boulder Creek area of the Santa Cruz Mountains ended officially yesterday afternoon after a team of deputies traversed the area three days, finding no sign of Meyer.

"We don't feel we would find him alive, even if he is in there," said Sgt. William Plageman. "The area is straight up and down and full of brush. You'd have to be within four feet to see him."

Colton W. Meyer of El Sobrante, son of the hiker, who reported him missing Nov. 28, joined the search crew yesterday, Plageman said.

Santa Cruz Undersheriff Paul Tara, who led the search, was going out to the area again today. "Tara is a diehard," the sergeant said.

Planners Given Course In History

Marin County's planning staff should have boned up on local history before reporting on earthquake hazards around Bolinas Lagoon, according to Thomas J. Barfield, newly elected director of the Bolinas Harbor District.

The report as given, is "sheer speculation," he said. "One would assume, if one did not know better, that Bolinas and Stinson Beach were destroyed on April 18, 1906," Barfield wrote in a Dec. 3 letter to the Marin County Planning Commission.

PRE-QUAKE

Barfield, who is also regional vice president of the Marin County Historical Society, devoted almost a page of his letter to a list of buildings constructed in the area prior to the 1906 earthquake and still in use.

He included the Roger Kent home of today on the Bolinas Lagoon, built by Capt. George Gavitt in the 1850s, and the Waterhouse "Studio," built on pilings on Wharf Road in 1895 and still being lived in.

There was the building now occupied by Ryan's Hardware Store on Wharf Road. In 1906 it was the Bay View Saloon, he said, and its "operation was enhanced rather than lessened by the quake."

On the way from Bolinas to Highway 1, he said, one finds many homes standing that went through the quake. Barfield listed the 1906 owners as Phinney, Matsen, Smith, McGovern, Clark, Pepper, Briones, Lauff, and Sayers.

THE LIST

"There were very few buildings or structures in Easkoots Beach and Willow Camp, which we now know as Stinson Beach, in 1906," he wrote. "None were damaged other than superficially by the quake."

As examples, he listed the house of Mrs. James Wilkens, standidng at the headd of the lagoon since 1875; the Peter Bourne home at the Audobon Canyon Ranch and the Ben Morse place, now the Christmas Tree Farm.

"There is considerable written material available concerning the earthquake and our area," Barfield wrote. "It would have been better for the commission staff to have sought counsel in the writings and reports of geologists and seismologists. . ."

He said the staff report had an "elective, argumentative and falacious premise."

Olema, he noted, was at the epicenter of the quake, yet "the majority of the buldings in this old community date from before the quake."

Barfield noted that the report also assumed that the major siltation of the lagoon occurred early in this centry through logging and grazing.

"Logging had concluded in this area prior to 1860," he wrote.

He quoted from a page of the "History of Marin," published in 1880, which said: "Old sailors are free to assert that the day is not far distant, at the present rate of filling in, when the entrance of the bay (the lagoon) will be entirely closed and the body of it will be mere tide and overflowed land open to reclamation and cultivation."

Barfield cited as "incomprehensible" a statement in the staff report that the proposed Bolinas Lagoon Master Plan would reduce open water at high tide in the lagoon from 11,946 acres to 11,654 acres.

"This would be the highest tide ever recorded," he said. "It is even more remarkable when one recalls that the area granted to the harbor district by the State of California only encompasses some 1,400 acres."

The widespread observance of Jan. 1 as the start of the new year stems from Imperial Rome. Julius Caesar chose the date as the first day of the Roman year when he initiated the Julian calendar.

Reed Trustees Will Consider Land Purchase

The possibility of buying the Hilarita housing site for a school will be discussed by Reed School District trustees at their meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

Supt. H. Joseph Edgington said today that acquiring the Hilarita site with state aid might void a bond issue for another school.

Edgington will ask the board to include in the advanced planning budget an assistant superintendent as a central office administrator for $15,500 yearly, and assignment of another principal to Bel Aire or Granada School at a starting salary of $12,500. John C. Fitch is now principal of both schools.

A continuing problem of housing for storage facilities will also be considered. Facilities for storage at Del Mar are being converted back to classrooms because of enrollment increase.

3. Continued until Jan. 9 the request to allow 18 per cent grade on a portion of Blackfield Drive in Reedland Woods Unit 2 on Tiburon Peninsula. The tentative map allowed a 15 per cent grade, but engineer Carlos Gonzalez said that this would require extensive cut and fill.

4. Approved 5-1, with commissioner William F. Upton dissenting, the tentative map for Draper Corp.'s Peacock Beach Unit One, an 61-lot development of cluster houses on 6.6 acres on Quarry Road at McNear's Beach.

5. Continued until Jan. 23 the proposed rezoning from agricultural to commercial of one acre at Bear Valley Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Olema.

6. Approved a lot division asked by Evelyn Ringen-Keck to create two half-acre lots at 20 Old Landing Road on Tiburon Peninsula.

7. Recommended a change in the ordinance to allow dropping of the $5 zone checking fee on builders when no zone change or variance is indicated.

8. Adjourned at 7:45 p.m.

Commissioner Michael Praszker was absent all day. Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley left an hour prior to adjournment.

Deputies Fail In Hunt For Otto Meyer

Santa Cruz County Sheriff's Office has abandoned its search for Otto H. Meyer, the former chief building inspector for Marin County who is feared the victim of a hiking accident.

The search of rugged terrain in the Boulder Creek area of the Santa Cruz Mountains ended officially yesterday afternoon after a team of deputies traversed the area three days, finding no sign of Meyer.

"We don't feel we would find him alive, even if he is in there," said Sgt. William Plageman. "The area is straight up and down and full of brush. You'd have to be within four feet to see him."

Colton W. Meyer of El Sobrante, son of the hiker, who reported him missing Nov. 28, joined the search crew yesterday, Plageman said.

Santa Cruz Undersheriff Paul Tara, who led the search, was going out to the area again today. "Tara is a diehard," the sergeant said.

Planners Given Course In History

Marin County's planning staff should have boned up on local history before reporting on earthquake hazards around Bolinas Lagoon, according to Thomas J. Barfield, newly elected director of the Bolinas Harbor District.

The report as given, is "sheer speculation," he said. "One would assume, if one did not know better, that Bolinas and Stinson Beach were destroyed on April 18, 1906," Barfield wrote in a Dec. 3 letter to the Marin County Planning Commission.

PRE-QUAKE

Barfield, who is also regional vice president of the Marin County Historical Society, devoted almost a page of his letter to a list of buildings constructed in the area prior to the 1906 earthquake and still in use.

He included the Roger Kent home of today on the Bolinas Lagoon, built by Capt. George Gavitt in the 1850s, and the Waterhouse "Studio," built on pilings on Wharf Road in 1895 and still being lived in.

There was the building now occupied by Ryan's Hardware Store on Wharf Road. In 1906 it was the Bay View Saloon, he said, and its "operation was enhanced rather than lessened by the quake."

On the way from Bolinas to Highway 1, he said, one finds many homes standing that went through the quake. Barfield listed the 1906 owners as Phinney, Matsen, Smith, McGovern, Clark, Pepper, Briones, Lauff, and Sayers.

THE LIST

"There were very few buildings or structures in Easkoots Beach and Willow Camp, which we now know as Stinson Beach, in 1906," he wrote. "None were damaged other than superficially by the quake."

As examples, he listed the house of Mrs. James Wilkens, standidng at the headd of the lagoon since 1875; the Peter Bourne home at the Audobon Canyon Ranch and the Ben Morse place, now the Christmas Tree Farm.

"There is considerable written material available concerning the earthquake and our area," Barfield wrote. "It would have been better for the commission staff to have sought counsel in the writings and reports of geologists and seismologists. . ."

He said the staff report had an "elective, argumentative and falacious premise."

Olema, he noted, was at the epicenter of the quake, yet "the majority of the buldings in this old community date from before the quake."

Barfield noted that the report also assumed that the major siltation of the lagoon occurred early in this centry through logging and grazing.

"Logging had concluded in this area prior to 1860," he wrote.

He quoted from a page of the "History of Marin," published in 1880, which said: "Old sailors are free to assert that the day is not far distant, at the present rate of filling in, when the entrance of the bay (the lagoon) will be entirely closed and the body of it will be mere tide and overflowed land open to reclamation and cultivation."

Barfield cited as "incomprehensible" a statement in the staff report that the proposed Bolinas Lagoon Master Plan would reduce open water at high tide in the lagoon from 11,946 acres to 11,654 acres.

"This would be the highest tide ever recorded," he said. "It is even more remarkable when one recalls that the area granted to the harbor district by the State of California only encompasses some 1,400 acres."

The widespread observance of Jan. 1 as the start of the new year stems from Imperial Rome. Julius Caesar chose the date as the first day of the Roman year when he initiated the Julian calendar.

Reed Trustees Will Consider Land Purchase

The possibility of buying the Hilarita housing site for a school will be discussed by Reed School District trustees at their meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

Supt. H. Joseph Edgington said today that acquiring the Hilarita site with state aid might void a bond issue for another school.

Edgington will ask the board to include in the advanced planning budget an assistant superintendent as a central office administrator for $15,500 yearly, and assignment of another principal to Bel Aire or Granada School at a starting salary of $12,500. John C. Fitch is now principal of both schools.

A continuing problem of housing for storage facilities will also be considered. Facilities for storage at Del Mar are being converted back to classrooms because of enrollment increase.

Change For A Day

"Anchors Aweigh" will replace "The Air Force Song" for the Fourth Air Force Band from Hamilton Air Force Base when it plays for a change of command ceremonies Thursday of the VA-156 Navy Skyraider Squadron at the Alameda Naval Air Station.

West Marin Master Plan Action Tabled

Marin County Planning Commissioners, impatient with protracted delays and long discussion, vowed yesterday to take some kind of action on the West Marin Master Plan.

However, no action was taken yesterday, mainly due to the need to dwell on other planning matters.

Commission Chairman Margaret Azevedo objected to "adoption in principle" of the plan, suggested by the county planning staff. "Adoption in principle is really old lady stuff," she said.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker argued for the "in principle" move with many things, including earthquakes, sewage disposal and road locations left open for further study.

Zucker said that the San Andreas rift zone is of serious concern to the staff. A committee of seismic experts, about to be appointed, should have a report in six months, he said.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. objected that he did not think it would be "worth the county's while" to try to plot lines of earthquake danger. He said protection against earthquake damage was a function of the county building department. Commissioner Claude Stoller agreed wholeheartedly, saying he thought the planners were getting out of their field.

Mrs. Azevedo urged that the plan be approved by the commission and sent on to supervisors. If later studies indicate changes, it can then be amended, she suggested.

Actually, the plan was approved by the commission several months ago. Supervisors sent it back for further study on such items as conflict with the county master plan for parks and open space.

Further discussion was set over until Jan. 9.

Prison Inmates Finish Models

About 150 models, including cars, ships and airplanes all made by a group of San Quentin Prison inmates, will be presented by them Thursday to crippled children in San Francisco General Hospital.

The inmates — members of the prison's model car club — worked in their spare time over the weekend putting finishing touches to the models.

A model company made a gift of several kits to the prison this year, but other models were supplied at the expense of the prisoners themselves.

Inmate Pleads Guilty To Battery Charge

Roger Justin Reclus, 22, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to battery last July 3 on a fellow-inmate in county jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Reclus, who originally was accused of felony attempt of an unnatural act on the inmate, to 30 days in county jail. Reclus lives at 703 Hacienda Way, San Rafael.

In 1891, the first botanical garden in California was founded by Prof. E. L. Greene on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley.

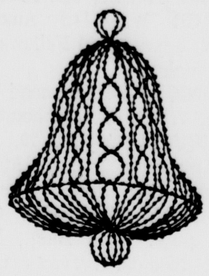
Marin's White Tie Occasion Tonight

By MOLLY MARIN

When the seventeen debutantes make their bows tonight at the fifth annual Marin Debutante Ball, the surroundings may be a bit different from the heretofore traditional deep green swags dotted with tiny white lights that have been used throughout the clubhouse. And the tent arrangement will be changed to eliminate the long hallway effect and provide two round tents at each end of the club terrace adjoining the dining room and ballroom.

As usual the honorary sponsors will have a special seating section for the presentation but many of the old guard will be missed. Among those who are away are the Fred Herringtons, the Wallace Scotts, the Samuel Archibalds, who are in Europe, and the Russell Smiths.

Yesterday the girls and escorts were invited to the Fred Drexler Jr. home in Mill Valley for a luncheon preceding the rehearsal at Peacock. The Drexlers' daughter, Martha, of course, will be among the debs.



Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner is chairman of the ball, Mrs. F. William Mosden is chairman of debutantes, Mrs. Harry Johnson, coordinator and house chairman; and Mesdames William Bricca, Raymond Hornby Jr., William Milliken are also on the ball committee. Mrs. William Haney has been calendar chairman again this year. Mrs. C. O. Amonette is assisting Mrs. Bricca with a different staging this year.

Men serving on committee for the ball tonight will include the chairmen, Fred Enemark, Jordan Matinelli Jr., William Milliken, Harry Johnson III, Robert Ingram, William Bricca and Philip Brown with their committee members. Judge Jordan Matinelli of San Rafael will introduce each girl as she makes her bow.

THE FRED DREXLERS of Mill Valley had their traditional family open house Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. Their guests included close friends, neighbors and members of the younger set who are home from college for the holidays.

MARINITES IN MEXICO CITY for the wedding today of Elena Rives Miller of Mexico City and Hugh Reilly III of Ross include Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Denicke, and Mrsdames and Messrs. Frederick Allen, and John Upston, all of Ross. Among members of the wedding party who flew down for the occasion are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Scatena, the bridegroom's parents; Martin and Charles Denicke and Jonathan Allen of Ross and Terry's sister and brother, Sara and Frederick Scatena Jr. of Ross. The noon rite was held in the garden setting at "Casa Alvarado," historical home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Briscoe Miller, which was built in the early 1500's by Pedro de Alvarado, General Hernarndo Cortez' chief lieutenant during the conquest of Mexico.

LAST SATURDAY night the George Searses of Sausalito had an "old and new neighbors" cocktail party attended by 50 people. The Searses lived in Mill Valley until a year ago, when they moved to Sausalito.

MRS. RICHARD PHILLIPS is entertaining at her traditional sherry party tomorrow afternoon at her home in Sausalito.

MR. AND MRS. CAESAR TAVERNA will entertain friends and relatives at their Harbor Estates home honoring their daughter Nancy following the opening night performance of the "Nutcracker" ballet. Nancy a leading soloist with the Marin Civic Ballet, will dance the lead role of the "Sugar Plum Fairy" in the "Nutcracker.

SAN RAFAEL CANAL residents were given a bit of Christmas entertainment on Sunday evening as the Don Carlbergs and their musical friends cruised the length of the canal aboard their 36 foot power boat, the "Fortune Hunter," to play and sing carols. "It seems to be becoming a tradition for us," Mrs. Carberg says as their neighbors and friends look forward to it and the supper which follows at their canalside home. The host plays the violin and other friends who play instruments gather around the organ aboard the boat and the carols begin. Among those aboard were the Charles Francises, co-hosts and neighbors of the Carlbergs, Messrs. and Mesdames Perry Brock, Lee Weisenburg, Ed Marier, Lee Hausam, Marion Marks and Rudy Lindquist, Norman Butler of Greenbrae and Mrs. Carlberg's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Palm.

HER GIFT TO OTHERS

Herself a widow crippled with arthritis of the spine and who lives on a small welfare check, Mrs. Dolores Moore of Santa Venetia saves her pennies to buy old dolls. Then painstakingly she designs clothes for each and dresses it completely and often elegantly, and has her granddaughters assist with latest hair styles. Then she donates the dolls to orphans and foster children through her welfare worker. This group will brighten Christmas morns for 15 Marin youngsters, but Mrs. Moore is seeking donations of old doll bodies, trims, lace and material for more. Mrs. Edward Grieswell, her daughter with whom she lives, assists by finding used dolls at rummage sales and thrift shops for her mother's project.

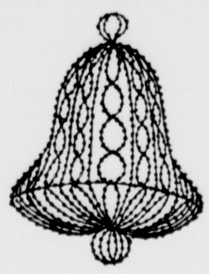
Marin's White Tie Occasion Tonight

By MOLLY MARIN

When the seventeen debutantes make their bows tonight at the fifth annual Marin Debutante Ball, the surroundings may be a bit different from the heretofore traditional deep green swags dotted with tiny white lights that have been used throughout the clubhouse. And the tent arrangement will be changed to eliminate the long hallway effect and provide two round tents at each end of the club terrace adjoining the dining room and ballroom.

As usual the honorary sponsors will have a special seating section for the presentation but many of the old guard will be missed. Among those who are away are the Fred Herringtons, the Wallace Scotts, the Samuel Archibalds, who are in Europe, and the Russell Smiths.

Yesterday the girls and escorts were invited to the Fred Drexler Jr. home in Mill Valley for a luncheon preceding the rehearsal at Peacock. The Drexlers' daughter, Martha, of course, will be among the debs.



Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner is chairman of the ball, Mrs. F. William Mosden is chairman of debutantes, Mrs. Harry Johnson, coordinator and house chairman; and Mesdames William Bricca, Raymond Hornby Jr., William Milliken are also on the ball committee. Mrs. William Haney has been calendar chairman again this year. Mrs. C. O. Amonette is assisting Mrs. Bricca with a different staging this year.

Men serving on committee for the ball tonight will include the chairmen, Fred Enemark, Jordan Matinelli Jr., William Milliken, Harry Johnson III, Robert Ingram, William Bricca and Philip Brown with their committee members. Judge Jordan Matinelli of San Rafael will introduce each girl as she makes her bow.

THE FRED DREXLERS of Mill Valley had their traditional family open house Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. Their guests included close friends, neighbors and members of the younger set who are home from college for the holidays.

MARINITES IN MEXICO CITY for the wedding today of Elena Rives Miller of Mexico City and Hugh Reilly III of Ross include Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Denicke, and Mrsdames and Messrs. Frederick Allen, and John Upston, all of Ross. Among members of the wedding party who flew down for the occasion are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Scatena, the bridegroom's parents; Martin and Charles Denicke and Jonathan Allen of Ross and Terry's sister and brother, Sara and Frederick Scatena Jr. of Ross. The noon rite was held in the garden setting at "Casa Alvarado," historical home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Briscoe Miller, which was built in the early 1500's by Pedro de Alvarado, General Hernarndo Cortez' chief lieutenant during the conquest of Mexico.

LAST SATURDAY night the George Searses of Sausalito had an "old and new neighbors" cocktail party attended by 50 people. The Searses lived in Mill Valley until a year ago, when they moved to Sausalito.

MRS. RICHARD PHILLIPS is entertaining at her traditional sherry party tomorrow afternoon at her home in Sausalito.

MR. AND MRS. CAESAR TAVERNA will entertain friends and relatives at their Harbor Estates home honoring their daughter Nancy following the opening night performance of the "Nutcracker" ballet. Nancy a leading soloist with the Marin Civic Ballet, will dance the lead role of the "Sugar Plum Fairy" in the "Nutcracker.

SAN RAFAEL CANAL residents were given a bit of Christmas entertainment on Sunday evening as the Don Carlbergs and their musical friends cruised the length of the canal aboard their 36 foot power boat, the "Fortune Hunter," to play and sing carols. "It seems to be becoming a tradition for us," Mrs. Carberg says as their neighbors and friends look forward to it and the supper which follows at their canalside home. The host plays the violin and other friends who play instruments gather around the organ aboard the boat and the carols begin. Among those aboard were the Charles Francises, co-hosts and neighbors of the Carlbergs, Messrs. and Mesdames Perry Brock, Lee Weisenburg, Ed Marier, Lee Hausam, Marion Marks and Rudy Lindquist, Norman Butler of Greenbrae and Mrs. Carlberg's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Palm.

Small Kiss During A Commercial Is Proving To Be A Handicap

DEAR HELEN:

I have a girl friend who lives across the street. One night some time ago, we were watching TV and during a commercial we exchanged a small kiss. It just so happened that her mother walked into the room at that moment.

I love this girl and I wouldn't go too far with her. Her mother's not trusting me is a great handicap. From that day on I have never been alone with her daughter. When I am over there, the mother is continually emptying ashtrays and things like that so she can be in the room where we are and see what we are doing. How can I change this? — WANTS TO BE TRUSTED

DEAR WANTS:

. . . Very gradually. Resign yourself to the ashtray routine until you truly don't mind having parents in the same room with you — and then the parents may figure you've earned their trust.

About that time, they may even let you take their daughter out on a date. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Every time I read an article about "Servicemen" something bugs me. Why can't they come up with a special name just for our men in the armed forces?

When your doorbell rings, it's liable to be a "service" man — from the television, telephone, gas, appliance companies. The man who fills your gas tank is a "service" man. Almost everybody offers "service," so why must our fighting and dying guys be labeled just ordinary "servicemen?" They have won a better name. Why not find one for them? —A.Y.

DEAR A:

Fine idea! Suggestion, anyone?— H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 14, and don't really know what my problem is, but THINK it's jealousy. I have an older brother who holds down a good paying job and gets good grades in high school. My sisters and brothers — all younger —are liked by everyone and also do well in school

I myself do pretty well with my grades and have a good many friends, but, Helen, somehow I feel "left out" in some ways — you know, I can't really say how or in what way, but I feel that my Mom and Dad both favor the other kids over me. They seem to yell at me more. I admit I have been crabby lately, but not that bad — and, besides, I'm crabby because I feel left out.

I've been trying to convince myself it's just a phase I'm passing through, or maybe a phase my folks are passing through.

Is this feeling of mine normal? How can I get a better relationship with my family?— MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP:

That "odd one out" feeling is the most normal "phase" of growing up. I'll bet your brothers and sisters have all felt the same way at times — perhaps even now one of them envies YOU because he or she is lonely and mixed up, and thinking, "She gets the breaks and I get yelled at."

However, the second child is more apt to feel pushed aside because she must compete with Number One — the Head Man; and also share her Number Two spot with those who come after. Parents tend to idolize their first-born and spoil the small ones, but the middle child they sometimes take for granted, simply because they have less time for her.

If you'd talk to your folks about those vague "jealousies," I'm sure they would prove to you that each of their children is loved in a special way — and you're just as special as the next. They might even be jarred into showing it in special ways the middle child needs. —H.

Gift Books Point Up Conservation Work

Conservation is on the march these days, and Marin women volunteers are becoming actively involved.

One of these is Mrs. Philip W. Kearney, chairman of the Mill Valley unit of the Marin Conservation League, who during the fall has been spearheading a drive to keep Mount Tamalpais in its unspoiled state.

This project inspired the Mill Valley unit to make its recent presentation of famous illustrated Sierra Club conservation volumes to the new Mill Valley Public Library.

In presenting the gift books at a recent meeting of the unit Mrs. Kearney said she hoped it would encourage others to do likewise so that eventually the library could be a resource center on conservation, environmental planning and outdoor recreation.

In accepting the books Mrs. Benjamin Dreyfus, board chairman of the library's trustees, said, "the collection is a mine of fascinating material, and we in the library hope to expand this section and see it grow in size."

In addition to the 15 Sierra Club exhibit format volumes the gift includes books on regional studies and wilderness conferences. Also of interest is a compilation of the club's bulletins from 1893 to 1956.

The selection of the gift books was made by a committee of the Mill Valley Conservation unit composed of Mesdames Robert C. Mountjoy, George R. Pohlmann and Sidney F. Thomas and Harvey E. Bragdon.

Patients Do Better Without Bed Rest

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UPI)—Contrary to popular myth, patients put on a regimen of prolonged rest often gain little more than a whole new set of complications, Dr. David Shuman reported at the annual meeting of the American Osteopathic Association here.

Dr. Shuman, of Philadelphia, said patients put on their feet as quickly as possible usually recover faster—and have fewer side effects—than those who stay in bed.

Patients Do Better Without Bed Rest

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UPI)—Contrary to popular myth, patients put on a regimen of prolonged rest often gain little more than a whole new set of complications, Dr. David Shuman reported at the annual meeting of the American Osteopathic Association here.

Dr. Shuman, of Philadelphia, said patients put on their feet as quickly as possible usually recover faster—and have fewer side effects—than those who stay in bed.

Hostess Secret For Entertaining Well

NEW YORK (AP)—What's the secret of successful entertaining?

Dorothy Rodgers, an internationally famous hostess, has this philosophy — a particularly important one to remember during the holidays:

"Make the people you like feel liked . . . make them feel truly welcome."

Wife of composer Richard Rodgers, she's the author of "My Favorite Things," which chronicles her own ideas on entertaining. A second book, "This House," "a sort of log" documenting the building of their new house in Connecticut, will be published by next fall.

She has opened her home to U.N. delegates, to theatrical celebrities, and to her two daughters' friends—all with the same warm success. "And if I've done my job well, I know it, because I've had a good time, too!"

SHE POINTS OUT that the guests are the principal ingredients of any gathering and adds that a party made up exclusively of people you "owe" is almost doomed to failure because you think of it from the beginning as a duty, not a pleasure. The liveliest parties, according to Mrs. Rodgers, mix crowds, interests and professions.

"Careful planning and one's personal attention to every detail—right down to making sure a guest can find an aspirin if he wants one—is my absolute first essential."

She emphasizes the importance of keeping within one's budget. Doing just what you can afford comfortably to do, she is convinced, is a must. You will be a more relaxed and gracious hostess if you're not trying to juggle a lot of costly extras which do not reflect you, or your way of life.

SHE RECALLS two especially delightful experiences she has had as a guest. One was a dinner for six at the home of a struggling young theater director, and featured a delicious casserole and a perfect tossed salad around the kitchen table. The other was a formal dinner in the Paris home of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. The centerpiece and accessories were chosen from their priceless porcelain collection, and were painstakingly arranged and selected by the Duchess herself.

"Each hostess had done, with loving personal attention, just what her means permitted," says Mrs. Rodgers, "and so we felt particularly welcome and well cared for on both occasions.

"Besides," she adds, "if I may paraphrase 'My Favorite Things' for a moment — trying to do things on a grander scale than you can afford always backfires. No matter how well you may think you live, there's always somebody who lives weller!"

A VERY IMPORTANT part of successful entertaining is letting your guests know what to expect and what is expected of them, she says.

"If you're having a black-tie party, don't cause a guest the embarrassment of arriving in slacks and sports coat. Tell him beforehand!"

She recalls inviting Mary Martin and her husband, Dick Halliday, to her home in Southport, Conn., a few years ago.

"I had told Mary to wear whatever she liked . . . so she arrived in a mink coat, a fur trimmed stole and two saris! And she reminded me sweetly that these were the things she liked most. But don't count on all your guests to have Mary Martin's sense of humor. That was a valuable lesson to me, and I've never since said 'come as you are' unless I'm quite prepared for the consequences."

As for the hostess herself, Dorothy Rodgers believes she has a good deal more leeway. Now that there are so many lovely at-home clothes on the market, she may wear a long dress if she wishes, or one of the evening pantsuit or culotte creations (if she has the figure), or almost any pretty thing that's a favorite and in which she feels really festive.

BUT SHE CAUTIONS, "don't put on something that's going to wear you! In the end, your success in entertaining will depend on the atmosphere you yourself create, not on the physical trappings."

Mrs. Rodgers' favorite part of any party is the quiet reliving of it after the guests have all gone home. She and husband, Dick Rodgers, love to relax and talk it over and "remember the nice things that happened." As for the not-so-nice things, like discovering that the finger bowls have been passed without water in them, she thinks good guests are like good audiences:

"They are remarkably understanding—they go away happy, never giving a second thought to the little slip-ups that have caused you so much concern."

MARGARET'S CREATIONS

Princess Margaret sported another of her unusual headgear in London when she arrived at Westminster Abbey to attend a Barbados Independence Service there. The style setting Princess is noted these days for the myriad of hats she wears to public functions.

This Is The Year Of Tape Recorder

NEW YORK (UPI)—Weigh your words, watch your language and that sort of thing. Why? This year is going down as the year of the tape recorder.

Holiday Hairdos To Be Long And Shiny With Ornaments

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's time to design your Christmas and New Year's hairdo. A trial run will guarantee that you won't be all hair clips and thumbs when the time comes.

American youth has latched on to a beauty secret that couldn't be sold to their mothers: The sheer beauty of natural hair.

The previous generation teased and contrived its crowning glory into ridiculous swirls and shapes behind a lacquered curtain; whereas daughter prefers hair that is soft as possible. She may even add to it with falls and hair pieces.

There has been a lot of talk about short hairdos for holiday wear, but a survey sponsored by makers of hair products shows that the most popular hairdos for this holiday season will be long and straight. There will be special effects like hair ornaments, wiglets, falls, but the hair stress will be on shine.

Hair stylist Jerry Jandora has suggested a variety of styles to arrange straight hair festively on party evenings.

Girls who favor bangs can vary the popular daytime look by wearing bangs with a heart-shaped dip above the nose, with hair on each side of the cheek curling in toward the nose to complete the heart shaped look. The back crown can be rolled into a top-knot of curls.

Another variation for bangs wearers, especially blondes, is one that parts the bangs in the center, forming a dip toward each temple. Hair is then combed straight back and down from the crown, curled under at sides.

Long straight hair may be drawn back over the forehead and ears, Madonna-style, with hair parted on the side or center. After hair is pinned into place at the nape of the neck, a large rose or other ornament can hide pins. If hair on each side at the nape is twirled into a large spiraled flat curl, even very long hair can be smooth under a large rose or holiday sparkler.

Eating Fish May Reduce Coronaries

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Eating fish five times a week for lunch and dinner for five years has led to a low incidence of heart attacks among New Yorkers in the anti-coronary club.

Hypertension and obesity were also reduced among 814 men between 40 and 59 years of age who volunteered for a study to find ways of preventing heart disease.

The anti-coronary club members followed a "prudent diet" prescribed by the New York City Dept. of Health. In addition to eating lots of fish, they substituted margarine for butter, sherbet for ice cream and soft cheese for hard. Chicken, veal and lamb were the main meat choices, though one pound of beef or pork was allowed each week, Dr. Seymour H. Rinzler of the health department reported. A maximum of four eggs a week, one ounce of oil daily and breads and cereals made up the rest of the diet, he said.

Compared to a control group of 463 men of the same ages, the prudent dieters suffered only a third as many heart attacks.

None of the volunteers had any evidence of heart disease before the study began, and although a few dropped out before it was completed, the study group got recent health histories taken from most of them.

ART REVIEW

Show Presents Many Moods Of Painters

By LAURA DEVENDORF

With so much representational work being cranked out at the Sunday painter level, it's a relief to see four professionals attack it.

The Buffs Gallery showing through Jan. 8 in Fairfax of Marin painters Ken Potter, William Grant Sherry and Geoffrey Lewis, plus Albert Dolmans of Walnut Creek, does much to restore the appreciation of realistic art as a meaningful form of expression.

This happens for two reasons: Because the work is thoroughly competent and second, because each artist has a very personal point of view. Dolmans' meticulously painted landscapes are little gems that capture the special beauty of an isolated moment in an isolated place. By contrast, Lewis's work is mood in mass, large areas of dark trees, hills and sky that overall, lend a feeling of timeless power and emotion.

The bulk of the show belongs to featured artists Potter and Sherry and therefore, their work illustrates even more fully how individualized realistic painting can be.

Sherry's landscapes are in the tradition of Andrew Wyeth, lonely, restrained, and executed in minute detail. The design qualities that give his work strength are never more evident than when he strips his subject to the bone as in doing a closeup of a barn side with only a dust-red door, torn sign and two black holes to break the long planked wall, or in his huge bateau which is stark to the point of being abstract.

In closeup or expanse, the Marin countryside Sherry paints is highly suited to his earthy palette and his special feeling for landscape. But Sherry shows interest in other things. There are gay, curiously daubed still lifes plus one painting which seems even atypical. In it a shadowy coachman and his passengers ride through a richly glazed, blue-green-purple night lighted only by a yellow lantern and glowing red taillight.

Whereas Sherry's work is quiet and reserved, Potter's watercolor landscapes are boisterous and agitated. There is an immediacy to the medium itself of which he takes full advantage. Through dots and slashes of bright color and by bending line he brings a sense of life to remote woods as well as to busy street scenes.

The Buffs' showing is the first for the work Potter did in Mexico and it is often his best. Certainly his color sense is suited to the hot-sunned Mexican landscape but more, this series seems most consistently meaningful. Though he does the Golden Gate, Chinatown and cable cars with far greater finesse than most, his work is more gratifying when he paints things that seem to have affected him more personally than those which the public demands or expects to see.

In any case, he is never less than professional and Potter, along with Sherry, Dolmans and Lewis, comprise a show that does much to restore the enjoyment of realism as a modern day painting idiom.

'The Odd Couple,' Has Smooth Cast

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — The premise that success or failure in marriage is dependent upon success or failure between opposite sexes is shot full of holes in Neil Simon's comedy "The Odd Couple," which opened at the Curran Theater last night.

Simon takes two male victims of divorce who are old poker-playing friends and puts them right back in the married home environment — living with each other.

Roistering sports writer Oscar Madison takes hypochondrial Felix Ungar into his apartment and finds himself forced to endure the character faults which made Felix's wife drive him out. Felix, in turn, gets a taste of the less likeable traits in Oscar which made his wife leave.

The resulting tangle, aided by two raucous ladies who live upstairs and assorted poker-playing cronies, is not only a very funny play, but a very sage observation on human nature. Simon, the Broadway phenomenon who has had five hits for his first five efforts, has a good insight into characters, gets his play moving fast, and keeps it that way.

The original production was directed with telling effect by Mike Nichols, and Danny Simon, who staged this one, has kept the Nichols glitter, aided by a uniformly good cast.

Topping it is Harvey Stone as Oscar. Head thrust forward like an angry turtle, he storms his way through the part with flawless timing. His moments of utter frustration as he tries to force some change in Felix are masterpieces of stagecraft without seeming to be.

Lyle Talbot is equally good in the role of Felix. Though he is a weak-kneed, whining milksop who could well be dismissed as unworthy of sympathy, Talbot manages to make us feel genuinely sorry for him. And when the travail he has endured ends in a complete change of character, we believe him

The poler players, Alan North, Dutch Miller, Art Vasil and Edmund Williams, are given definitive characters by the playwright, and each actor makes the most of it from the opening curtain on a stage filled with cigar smoke to the final drop.

The ladies, Kathryn Blythe and Peggy Winslow, add to the general fun with their characterizations of two British sisters, one a divorcee, the other a widow — "he died before we got our final decree!"

Oliver Smith's realistic setting is well suited to the mood, and Saint Subber's entire production has an air of good professional opulence about. This is the road show's second go-round with some cast changes, in San Francisco, and if you missed it the first time, we heartily recommend that you catch it this time.

It will play nightly except Sunday at 8:30 with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 through Dec. 31.

Long Probation On Marijuana Charge

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Reynold Ashley Fitch, 19, on probation until Sept. 13, 1968, for selling marijuana.

Fitch, of 16 Mariposa Street, San Anselmo, and Robert Dale Litteral, 18, of 1466 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, sold marijuana to Ronald C. Ingram of Sausalito on June 27. Litteral was earlier given a four-month county jail term and placed on three years probation. Fitch was sent to California Medical Facility, Vacaville, for a 90-day observation period prior to sentencing.

Youth Arraigned On Car Theft Charge

Kenneth Michael Giakovmis, 20, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of car theft, and was to enter plea this afternoon.

Negroes Forming Own Unions, Leader Claims

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negroes are organizing their own labor unions because of "the broad national pattern of discrimination" by AFL-CIO organizations, a civil rights leader said yesterday.

Making the announcement at a news conference was Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Hill criticized established unions for what he called "racist policies" and declared "independent freedom labor unions" are necessary because of discrimination in established labor organizations.

He also said the NAACP would give support to the new movement "wherever AFL-CIO affiliates fail in their legal duty to provide fair and equal representation to minority group union members and also where unions refuse to organize in Negro ghetto areas, as in the Fillmore district in San Francisco."

Hill declined to identify those forming the independent unions and the industries in which they work.

But he cited the AFL-CIO restaurant workers, building tradesmen, and sailors as among those unions he objects to here.

"It is a national movement," Hill said, "and it is going to start right here in San Francisco."

The unions quickly denied any discriminatory practices.

George Johns, secretary of the San Francisco Labor Council, invited NAACP representatives "to sit down and talk about the problems facing Negro workers."

Johns, calling Hill's statements idle talk and empty threats, said the AFL-CIO has a simple procedure for getting something done about such problems. He said that state and federal fair employment commissions could euqally be of service.

Hills said that all these steps would be "exercises in futility."

Both of President Herbert Hoover's sons were born in London, England.

ART REVIEW

Show Presents Many Moods Of Painters

By LAURA DEVENDORF

With so much representational work being cranked out at the Sunday painter level, it's a relief to see four professionals attack it.

The Buffs Gallery showing through Jan. 8 in Fairfax of Marin painters Ken Potter, William Grant Sherry and Geoffrey Lewis, plus Albert Dolmans of Walnut Creek, does much to restore the appreciation of realistic art as a meaningful form of expression.

This happens for two reasons: Because the work is thoroughly competent and second, because each artist has a very personal point of view. Dolmans' meticulously painted landscapes are little gems that capture the special beauty of an isolated moment in an isolated place. By contrast, Lewis's work is mood in mass, large areas of dark trees, hills and sky that overall, lend a feeling of timeless power and emotion.

The bulk of the show belongs to featured artists Potter and Sherry and therefore, their work illustrates even more fully how individualized realistic painting can be.

Sherry's landscapes are in the tradition of Andrew Wyeth, lonely, restrained, and executed in minute detail. The design qualities that give his work strength are never more evident than when he strips his subject to the bone as in doing a closeup of a barn side with only a dust-red door, torn sign and two black holes to break the long planked wall, or in his huge bateau which is stark to the point of being abstract.

In closeup or expanse, the Marin countryside Sherry paints is highly suited to his earthy palette and his special feeling for landscape. But Sherry shows interest in other things. There are gay, curiously daubed still lifes plus one painting which seems even atypical. In it a shadowy coachman and his passengers ride through a richly glazed, blue-green-purple night lighted only by a yellow lantern and glowing red taillight.

Whereas Sherry's work is quiet and reserved, Potter's watercolor landscapes are boisterous and agitated. There is an immediacy to the medium itself of which he takes full advantage. Through dots and slashes of bright color and by bending line he brings a sense of life to remote woods as well as to busy street scenes.

The Buffs' showing is the first for the work Potter did in Mexico and it is often his best. Certainly his color sense is suited to the hot-sunned Mexican landscape but more, this series seems most consistently meaningful. Though he does the Golden Gate, Chinatown and cable cars with far greater finesse than most, his work is more gratifying when he paints things that seem to have affected him more personally than those which the public demands or expects to see.

In any case, he is never less than professional and Potter, along with Sherry, Dolmans and Lewis, comprise a show that does much to restore the enjoyment of realism as a modern day painting idiom.

Council Asks State Study On New Retirement Plan

A typical San Rafael city employee could receive a retirement pension of $182.50 per month higher than under the present system if the best plan offered by the State Retirement Board were adopted—and at little or no higher cost—the San Rafael City Council was told lost night.

Orrin Wendling, city finance director, presented the council a proposal for abandoning the present part-state, part-Social Security retirement plan in favor of a much more liberal state plan.

He said an employee who started with the city at age 30 and is paid $623 per month now puts $41.37 into Social Security and state retirement fund, with the city matching the amount. On retirement at age 65, he would receive $311.50 per month.

With approximately the same contributions by employee and city, the same employee under the best plan the state offers would receive a retirement pension of $494, according to Wendling's calculations.

The council authorized the finance director to apply for a state study, estimated to cost about $700, as a preliminary to converting to the new plan. Wendling said he thought it could be done with the beginning of next fiscal year, although complete withdrawal from Social Security would require two years of "phasing out" after that.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Authorized E. T. Ghirardo to move an apartment house from Third and Union streets, store it on city property beside the San Rafael Canal, and barge it out the canal. The permission was hedged with numerous requirements, among them being payment of $500 per month rent to the city while the building is stored on city property.

2. Called for bids on towing away automobiles from tow-away zones on city streets. No date was specified in the call.

3. Put over to Jan. 3 two appeals from planning commission decisions, by the San Rafael Sanitation District and developers of San Rafael Cayes.

4. Put off for 30 days, at request of City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, any action regarding acquisition of the three-acre Montecillo Park property from the Freitas Estate.

5. Held over, at request of Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates, a proposal for an excavation and grading ordinance. Coates said its provisions could be included in a new building code which will be up for adoption next March or April.

6. Heard from City Manager Andersen that negotiations are proceeding with Shamrock Materials for acquisition of right-of-way for a connection between Francisco Boulevard and Irwin Street, and agreed that negotiations with two other property owners should await conclusion of those with Shamrock.

7. Called for bids on two hydraulic gates for the Francisco Boulevard storm pumping station, to be installed by city public works crews.

8. Changed the city payroll dates from the 15th and last days to the 5th and 20th of each month.

9. Rejected a series of claims for damage from sanitary sewer overflow during recent storms.

10. "Read and filed" a letter from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce urging the city to adopt the proposed Highway 17 extension route through San Rafael and the "central corridor."

11. Said they would hear salary comparisons from the San Rafael Employees Assn. to a regular meeting. The association had asked for a closed meeting to present the comparisons.

12. Authorized payment of a final $6.036.98 due San Rafael Architects Associated for the city hall project.

13. Set for Jan. 10 at 7:30 p.m. review of the proposals of the city charter revision committee. Mayor C. Paul Bettini said this will constitute public hearing on the proposed changes which are designed for the April ballot.

Spotlight Stolen

Bernice O. Birdsall of 330 Irwin Street, San Rafael, complained to police yesterday that someone stole a $5 spotlight from her front yard Sunday night.

Hearing Set On San Pedro Road Design

Residents along San Pedro Road will get their chance Jan. 9 to make known their desires about the road's extension.

The San Rafael City Council last night set that date at 7:30 p.m. for a joint city-county hearing in the city hall on the next phase of the road widening and re-routing.

Norris M. Rawles, public works director announced drawings showing two proposals for the project will be on display in the city hall foyer from Jan. 3 through 9. A county engineer will be at the city hall Jan. 4 from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. to answer questions regrading both routes, he said.

The question to be decided is just which properties shall be taken for widening the road to four lanes from the end of the present widening project.

The chemical form in which a pesticide is applied to fields may significantly influence the amount that is washed off the soil during rainstorms.

San Rafael To Seek Probe Of Tunnel Delay

The City of San Rafael will ask an investigation by California Public Utilities Commission engineers of whether contractors for Northwestern Pacific Railroad need another six months to re-open the Puerto Suello tunnel.

The council by 3-2 vote last night authorized attorney Boris H. Lakusta to enter a request for an engineers' investigation with the PUC. Councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen dissented, feeling it obvious that the contractor is now going ahead at top speed, although Jensen said "they were stalling earlier."

When NWP last summer asked an extension to Dec. 31 from the original July deadline, the city asked for the PUC engineering investigation but was turned down.

City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson said he had been told by Lakusta, the city's attorney in the long fight with the railroad, that such a request would probably be agreed to now. He noted that NWP's latest extension request asked the deadline be moved to "at least June 30, 1967." This seemed a hint the railroad is in no hurry to restore the tunnel, he said.

The Interstate Commerce Commission last week granted NWP permission to abandon its Tiburon Peninsula facilities on condition that it restore the Puerto Suello mainline link.

Proposals Listed By Kettenhofen

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen yesterday gave colleagues a preview of some ideas he hopes to present to the board of supervisors early next year.

They included a suggested change in assessment practices and re-organization in the public works and social services departments.

The supervisor also suggested the staff be asked to study the possibility of enlarging, broadening and merging the city-county services committee and the Local Agency Formation Commission for "better efficiency and broader objectivity."

Economy Shows New Signs Of Slowing Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — New orders for durable goods dropped for the second straight month in November — another sign of a an economic slowdown.

The Commerce Department yesterday pegged the drop at 3.1 per cent and said the aircraft industry was largely responsible. Earlier figures had shown drops in industrial output, wholesale prices, retail sales and a slower rise in personal income.

The signs appear to reduce chances for a tax increase, say some government analysts.

The government showed one indication it is perhaps worrying less about inflation when it announced plans yesterday to sell $1.1 billion of its financial assets. Such sales had been held up as an anti-inflationary tool.

Bulb Thieves Beware; Her Tree's Wired

DETROIT (AP) — Anyone who tries to steal the bulbs from Mrs. Richard Howell's outdoor Christmas display may have a hair-raising tale to tell.

Angered by the theft of bulbs outside her home, Mrs. Howell has erected this sign: "These lights are high voltage. It may be dangerous. Touch at your own risk."

Council Asks State Study On New Retirement Plan

A typical San Rafael city employee could receive a retirement pension of $182.50 per month higher than under the present system if the best plan offered by the State Retirement Board were adopted—and at little or no higher cost—the San Rafael City Council was told lost night.

Orrin Wendling, city finance director, presented the council a proposal for abandoning the present part-state, part-Social Security retirement plan in favor of a much more liberal state plan.

He said an employee who started with the city at age 30 and is paid $623 per month now puts $41.37 into Social Security and state retirement fund, with the city matching the amount. On retirement at age 65, he would receive $311.50 per month.

With approximately the same contributions by employee and city, the same employee under the best plan the state offers would receive a retirement pension of $494, according to Wendling's calculations.

The council authorized the finance director to apply for a state study, estimated to cost about $700, as a preliminary to converting to the new plan. Wendling said he thought it could be done with the beginning of next fiscal year, although complete withdrawal from Social Security would require two years of "phasing out" after that.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Authorized E. T. Ghirardo to move an apartment house from Third and Union streets, store it on city property beside the San Rafael Canal, and barge it out the canal. The permission was hedged with numerous requirements, among them being payment of $500 per month rent to the city while the building is stored on city property.

2. Called for bids on towing away automobiles from tow-away zones on city streets. No date was specified in the call.

3. Put over to Jan. 3 two appeals from planning commission decisions, by the San Rafael Sanitation District and developers of San Rafael Cayes.

4. Put off for 30 days, at request of City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, any action regarding acquisition of the three-acre Montecillo Park property from the Freitas Estate.

5. Held over, at request of Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates, a proposal for an excavation and grading ordinance. Coates said its provisions could be included in a new building code which will be up for adoption next March or April.

6. Heard from City Manager Andersen that negotiations are proceeding with Shamrock Materials for acquisition of right-of-way for a connection between Francisco Boulevard and Irwin Street, and agreed that negotiations with two other property owners should await conclusion of those with Shamrock.

7. Called for bids on two hydraulic gates for the Francisco Boulevard storm pumping station, to be installed by city public works crews.

8. Changed the city payroll dates from the 15th and last days to the 5th and 20th of each month.

9. Rejected a series of claims for damage from sanitary sewer overflow during recent storms.

10. "Read and filed" a letter from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce urging the city to adopt the proposed Highway 17 extension route through San Rafael and the "central corridor."

11. Said they would hear salary comparisons from the San Rafael Employees Assn. to a regular meeting. The association had asked for a closed meeting to present the comparisons.

12. Authorized payment of a final $6.036.98 due San Rafael Architects Associated for the city hall project.

13. Set for Jan. 10 at 7:30 p.m. review of the proposals of the city charter revision committee. Mayor C. Paul Bettini said this will constitute public hearing on the proposed changes which are designed for the April ballot.

Spotlight Stolen

Bernice O. Birdsall of 330 Irwin Street, San Rafael, complained to police yesterday that someone stole a $5 spotlight from her front yard Sunday night.

Hearing Set On San Pedro Road Design

Residents along San Pedro Road will get their chance Jan. 9 to make known their desires about the road's extension.

The San Rafael City Council last night set that date at 7:30 p.m. for a joint city-county hearing in the city hall on the next phase of the road widening and re-routing.

Norris M. Rawles, public works director announced drawings showing two proposals for the project will be on display in the city hall foyer from Jan. 3 through 9. A county engineer will be at the city hall Jan. 4 from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. to answer questions regrading both routes, he said.

The question to be decided is just which properties shall be taken for widening the road to four lanes from the end of the present widening project.

The chemical form in which a pesticide is applied to fields may significantly influence the amount that is washed off the soil during rainstorms.

San Rafael To Seek Probe Of Tunnel Delay

The City of San Rafael will ask an investigation by California Public Utilities Commission engineers of whether contractors for Northwestern Pacific Railroad need another six months to re-open the Puerto Suello tunnel.

The council by 3-2 vote last night authorized attorney Boris H. Lakusta to enter a request for an engineers' investigation with the PUC. Councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen dissented, feeling it obvious that the contractor is now going ahead at top speed, although Jensen said "they were stalling earlier."

When NWP last summer asked an extension to Dec. 31 from the original July deadline, the city asked for the PUC engineering investigation but was turned down.

City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson said he had been told by Lakusta, the city's attorney in the long fight with the railroad, that such a request would probably be agreed to now. He noted that NWP's latest extension request asked the deadline be moved to "at least June 30, 1967." This seemed a hint the railroad is in no hurry to restore the tunnel, he said.

The Interstate Commerce Commission last week granted NWP permission to abandon its Tiburon Peninsula facilities on condition that it restore the Puerto Suello mainline link.

Proposals Listed By Kettenhofen

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen yesterday gave colleagues a preview of some ideas he hopes to present to the board of supervisors early next year.

They included a suggested change in assessment practices and re-organization in the public works and social services departments.

The supervisor also suggested the staff be asked to study the possibility of enlarging, broadening and merging the city-county services committee and the Local Agency Formation Commission for "better efficiency and broader objectivity."

Economy Shows New Signs Of Slowing Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — New orders for durable goods dropped for the second straight month in November — another sign of a an economic slowdown.

The Commerce Department yesterday pegged the drop at 3.1 per cent and said the aircraft industry was largely responsible. Earlier figures had shown drops in industrial output, wholesale prices, retail sales and a slower rise in personal income.

The signs appear to reduce chances for a tax increase, say some government analysts.

The government showed one indication it is perhaps worrying less about inflation when it announced plans yesterday to sell $1.1 billion of its financial assets. Such sales had been held up as an anti-inflationary tool.

Negro Attorney Named To Gate Bridge Board

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Board of Supervisors named a Negro attorney, John E. Dearman, and a retired building contractor, Chris D. McKeon, Monday to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's Board of directors.

They succeed banker Alvin Derre and labor leader Joseph Diviny.

It was the first time a Negro had ever been named to the bridge board, and it was the first time San Francisco's delegation has not included a labor spokesman.

Attorney Ben K. Lerer, businessman William Moscovitz and attorney Stephen Leonoudakis were re-elected.

To a list of policy questions submitted to candidates by supervisors before the vote was taken Dearman said he opposed widening bridge approaches, particularly in Marin County, while McKeon favored widening. McKeon said he was against dissolution of the bridge district, but Dearman said he felt the district should be abolished when financial obligations are paid off.

The Japanese celebrate an annual "National Photography Day," says the National Geographic.

Dr. Donovan O. Cooke told Belvedere police yesterday a hitching post was stolen from the yard of Mrs. Charlotte Kibbee, 3 North Point Circle, Belvedere.

Lucas Valley Annex Try Encounters Delay

Marinwood community and fire officials are finding the problem of annexing Lucas Valley to the Marinwood Community Services District more complicated than merely adding equipment and manpower.

Tax appraisal and agency formation difficulties are likely to delay the annexation at least until the second half of 1967, Marinwood Community Services District director Donald A. Duerr said today after meeting last night with Fire Chief James W. Cameron and Robert J. Cawley of Lucas Valley.

Duerr said both Marinwood and Lucas Valley are due for their quadrennial property reappraisal next year, creating uncertainty as to how much equipment and manpower the area will be able to afford. At present the Marinwood district has one pumper and one smaller unit.

Duerr said he plans to consult with the county administrator's office on the possibility of forming a county services area as a means of levying the fire protection tax.

Duerr expressed the opinion that an equitable arrangement would include the same fire protection tax throughout the area.

Tomales District Expects Little Tax Rate Change

Little change is anticipated in the tax rate for Tomales Bay School District next year, David Raffo, principal, told trustees last night.

The district will end the fiscal year with a $25,000 balance, he said, and the coming budget is likely to be about the same as the current year.

He reported the district will officially annex the American Valley District July 1. Children from this district are already being taught in Tomales Bay district.

A report on the condition of building regarding proof against earthquake damage is expected in a month, Raffo said.

Novato Driver Is Fined $150

Frank Lovell White, 35, of 158 San Felipe Way, Novato, was fined $150 and placed on a year's probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving.

California Highway Patrol arrested him Thursday on Highway 101.

John Halsell Shiner, 60, of 120 Fernwood Drive, San Rafael, was fined $289, also for drunken driving. Sheriff's officers arrested him on Tiburon Boulevard last Wednesday.

Corte Madera To Continue Present Center Trash Policy

The Corte Madera Town Council last night decided to continue having rubbish picked up one weekend each month behind the recreation center, at least for the time being.

The council noted, however, that the pickup provided free in the town's contract with the Mill Valley Refuse Service might be discontinued after the town park development is completed, if an overflow of trash makes the pickup a problem.

Representatives of the Mariner Highlands Improvement Assn., Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., and Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. said their groups were opposed to changing from the monthly pickup to an annual house-to-house pickup, and were opposed to discontinuance of the service.

A CITY DUMP

"Maybe if we stopped it altogether, we could get enough complaints directed at the county that they would establish a city dump nearby," Councilman Charles F. Pendleton suggested.

"I'd give up this pickup in a minute if it becomes a problem," Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said. The rest of the council agreed the service was not a necessity.

The council approved a map showing Corte Madera's ultimate boundaries for submission to the Local Agency Formation Commission. The map, drawn by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher and recommended by the planning commission, includes the southern half of the San Quentin Peninsula, including the prison.

The map shows the boundary with Larkspur on the west, going south to Mill Valley and picking up the unincorporated Meadowsweet area, meeting the line of Tiburon's proposed annexations along the Southern Ridge, following the Tiburon city limits to the water and across to Point San Quentin, then following the San Quentin Ridge.

THOROUGHFARE

The council also approved an urban thoroughfare agreement with the county, whereby 65 per cent of the county's gasoline tax funds will be used to establish an urban thoroughfare system of improved streets through cities.

Streets to be improved in Corte Madera are Tamalpais Drive from the Larkspur City limit to Highway 101, and Paradise Drive from Westward Drive to El Camino Drive.

Other streets included in the five-year agreement are parts of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross, San Anselmo and Fairfax, the Miracle Mile, Novato Boulevard and South Novato Boulevard in Novato, College Avenue and Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur and Kentfield, Bridgeway in Sausalito, and the Alto Loop in Mill Valley. Most will be widened to four lanes.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Set public hearings Jan. 3 on annexations of the Tidegate parcel at the end of the High Canal and an area on Williams Avenue, now in Larkspur.
2. Endorsed the George Blackwell Bill to be presented to the state legislature, to exclude city taxpayers from county taxes for duplicated services.
3. Approved plans for extending Meadowsweet Drive to the town limits, using $12,870 in gasoline tax funds.
4. Agreed to close city offices at noon Friday and Dec. 30.
5. Reappointed Albert Kogler to the Marin Mosquito Abatement District Board.
6. Set the next council meeting for Tuesday, Jan. 3, as the next regular meeting date would be Jan. 2, a holiday.

Kiwanis Club Installation Dinner Set

William F. Carroll of Tiburon will be installed as president of the Kiwanis Club of Southern Marin at the club's annual dinner Jan. 7 at the Marin Golf and Country Club.

Other incoming officers to be installed are: Harold A. Strouss of Mill Valley, vice president; Clyde Beasley of San Rafael, second vice president; Monte Robinson of San Francisco, treasurer; John G. Wright of Mill Valley, secretary.

Serving on the board of directors for 1967 will be Richard Lilly, Dr. Sheldon Schwebel, Clifford Brock, Dale Greenlee, Perry Smith, William Bacon, and Howard Dawson.

Sebastian J. Cimino, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Division 8, will preside at the dinner meeting.

Ranch Park Report Given

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., San Anselmo recreation director, told the city's park and recreation commission last night that the county does not consider Sorich Ranch, as it is now planned, suitable for county regional park development.

He said Pierre Joske, county parks and recreation director, said the park might be suitable for county development if adjacent plateau land could be obtained.

The commission asked Snyder to ask the city planning commission to consider whether San Anselmo should have an ordinance on dedication of park land by subdivision developers, similar to the county's ordinance.

Use by Sir Francis Drake High School Scholarship Foundation of Memorial Park May 21 for an auto show was approved.

Commissioners Dr. Richard Ehrhart, Robert England and Mrs. Brooks Pringle were absent.

Community Hall Remodeling Studied

Remodeling Belvedere Community Hall to include city officers versus starting from scratch with a new building was talked about by Belvedere Planning Commissioners last night.

They questioned whether the old Tudor-style building would have to be brought up to modern standards. Space needed for various city services was included in a study by a pervious planning commission, it was learned. Planners directed City Mgr. William S. Cavalli to look up the report.

Negro Attorney Named To Gate Bridge Board

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Board of Supervisors named a Negro attorney, John E. Dearman, and a retired building contractor, Chris D. McKeon, Monday to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's Board of directors.

They succeed banker Alvin Derre and labor leader Joseph Diviny.

It was the first time a Negro had ever been named to the bridge board, and it was the first time San Francisco's delegation has not included a labor spokesman.

Attorney Ben K. Lerer, businessman William Moscovitz and attorney Stephen Leonoudakis were re-elected.

To a list of policy questions submitted to candidates by supervisors before the vote was taken Dearman said he opposed widening bridge approaches, particularly in Marin County, while McKeon favored widening. McKeon said he was against dissolution of the bridge district, but Dearman said he felt the district should be abolished when financial obligations are paid off.

Lucas Valley Annex Try Encounters Delay

Marinwood community and fire officials are finding the problem of annexing Lucas Valley to the Marinwood Community Services District more complicated than merely adding equipment and manpower.

Tax appraisal and agency formation difficulties are likely to delay the annexation at least until the second half of 1967, Marinwood Community Services District director Donald A. Duerr said today after meeting last night with Fire Chief James W. Cameron and Robert J. Cawley of Lucas Valley.

Duerr said both Marinwood and Lucas Valley are due for their quadrennial property reappraisal next year, creating uncertainty as to how much equipment and manpower the area will be able to afford. At present the Marinwood district has one pumper and one smaller unit.

Duerr said he plans to consult with the county administrator's office on the possibility of forming a county services area as a means of levying the fire protection tax.

Duerr expressed the opinion that an equitable arrangement would include the same fire protection tax throughout the area.

Tomales District Expects Little Tax Rate Change

Little change is anticipated in the tax rate for Tomales Bay School District next year, David Raffo, principal, told trustees last night.

The district will end the fiscal year with a $25,000 balance, he said, and the coming budget is likely to be about the same as the current year.

He reported the district will officially annex the American Valley District July 1. Children from this district are already being taught in Tomales Bay district.

A report on the condition of building regarding proof against earthquake damage is expected in a month, Raffo said.

Novato Driver Is Fined $150

Frank Lovell White, 35, of 158 San Felipe Way, Novato, was fined $150 and placed on a year's probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving.

California Highway Patrol arrested him Thursday on Highway 101.

John Halsell Shiner, 60, of 120 Fernwood Drive, San Rafael, was fined $289, also for drunken driving. Sheriff's officers arrested him on Tiburon Boulevard last Wednesday.

Corte Madera To Continue Present Center Trash Policy

The Corte Madera Town Council last night decided to continue having rubbish picked up one weekend each month behind the recreation center, at least for the time being.

The council noted, however, that the pickup provided free in the town's contract with the Mill Valley Refuse Service might be discontinued after the town park development is completed, if an overflow of trash makes the pickup a problem.

Representatives of the Marin er Highlands Improvement Assn., Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., and Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. said their groups were opposed to changing from the monthly pickup to an annual house-to-house pickup, and were opposed to discontinuance of the service.

Supervisors Ask Laws To Help Out Taxpayer

Marin County Board of Supervisors were in money-saving mood yesterday when they met to discuss matters they considered should be pressed in the upcoming session of the State Legislature.

A balance between property taxes and other forms of taxation should be given top priority, they agreed, and use of gasoline taxes should be permitted for other transportation purposes besides road-building.

On taxation, Chairman Byron W. Leydecker suggested the burden created by veterans' tax exemptions should be borne by the state and not the counties.

There was agreement on the need for some relief from property taxation by elderly people on fixed incomes.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen thought the householder who made improvement should not be called upon to pay additional taxes upon them immediately but should be given some period of grace as an encouragement. This applied, he said, to refurnishing and remodeling—not to structional alterations.

Supervisors also favored pressing for a Local Agency Budget Commission to review all budgets of taxing entities. However, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer had reservations about the body's power to veto.

On transportation, Mrs. Ann West, president of San Anselmo Homes Assn., presented a letter from the organization calling for full support for a proposed constitutional amendment permitting use of gas tax funds for all forms of transportation.

"The present law is a straightjacket which prevents intelligent solution to our transportation problems," she wrote. Supervisors agreed.

The supervisors also agreed to press for transportation legislation which would:

1. Permit the Marin County Transit District to engage in charter service.
2. Permit the district a package pickup and drop-off service.
3. Relieve publicly owned transit systems, including the MCTD, from paying the motor vehicle fuel tax.
4. Clarify the authority of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and the MCTD to provide bus services and other forms of transportation as a joint venture.
5. Provide for merger of the Golden Gate Bridge District and the county transit district.

Under the title of governmental organization, the Supervisors said they would like to see legislation consolidating the post of coroner with the public health function.

While on this subject, the board considered welfare records should be made accessible to a district attorney in murder and other felony invvestigations.

The law governing election procedures and dates should be more uniform to save the taxpayers' money, they said.

The supervisors had specific proposals regarding charges for county services.

Once someone's ability to pay is established, some form of payment should be made for public defender services, certain probation department expenses, and any medical expenses incurred in county jail, they held.

Other proposals for legislation agreed to by the supervisors were:

6. The state should bear responsibility for trial costs of parole violators.
7. There should be federal support of veterans service officers.
8. Greater state participation should be provided in the cost of county welfare departments as well as grants for general relief.

Britain Expected To Change Law

LONDON (AP) — Parliamentary passage of a bill legalizing private homosexual acts between consenting male adults appeared assured today after the House of Commons approved the bill in principle on its second reading.

The bill will be debated in the House of Lords before becoming law. The Lords have indicated they will approve it.

Campaigners for the legislation have long contended that the present law opens homosexuals to blacknail.

David Crockett Faces Court On Check Count

David Joseph Crockett, 36, a transient, waived preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a complaint charging forgery of a $146.79 check with intent to defend Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera last April 16.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. certified the case of Marin Superior Court. The judge dismissed a second complaint against Crockett alleging he passed worthless checks at Sommer and Kaufmann, and Frank Moore in San Rafael on Jan. 4.

Bagley Pledges Park Funds Try

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, declared last night he is "ready to go to bat" for additional monies for Mount Tamalpais State Park expansion and Marin Headlands State Park.

He spoke before the Marin Conservation League board of directors.

"Senator (John F.) McCarthy and I have worked in the past for completion of the Golden Gate Headlands Park, urging the use of surplus Army property," said Assemblyman Bagley. "We have advised Governor-elect Reagan of our interest and we will follow through during the forthcoming legislative session."

Probation Chief Granted Changes In Administration

Marin Count yBoard of Supervisors yesterday approved changes within the county probation department which should, said Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher, leave more time for him and his staff to do their job.

The changes will not effect the present budget as they cancel each other out, Busher told the board at an adjourned meeting.

The position of director of field services, now vacant, and that of director of institutional services will be abolished. In their place a director of probation services will be created. His job is to co-ordinate the work of the probation office, Juvenile Hall and the Family Rehabilitation Center.

Added was a new position of director of business services.

At present, said Busher, he and one secretary have to supervise and perform the housekeeping functions for a staff of 125 persons working a 24-hour day, seven-day week operation.

Meeting Called Off

San Geronimo Valey Assn. did not meet last night because of the proximity of the Christmas holidays. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 16 in Lagunitas School.

Vandals Hit Schools Over The Weekend

Vandals, believed by police to be Christmas vacationing juveniles, struck the Dixie School District over the weekend, breaking into Don Timoteo School and the district office, both at 135 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

They entered both buildings by prying off boards which covered broken windows, police said.

Inside the district office, they opened desk drawers and stole 60 cents from an envelope. Outside that building, they damaged a corner of the structure with a sharp instrument and left women's underclothes hanging throughout the passageways.

Inside the office of Don Timoteo School, the vandals sprayed a can of cleaning substance on the walls of storage closet and broke a small shelf in the washroom, police reported.

Portuguese Give Refugee To Reds

MACAO (AP) — Macao's Portuguese government handed over to Red China early today seven Chinese accused by Peking of being agents for Nationalist China, leftist Chinese sources reported.

The seven escaped from Red China in 1963. Their return was one of a series of demands made by Communist leaders after two days of Communist-instigated rioting early this month left eight dead, more than 100 injured and Macao's city hall in ruins.

Yule Packages Taken From Car

George L. Coburn's Christmas will not be as bountiful this year as it might have been.

San Rafael police reported that someone stole 15 to 20 Christmas packages from his car Sunday night, while it was parked in front of his house at 61 Porto Bello Drive, San Rafael.

They entered the car by cutting through a plexi-glass back window, police said.

Mill Valley's Garbage Dispute Seems Solved

The threat of a new garbage dispute between the City of Mill Valley and Mill Valley Refuse Service "appears to be resolved," Mayor Albert E. White said today following a meeting with representatives of the company.

The company agreed to submit its books to the council in January to review proposed rate increases, and will withhold billing for the first quarter of 1967 pending the review, Mayor White said.

The company had intended to bill customers again at rates rejected in September by the council, he told the city council last night. The company was so confident that the city would eventually approve the rate increases that it was going to continue billing at the unauthorized rates, he said.

In October, the council approved rates of $1.50 a can for houses not more than 150 feet above sea level, $1.75 for houses between 150 and 350 feet, and $2.25 for houses more than 350 feet above sea level. The company wants rates of $2, $2.50 and $3.

Also in dispute, the Mayor said, is increase of the franchise fee from 1.25 per cent to 5 per cent. The company also would like to consider a flat charge for all elevations, Mayor White said.

Councilmen agreed unanimously that they should not review rates until the company agreed to stop billing at unauthorized rates — which it did today, according to the Mayor.

Mill Valley customers who paid the unauthorized rates are to receive credit on their next quarterly bills, the mayor said.

For the first time in five years, a four-day egg and poultry grading school was held recently at the University of Florida to increase the uniformity in grading eggs and poultry throughout the state.

Christmas Card Mailing Reaches Its Peak Today

Today is rated the peak in Christmas card mail. And San Rafael Post Office, regional sorting center for the county, announced jubilantly: "It's all cleaned up, we're right on top of it."

Asst. Postmaster Hugh Cassidy said that contrary to popular opinion, Christmas mail doesn't build up until the 24th, "Parcel post crested on the 17th and 18th. Christmas cards hit the peak today," he said.

With 153 temporary helpers hired, there's been no problem with backlogged mail this year, said Cassidy. "In fact we've done so well some Christmas help will have to be laid off."

Letter mail that arrived at the post office at 6 a.m. today was sorted and out on the carriers' routes this morning, he reported.

Temporary helpers this year ranged from elderly citizens to teen-age students. Two 18-year-old girls showed up for their first day of work in mini-skirts. Cassidy admitted it cheered up the regular helpers "but was rather impractical so the next day they wore slacks. Anyway, some of the older guys can't take too much cheering up."

It is not definitely established who designed the U. S. flag.

The training also included the study of French and the local African language, West African history and culture, U.S. history and world affairs, teaching methods, and principles of community development.

Mill Valley To Try Alto No. 2 Annexation

Mill Valley City Council voted last night to try for its first annexation of an inhabited area—an 18-acre corridor around the Alto-Edna Maguire School site known as "Alto No. 2 Annexation."

The Local Agency Formation Commission approved the annexation several months ago as an uninhabited annexation, which meant that fewer than 12 registered voters were found living there. Now, however, 13 voters live there, reported Asst. City Mgr. Harold E. Soule.

The county clerk's office, he explained, failed to record registrations of two voters promptly, causing the earlier miscount.

Councilmen allowed six weeks for a petition seeking annexation to be signed by 25 per cent of the voters in the annexation — four persons. An election would then be held. Cost of the election to the city would be $700, Soule estimated.

If the petition is not signed by four of the voters, councilmen agreed, the city will delete two properties from the annexation map and re-submit it to LAFE as an uninhabited annexation.

Council Cool To Demands For School Master Plans

A move last night by Mill Valley Mayor Albert E. White to ensure that Mill Valley School District trustees provide a master plan showing ultimate size of each school site before joint development of Project 17 failed to arouse support from the city council.

Such a plan was requested by the council when it agreed to consider Alto as a school and recreation facility. The district has failed to satisfy the council's request, Mayor White insisted.

"These decisions are basic and should be made before we hire an architect or planner. If we disagree after he is hired, then we are in trouble," he declared. Trustees have talked of a school for 1,000 students, he noted, but present school population would crowd a school this size.

Councilman Rodric L. Robinson, however, argued, "We don't want to get bogged down now." A limit on the acreage to be used for school buildings could be imposed later, he suggested, after the planning is completed for the area. "We all want the same thing" he said, "good schools and recreation."

A suggestion by White that a joint city-school committee be named to study financing of the project also was brushed aside.

"This is why we are hiring a site planner," Councilman Michael Warnum said. "Costs will be dealt with by the planner."

Joint development "is a good idea," White said, "but we have to knock heads and get answers to some of these questions."

The joint city-school committee to select a master site planner for the Project 17 area will meet today at 8 p.m. in the school district office, 26 Miller Avenue.

Second Request To Drop Zephyr

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission was asked yesterday to drop another link in the famed California Zephyr rail route to the West Coast.

The request came from the Denver and Rio Grande and Western Railroad. The line asked for permission to drop two trains of the Zephyr between Denver and Salt Lake City.

The Western Pacific already has pending a request to drop the train between Salt Lake City and San Francisco.

More Outdoor Tree Lights Are Stolen

Four San Anselmo residents reported outdoor Christmas tree lights stolen Sunday night, according to San Anselmo police, who reprimanded a 10-year-old boy for one of the thefts.

Lights were reported stolen from Jackie P. Kenilvort of 81 Angela Avenue, William H. Lyon of 142 Sequoia Avenue, Richard V. Gamba of 19 Carolina Avenue, and Mary B. Schultz of 39 Forbes Avenue. Mrs. Schiltz's lights were recovered from the boy.

Four Hurt In Bridge Collision

One person was injured in each of four cars involved in a collision on Golden Gate Bridge at 8:12 p.m. Sunday, which slowed bridge traffic for about 20 minutes.

California Highway Patrol reported a southbound car driven by Donald MacFarland, 54, of San Francisco suddenly swerved into the northbound fast lane and hit the rear of a car driven by Frederick Ralph Pracht Jr., 32, of 1111 Cornelia Avenue, Mill Valley. MacFarland's car spun and hit a car driven by Charles William Jackson, 22, of 1417 Clinton Avenue, San Rafael. A third car driven by Gordon Stewart Sandeman, 62, of Burlingame, rolled over, then uprighted and swerved into the guard rail.

MacFarland and a passenger in the second car, Eunice Sandeman, 52, were treated for minor injuries at Park-Stanyan Emergency Hospital in San Francisco. Sharon Prior, 18, a passenger in Jackson's car, and Hope Pracht, 30, a passenger in Frederick Pracht's car told the police they would see their own physicians.

The Holy Roman Emperor who revived education

Charlemagne, the 8th century French and German king who became Holy Roman Emperor, needed educated citizens to make his empire great. He assigned Alcuin, an English clergyman, to the task. Mill Valley's Garbage Dispute Seems Solved

The threat of a new garbage dispute between the City of Mill Valley and Mill Valley Refuse Service "appears to be resolved," Mayor Albert E. White said today following a meeting with representatives of the company.

The company agreed to submit its books to the council in January to review proposed rate increases, and will withhold billing for the first quarter of 1967 pending the review, Mayor White said.

The company had intended to bill customers again at rates rejected in September by the council, he told the city council last night. The company was so confident that the city would eventually approve the rate increases that it was going to continue billing at the unauthorized rates, he said.

In October, the council approved rates of $1.50 a can for houses not more than 150 feet above sea level, $1.75 for houses between 150 and 350 feet, and $2.25 for houses more than 350 feet above sea level. The company wants rates of $2, $2.50 and $3.

Also in dispute, the Mayor said, is increase of the franchise fee from 1.25 per cent to 5 per cent. The company also would like to consider a flat charge for all elevations, Mayor White said.

Councilmen agreed unanimously that they should not review rates until the company agreed to stop billing at unauthorized rates — which it did today, according to the Mayor.

Mill Valley customers who paid the unauthorized rates are to receive credit on their next quarterly bills, the mayor said.

For the first time in five years, a four-day egg and poultry grading school was held recently at the University of Florida to increase the uniformity in grading eggs and poultry throughout the state.

Christmas Card Mailing Reaches Its Peak Today

Today is rated the peak in Christmas card mail. And San Rafael Post Office, regional sorting center for the county, announced jubilantly: "It's all cleaned up, we're right on top of it."

Asst. Postmaster Hugh Cassidy said that contrary to popular opinion, Christmas mail doesn't build up until the 24th, "Parcel post crested on the 17th and 18th. Christmas cards hit the peak today," he said.

With 153 temporary helpers hired, there's been no problem with backlogged mail this year, said Cassidy. "In fact we've done so well some Christmas help will have to be laid off."

Letter mail that arrived at the post office at 6 a.m. today was sorted and out on the carriers' routes this morning, he reported.

Temporary helpers this year ranged from elderly citizens to teen-age students. Two 18-year-old girls showed up for their first day of work in mini-skirts. Cassidy admitted it cheered up the regular helpers "but was rather impractical so the next day they wore slacks. Anyway, some of the older guys can't take too much cheering up."

It is not definitely established who designed the U. S. flag.

Planners Vote For Study On Island Zoning

Marin County Planning Commission voted 4-2 yesterday to direct the planning staff to begin studying the rezoning of islands of commercial land in residential areas around Miller Avenue and Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais and Homestead valleys.

The split vote indicated commission dispute over a staff recommendation for an emergency ordinance to freeze all development in those areas for 30 days while the commission considers new zonings.

Claude Stoller and Dr. William F. Upton voted against the motion, favoring the emergency ordinance "to prevent the frenzied activity which comes with an announcement of our intention to rezone," as Stoller put it.

Chairman Margaret Azevedo said she just couldn't see "a flood of applications coming from these little pockets."

Niels Schultz Jr. said: "These emergency ordinances can become habit-forming. Pretty soon, everytime you start thinking about something you want to take away the person's rights to his property for awhile."

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said most of the commercial islands show as single-family residential zoning on master plans for the area.

He said the staff will work with improvement groups in the area to seek the best zoning. Commissioners said they do not think all the islands need lose their commercial zoning.

Charge Dropped, Lack Of Evidence

A charge of attempted extortion against Henry Jacob Soderlind, 55, was dismissed in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson on grounds of insufficient evidence to show that the alleged crime was committed in Marin County.

Soderlind, of 85 Poplar Avenue, Ross, was jointly charged with Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, of 223 Redwood Drive, Ross, with the attempt on Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes, Inc., Berkeley.

Mrs. Fritz still faces the charge and three other felony counts of extortion by threatening exposure of her intimacies with Walker. She is to enter plea Jan. 3.

Planners Vote For Study On Island Zoning

Marin County Planning Commission voted 4-2 yesterday to direct the planning staff to begin studying the rezoning of islands of commercial land in residential areas around Miller Avenue and Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais and Homestead valleys.

The split vote indicated commission dispute over a staff recommendation for an emergency ordinance to freeze all development in those areas for 30 days while the commission considers new zonings.

Claude Stoller and Dr. William F. Upton voted against the motion, favoring the emergency ordinance "to prevent the frenzied activity which comes with an announcement of our intention to rezone," as Stoller put it.

Chairman Margaret Azevedo said she just couldn't see "a flood of applications coming from these little pockets."

Niels Schultz Jr. said: "These emergency ordinances can become habit-forming. Pretty soon, everytime you start thinking about something you want to take away the person's rights to his property for awhile."

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said most of the commercial islands show as single-family residential zoning on master plans for the area.

He said the staff will work with improvement groups in the area to seek the best zoning. Commissioners said they do not think all the islands need lose their commercial zoning.

Charge Dropped, Lack Of Evidence

A charge of attempted extortion against Henry Jacob Soderlind, 55, was dismissed in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson on grounds of insufficient evidence to show that the alleged crime was committed in Marin County.

Soderlind, of 85 Poplar Avenue, Ross, was jointly charged with Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, of 223 Redwood Drive, Ross, with the attempt on Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes, Inc., Berkeley.

Mrs. Fritz still faces the charge and three other felony counts of extortion by threatening exposure of her intimacies with Walker. She is to enter plea Jan. 3.

Coca Cola Purchases Property At Ignacio

Cocoa Cola Bottling Co. of California has purchased nine acres off industrial property at Ignacio, it was learned today.

The property was part of the Pimental Estate and is contiguous to the Hamilton Industrial Park. It has frontage of approximately 1,700 feet on Bel Marin Keys Road, according to Louis H. Baar of Redmond and Co., who handled the transaction.

The exact sales price was not given but the property was reported to have been purchased for between $150,000 and $200,000.

Jack Higgins, president of the company, said the location will be used for a new San Rafael plant, the present one being too small. He said construction plans have not been completed and no date has been set for work to begin.

Coca Cola Bottling Co. of San Rafael and Santa Rosa was purchased by the California Corporation last July. Frank Butler, former manager of the San Francisco plant, was recently appointed manager in San Rafael.

Supervisors Pave Way For Department Head Pay Hikes

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors this morning paved the way for salary increases for 13 department heads by adopting pay ranges.

What the actual salaries will be was left undecided at this morning's session.

Range for County Administrator Alan Bruce, now receiving $1,750 a month, was set at $1,700 to $2,300 a month. Supervisors had no recommendation on this from county Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott.

Bruce's present salary comes to $21,000 a year. Supervisor Chairman Byron W. Leydecker suggested a range of $22,000 to $30,000.

"That $30,000 scares me a little bit," Supervisor William A. Gnoss declared. Supervisor Thomas T. Storer agreed. Annual pay on the range adopted for the administrator comes to $20,700 to $27,600.

In their lengthy debate on salaries for the department heads and how they should be considered, supervisors have long said that it was not certain that there would be raises for all involved.

However, the only changes in Elliott's recommendations made by the board today were upward ones. The bottom in each range, however, was lower than the present salary being paid the department head involved.

The ranges adopted were:

Probation officer Walter Busher (now $1,250 a month), $1,200 to $1,550 as recommended; Data Processing Director Arleigh R. Sewell (now $1,225), range $1,150 to $1,500 as recommended; Social Services Director Betty L. Presley (now at $1,350), $1,300 to $1,675, a $75 increase from the recommended maximum;

Director of Economic Development John M. Douglas (now $1,300), $1,200 to $1,500, as recommended; Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom (now $1,166), $1,000 to $1,250 as recommended; Public Works Director Donald R. Frost (now $1,500), range $1,500 to $1,800, a $125 increase from the recommended maximum;

Public Defender Jerome Durham (now $1,333), $1,200 to $1,600 as recommended; Medical Director Michael School (half-time, now $900), $750 to $1,100, a $100 increase in the recommended maximum; Mental Health Director Clyde G. Miller (now $1,650), $1,500 to $2,000, an increase of $150 from the recommended minimum;

Public Health Director Carolyn B. Albrecht (now $1,500), $1,400 to $2,000, an increase of $50 from the recommended minimum; Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske (now at $1,200), $1,200 to $1,500, a raise of $100 from the recommended minimum and $225 from the recommended maximum, and Planning Director Paul C. Zucker (now $1,500), $1,550 to $1,800, an increase of $175 from the recommended maximum.

Four Girls Nabbed For Stealing Lights

Three juvenile girls were cited by Tiburon Sheriff's Deputy Joseph Kelly yesterday at 4 p.m. for thefts of Christmas lights from four homes in Belveron Gardens.

Deputy Kelly said the girls admitted taking lights from the homes of Mary L. Birchfield, 5 Mercury Drive; James Morgan, 19 Mercury Drive; Lois O. Condley, 17 Apollo Road, and Michael Pigat, 26 Mercury Drive. He said the girls also told him they had also taken small items from stores in Strawberry and Sausalito.

Point Reyes On District Agenda

Questions from the Local Agency Formation Commission on Point Reyes annexation will be discussed tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. by the Marin Municipal Water District board at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Annexation of a portion of Point Reyes was originally discussed with the Marin Municipal Water District, accordin gto Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger, after which an application for annexation was made to the North Marin Water District.

The board will also hear from Boy Scout Troop 33 of Mill Valley on its request to erect signs on Mount Tamalpais.

Fairgrounds Committee Splits, Gives Supervisors Two Reports

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin's ad hoc committee on management of the Civic Center fairgrounds and auditorium voted last night to send two differing reports to county supervisors.

The vote was 8-6, reflecting a continuing split in the committee over the makeup of a proposed non-profit organization to operate year-around activities at the center.

One report, submitted by a five-member sub-committee, calls for a civic activities corporation composed of governmental and private organizations from throughout the county. It recommends a seven-member governing board, elected by member organizations subject to approvel by supervisors.

A second report, submitted by Joseph Wright of Novato, calls for a corporation "open to all persons interested in the use and development of the center."

Wright's report calls for a seven-member board to be appointed by supervisors initially, and election of two by members after two years, provided that membership in the corporation reaches 1,000.

Under this proposal, members would pay dues of $2.50 a year which would entitle them to one admission to the Marin County Fair.

"Due to a sharp difference of opinions within the committee, this may be either a majority or minority report," Wright said.

The report by the sub-committee had been labeled the majority report, but Dennis Untermann, one of the committee members, objected to having enther report designated "minority or majority."

Untermann, representing horticulture, said he was going to sign both reports.

Committee members agreed that members could sign either or both reports.

Bruce McKenzie, representing natural science, said he would not back any report until he had a chance to submit it to the board of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

Thus the official count will not be known until the reports are signed and submitted to the supervisors for their Jan. 10 agenda.

Mrs. Vera L. Schultz, representing the senior activity center, said the sub-committee was divided and "the only one that can resolve it is the board of supervisors."

The two groups differed on administration of the fairgrounds and auditorium.

The sub-committee report calls for the non-profit corporation board to administer the facilities, with supervisors having governmental but not managerial control. Wright's proposal calls for the corporation directors to be under the board of supervisors, with the county ad- and county counsel assisting.

"We fell the corporation shouldn't be completly divided from county activities," he said.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney acted as chairman of the ad hoc committee in the absence of Chairman Harold Stockstad last night. The committee adjourned until called to reconvene by its chairman.

Planning Commission Halts Point Reyes Rezoning Try

County planning commissioners yesterday were charged with taking sides with the federal government in attemping to force down value of land on the Point Reyes peninsula to be purchased for the National Seashore.

Ranchers and attorneys protested loudly against changing the residential density allowed from 7,500 square feet per lot to a minimum of three acres.

Attorney Benjamin P. Bonelli, one of the developers of Drakes Beach Estates, said the only purpose he could see in the change was to "reduce values so the federal government could buy land cheaper."

In proposing the change several weeks ago, County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said Congress would be happier about further appropriations if the zone were changed.

Zucker protested yesterday that he had wanted the agricultural zone, which is really a holding zone, changed throughout the county.

"We don't think it is appropriate to allow 7,500-square foot lots in a holding zone," he said.

Private planning consultant Webster Otis, representing the Peirce Point ranch, argued that three-acre lots would not be related to topography nor to the West Marin master plan. This argument carried weight with most of the commissioners.

After nearly an hour of protest, Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. declared, "I don't think we should play games with these people." He moved that the proceedings be abandoned. This passed 4-2, with Commissioners Hugh Dougherty and Claude Stoller dissenting and Commissioner Michael Praszker absent.

Deputies Name New President

Edward Klementovich Sr., assistant supervisor of the sheriff's identification bureau, has been elected president of Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Assn. for 1967.

He replaces Deputy Charles Prandi.

New vice president is Inspector Marco Melovich. Jim Clark, report typist, is secretary; Deputy Weldon Travis, treasurer, and Deputy William Bradford, sergeant-at-arms.

The association also voted 76-10 to appoint a committee to study the feasibility of retaining an attorney to represent association members.

Voiceprint identification, rivalling fingerprints in accuracy, is based on the combination of physical characteristics unique to each individual's vocal cavities (throat, mouth, nose and sinuses) and the manner of manipulating the articulators (lips, teeth, tongue soft palate and jaw muscles).

Closed Door Council Talks On Employee

San Rafael City Council met behind closed doors for an hour last night to discuss a complaint about a city employee, but no action followed at the council's regular open meeting.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said two city employees had filed complaints against a third. The council, he said, wanted "to get to the bottom of it."

Some disciplinary action may result, depending on further investigation, councilmen said today.

Elderly Man Found In Creek

An 81-year-old Novato man yesterday fell down an embankment into Novato Creek and lay there for three hours before being found and rescued.

John Joseph Matthews of 1864A Virginia Avenue was in good condition today in Novato Hospital, suffering from cold and exposure.

He was seen lying in the creek in the rear of 1859 Marion Avenue by an unidentified person who phoned Novato police at 1:25 p.m.

Police reported Matthews had fallen about 15 feet down the embankment and could not get out. He told police he lay there about three hours before help came.

Untermann, representing horticulture, said he was going to sign both reports.

Committee members agreed that members could sign either or both reports.

Bruce McKenzie, representing natural science, said he would not back any report until he had a chance to submit it to the board of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

Thus the official count will not be known until the reports are signed and submitted to the supervisors for their Jan. 10 agenda.

Mrs. Vera L. Schultz, representing the senior activity center, said the sub-committee was divided and "the only one that can resolve it is the board of supervisors."

The two groups differed on administration of the fairgrounds and auditorium.

The sub-committee report calls for the non-profit corporation board to administer the facilities, with supervisors having governmental but not managerial control. Wright's proposal calls for the corporation directors to be under the board of supervisors, with the county ad- and county counsel assisting.

"We fell the corporation shouldn't be completly divided from county activities," he said.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney acted as chairman of the ad hoc committee in the absence of Chairman Harold Stockstad last night. The committee adjourned until called to reconvene by its chairman.

Planning Commission Halts Point Reyes Rezoning Try

County planning commissioners yesterday were charged with taking sides with the federal government in attemping to force down value of land on the Point Reyes peninsula to be purchased for the National Seashore.

Ranchers and attorneys protested loudly against changing the residential density allowed from 7,500 square feet per lot to a minimum of three acres.

Attorney Benjamin P. Bonelli, one of the developers of Drakes Beach Estates, said the only purpose he could see in the change was to "reduce values so the federal government could buy land cheaper."

In proposing the change several weeks ago, County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said Congress would be happier about further appropriations if the zone were changed.

Zucker protested yesterday that he had wanted the agricultural zone, which is really a holding zone, changed throughout the county.

"We don't think it is appropriate to allow 7,500-square foot lots in a holding zone," he said.

Private planning consultant Webster Otis, representing the Peirce Point ranch, argued that three-acre lots would not be related to topography nor to the West Marin master plan. This argument carried weight with most of the commissioners.

After nearly an hour of protest, Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. declared, "I don't think we should play games with these people." He moved that the proceedings be abandoned. This passed 4-2, with Commissioners Hugh Dougherty and Claude Stoller dissenting and Commissioner Michael Praszker absent.

Deputies Name New President

Edward Klementovich Sr., assistant supervisor of the sheriff's identification bureau, has been elected president of Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Assn. for 1967.

He replaces Deputy Charles Prandi.

New vice president is Inspector Marco Melovich. Jim Clark, report typist, is secretary; Deputy Weldon Travis, treasurer, and Deputy William Bradford, sergeant-at-arms.

The association also voted 76-10 to appoint a committee to study the feasibility of retaining an attorney to represent association members.

Voiceprint identification, rivalling fingerprints in accuracy, is based on the combination of physical characteristics unique to each individual's vocal cavities (throat, mouth, nose and sinuses) and the manner of manipulating the articulators (lips, teeth, tongue soft palate and jaw muscles).

Closed Door Council Talks On Employee

San Rafael City Council met behind closed doors for an hour last night to discuss a complaint about a city employee, but no action followed at the council's regular open meeting.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said two city employees had filed complaints against a third. The council, he said, wanted "to get to the bottom of it."

Some disciplinary action may result, depending on further investigation, councilmen said today.

Elderly Man Found In Creek

An 81-year-old Novato man yesterday fell down an embankment into Novato Creek and lay there for three hours before being found and rescued.

John Joseph Matthews of 1864A Virginia Avenue was in good condition today in Novato Hospital, suffering from cold and exposure.

He was seen lying in the creek in the rear of 1859 Marion Avenue by an unidentified person who phoned Novato police at 1:25 p.m.

Police reported Matthews had fallen about 15 feet down the embankment and could not get out. He told police he lay there about three hours before help came.

City-County Planning Favored In Mill Valley

Mill Valley City Council last night endorsed a proposed $130,000 joint city-county study of a uniform zoning code, but added two conditions recommended by the city planning commission, over objections by a county planner that they would be rejected by other cities.

The council stipulated that the study include a zoning map and a comprehensive, county-wide general plan. To develop a zoning ordinance without both, Councilman Michael Wornum argued, "would be getting the cart before the horse. The prime need of the county is for a general plan, and we would be doing the county a disservice to delay the plan."

Werner Von Gundell, chief current planner for the county, said some cities would object to broadening the scope of the study, and revision would delay the county's application for federal funds to finance it.

Wornum, however, noting that San Rafael and San Anselmo already had voted against joining the study, said these two cities "would vote against any good planning." Cities interested in good planning, he insisted, will prefer inclusion in the study of a zoning map and general plan.

The council deleted a recommendation by the city planning commission that the study be written in newspaper English. "We have to assume it will be intelligible," Wornum said.

Vote for the study was 3-1, Vice Mayor George E. Wickham dissenting. Councilman Dean N. Meyer was absent.

Two-thirds of the cost would be paid by the federal government.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Approved Mayor Albert E. White's appointments of August Rath, architect, and Mrs. E Charles Bassett, community leader, to the architectural advisory committee to replace Naphtali H. Knox and Daniel Lieberman, who moved away from the city several months ago, and of Edward Farrell, architect, to the planning commission to replace Mrs. Alan F. Kappelman, who asked to be replaced. Commissioner Richard J. Hiatt was re-appointed to a second four-year term on the planning commission. Wickham abstained on the votes to approve the appointments.

2. Rezoned five of the 12 acres in the Cochran-Hernandez development on Edgewood Avenue from residential to open area, with the city granted an open area easement on the five acres.

3. Asked City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to estimate the cost of improving the Dipsea Trail.

4. Referred to City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer an estimate by Bala and Public Works Director Ross J. Benson that a five-foot temporary asphalt sidewalk on the west side of Camino Alto from East Blithedale Avenue to a drainage ditch 1,000 feet to the south would cost $2,850. Balmer was asked to try to find funds in the budget for the sidewalk.

5. Referred to Balmer a recommendation by Bala that $15,000 in drainage improvements be included in next year's budget to divert water draining from Elm Avenue down East Blithedale Avenue to Warner Creek.

6. Heard Wornum report that petitions to consolidate the $500,000 sewer bond election with the April school election are available at city hall and the chamber of commerce, 85 Throckmorton Avenue.

7. Deferred to Jan. 3 an ordinance creating a seven-man art commission.

8. Signed a five-year city-county urban thoroughfare agreement allocating county gasoline funds to improve Miller Avenue from the city limit to Camino Alto, Camino Alto to East Blithedale Avenue, and East Blithedale to Highway 101.

9. Received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. William P. Feeney, 401 Eldridge Avenue, thanking city officials for "making our city a better place to live." Feeney is known as the city's "sixth councilman" for his faithful attendance at many years of council meetings.

10. Continued to Jan. 16 a request from Mrs. Jeffory S. Morshead, chairman of the civic beautification committee, to delay removal of non-conforming rooftop signs until the spring paint-up, clean-up of commercial areas.

11. Continued to Feb. 6 deletion of a sidewalk from requirements for a minor subdivision for Mrs. Carol Fowler on Cornelia Avenue.

12. Abandoned a portion of Oadkale Avenue to the new Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, and accepted dedication to the city by the church of the new alignment of the street and a pedestrian lane.

13. Continued to Jan. 16 a proposal by Leonard Fleishman to subdivide 4.6 acres on the upper end of Camino Alto into seven lots.

Chairs Stolen

Mrs. Lucille Boole, 130 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, yesterday reported to Belvedere police the theft of four folding chairs from her carport.

Japanese Orbit Attempt Fails

UCHINOURA, Japan UPI—A second Japanese attempt to orbit the earth with a "bargain basement" instrument package failed yesterday.

Scientists of the Tokyo University Space and Aeronautics Institute launched the four-stage Lamda rocket successfully, but the fourth stage carrying the tiny satellite apparently failed to ignite.

The scientists launched a similar rocket Sept. 26. It also failed.

The University plans to try again next year with a bigger rocket.

The 50-foot Lamda rocket cost $277,000.

Mrs. Powell Misses Out On Congressional Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. failed to appear today at a congressional hearing to answer questions about her $20,500-a-year salary as his aide.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the House Administration subcommittee checking on Powell's travel and payroll expenses, said the U.S. marshal's office has been asked to find Mrs. Powell.

The New York Democrat's wife is one of 17 Powell staff aides subpoenaed to testify at a closed-door hearing. She could be held in contempt of Congress if she fails to appear.

Powell has declined to attend the hearing, which began yesterday and is due to end tomorrow. He has not been subpoenaed.

Mrs. Powell sent a telegram to Hays saying she would not testify in public. Hays said the telegram came from Puerto Rico, where she has lived since her marriage to Powell seven years ago. At the time of the marriage, the former Yvette Marjorie Flores was a $6,000-a-year clerk in his office.

A question Hays wants answered is whether Mrs. Powell is in violation of the law that requires congressional aides to work either in Washington or in the member's home district—in this case, Harlem.

Motorist Injured

Peter Jackson MacLaird, 22, of Sebastopol suffered minor injuries today at 12:25 a.m. when his southbound car fishtailed on Almonte Boulevard in unincorporated Mill Valley and then hit a small wood frame pump house next to the road, according to the California Highway Patrol. Mac Laird told the patrol he would see his own doctor.

CHRISTMAS MAY BE DARK, FOR SOMEONE

George P. Baxter had an unusual complaint yesterday for police, accustomed this time of year to receiving reports of thefts of Christmas tree lights and ornaments.

Baxter, of 105 Margarita Avenue, Mill Valley, told Corte Madera police someone put a sackful of lights and decorations into his car while he was shopping at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

He said he would leave them with Mill Valley police in case it was all a mistake and the owner would like to claim them.

Fireman Adds To Mystery Of Unidentified Woman

A new mystery today was added to the discovery of the decomposed body of a middle-aged woman Sunday below an embankment off Paradise Drive on the Tiburon Peninsula.

Tiburon Fireman Thomas W. Murphy told sheriff's officers a woman answering the decription and wearing a light trench coat inquired at the Trestle Glen fire station about three months ago about hotels.

He said she was walking, told him she had no money for a taxi, and asked if she might spend the night at the station. Refused, she asked to borrow his automobile.

Refused again, she walked off toward Tiburon Boulevard, he told deputies. Thomas notified sheriff's officers, but they found no trace of her.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said incomplete autopsy reports disclosed no broken bones, nor evidence of foul play.

Stinson said the possibility of homicide is not ruled out, however.

Toxicology tests should be completed within 12 days, he said, and may reveal cause of her death.

Efforts to establish identity have included sending of skin tissue and hair to the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory in Washington, D.C., and a state-wide bulletin for any missing person matching her description.

Stinson said the autopsy shows she was somewhere between 30 and 55 years old, about five feet one-inch tall, weighed about 95 pounds, and had reddish brown hair and a thin face.

She had full upper dentures, he said, and wore a light tan trench coat, a sleeveless red shift-type dress and white leather loafer shoes. The clothing is not labeled, and there is no sign of labels having been torn out, he said.

She wore an inexpensive wristwatch and had a package of cigarettes and a woman's scarf in her coat pocket. No purse was found.

The autopsy places her death about three months ago.

CHRISTMAS MAY BE DARK, FOR SOMEONE

George P. Baxter had an unusual complaint yesterday for police, accustomed this time of year to receiving reports of thefts of Christmas tree lights and ornaments.

Baxter, of 105 Margarita Avenue, Mill Valley, told Corte Madera police someone put a sackful of lights and decorations into his car while he was shopping at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

He said he would leave them with Mill Valley police in case it was all a mistake and the owner would like to claim them.

Fireman Adds To Mystery Of Unidentified Woman

A new mystery today was added to the discovery of the decomposed body of a middle-aged woman Sunday below an embankment off Paradise Drive on the Tiburon Peninsula.

Tiburon Fireman Thomas W. Murphy told sheriff's officers a woman answering the decription and wearing a light trench coat inquired at the Trestle Glen fire station about three months ago about hotels.

He said she was walking, told him she had no money for a taxi, and asked if she might spend the night at the station. Refused, she asked to borrow his automobile.

Refused again, she walked off toward Tiburon Boulevard, he told deputies. Thomas notified sheriff's officers, but they found no trace of her.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said incomplete autopsy reports disclosed no broken bones, nor evidence of foul play.

Stinson said the possibility of homicide is not ruled out, however.

Toxicology tests should be completed within 12 days, he said, and may reveal cause of her death.

Efforts to establish identity have included sending of skin tissue and hair to the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory in Washington, D.C., and a state-wide bulletin for any missing person matching her description.

Stinson said the autopsy shows she was somewhere between 30 and 55 years old, about five feet one-inch tall, weighed about 95 pounds, and had reddish brown hair and a thin face.

She had full upper dentures, he said, and wore a light tan trench coat, a sleeveless red shift-type dress and white leather loafer shoes. The clothing is not labeled, and there is no sign of labels having been torn out, he said.

She wore an inexpensive wristwatch and had a package of cigarettes and a woman's scarf in her coat pocket. No purse was found.

The autopsy places her death about three months ago.

Mother Now Wants Her Son Back

WATSONVILLE (AP) — Mrs. Raymond Aubin rang a doorbell and thrust her 2-year-old son into the arms of the woman who answered.

"I can't feed him," the mother said, and fled to Southern California.

That was six weeks ago. Now Mrs. Aubin, of Lynwood, wants her boy back.

But Mrs. Kenneth Miller, the grocer's wife who was left holding the youngster, has begun formal adoption proceedings.

"We have already wraiped Sam's Christmas presents," Mrs. Miller said yesterday, "but we will depend on the court to do what's right for the baby."

Santa Cruz authorities are trying to decide what to do.

Mrs. Aubin has told juvenile officers she abandoned her son, whose real name is Paul, on Nov. 2, shortly after leaving her husband and 5-year-old son in Hayward.

She picked out the home of the Millers, who have two young children, at random.

Mrs. Aubin's mother, Mrs. George Escofie of Lynwood, later managed to reunite her daughter's family. The two women then pleaded with Santa Cruz authorities for the return of the child.

"My daughter has recovered from her emotional upset," said Mrs. Escofie, "and we would like to see the whole family together for Christmas."

Mrs. Miller in turn told authorities, "All we want is what's best for the baby. Of course we would like to keep him. He's gained weight and he's not as shy and nervous as he was."

Judge Sends Referee Out Of Martial Game

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—As every good sports fan knows, on the field the ref's word is law. But when the referee goes home the situation isn't necessarily the same, as soccer referee found when he fought his wife in a divorce action.

Refusing his petition, the judge said: "The picture I formed (from testimony) was that the necessary domination which a referee must exercise on the field was being carried into the home. He was in charge of the game, and he thought he should be in charge of the family."

Army Loves The Way She Washes Dishes

ALDERSHOT, England (UPI) —The major general was there. So was the band, and so were the troops in full array. It was all for Mrs. Rosanna Bunker, head cleaning woman at the Aldershot Army Catering Corps center.

The ceremony marked the award to her of the British Empire Medal for her skill in training employees in the art of keeping the Corps' pots and pans sparkling clean.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Better The Business, More Likely An Unclean Kitchen

VAN DELLEN

Health officers who inspect kitchens of restaurants, clubs, and hotels find that when meals are first served the kitchens usually are immaculate. The personnel is relaxed, and the food is handled with care. But as business increases, tension mounts; at the end of an hour everyone is working at top speed and the kitchen, like any busy workshop, becomes more and more messy. Make reservations early and avoid the possible consequences of such an environment.

CLEANLINESS in kitchens and the safe handling of food are essential for protection against food poisoning. There are several infections of this type and various routes through which contaminationi s possible.

In some instances food itself has decomposed or has been adulterated. In others, the blame rests with food handlers who have a cold or an infection on hands or fingers. The equipment may be unclean, especially dishes, silverware, and mixing bowls.

Unless the dishwashing machine works properly the dishes are not safe to use.

A COMMON type of food poisoning is brought on by staphylococci. These organisms are as fond as we are of foods containing custard and cream fillings as well as dairy products, meat, and cured ham. When the invaders gain a foothold they not only multiply rapidly but give off a noxious substance that is toxic.

Numerous epidemics have been traced to foods that have been allowed to stand at room temperature for hours during which time the bacteria increased rapidly.

This type of food poisoning is common in the summer months because heat acts like an incubator so far as germs are concerned. They grow so quickly that within a few hours that delectable looking ham or egg salad becomes a poisonous dish.

WE MUST RELY upon the integrity of our health departments who inspect restaurant facilities regularly. In case of doubt, avoid foods known to become tainted quickly including those mentioned previously.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

GLAUCOMA

A reader writes: During the last week my husband developed pain in the left eye and the doctor made a diagnosis of glaucoma. He said this is a serious condition that may lead to blindness. Do you have any information that will help us to better understand this disease?

REPLY

Yes, but it is a long story. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on glaucoma.

OLD WIVES' TALES

Mrs. B. writes: My pregnant sister has been told that if she does not get enough exercise her baby will grow to her. Is this possible?

REPLY

What a whopper! This notion does not have a semblance of truth.

ERADICATING HEAD LICE

M. Q. writes: How can an adult get rid of nits in the scalp hair?

REPLY

We have a leaflet on head lice and nits, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

SIGHING AND THE HEART

M. M. writes: Will frequent sighing affect the heart?

REPLY

Only when it leads to hyperventilation, which in turn increases the rate. This is not harmful, however, for exercise, anxiety, and too much coffee do the same.

Broken Glass Ends Bank Robber's Career

MONTREAL (AP) — A series of events that started yesterday when a bank robber slipped on a broken piece of glass resulted in the death of the robber and his accomplice and the recovery of more than $10,000 they had stolen. In the aftermath, a constable shot himself in the leg.

When police arrived at the scene, Yvon Dubreuil, 23, and Richard Lortie, 24, lay dead in their getaway car.

The sequence at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch in the Place Versailles shopping center was reconstructed like this:

The two men smashed their way into the bank with a crowbar and scooped up the money, estimated by the bank manager, Jean-Louis Grimard, at between $10,000 and $12,000.

One of the men, carrying a sawed-off shotgun, slipped on a piece of glass as the two fled. The first robber reached the getaway car and it leaped forward. The second man fell again and slipped beneath the vehicle.

The driver jumped out and away, but screeched to a stop after going 500 feet.

The driver was found dead of a shotgun wound in the chest and the second man, shotgun still clutched in his hands, had died of the injuries he suffered when the car ran over him.

Police said they do not know whether the driver was shot deliberately or accidentally.

In the aftermath, Constable Jean Rivard accidentally shot himself in the leg during a scuffle at the scene involving a brother of one of the dead men.

Forefathers Ate Tough Wild Turkey

ELK RIVER, Minn. (AP) — When the Pilgrims trotted out the turkeys for that first festive Thanksgiving, they proved again that an iron will — and jawbone similarly endowed — could prevail in the face of adversity.

For, according to a poultry specialist, the Pilgrims land of plenty would be too much for modern man — if he had to sink his teeth into one of those wild birds.

"You would porbably have to roast a wild turkey 10 hours to eat it," said Dr. Norman Magruder of the Cargill-Nutrena animal research farm here. "The meat was stringy, tough and dry, and the skin leathery. They ate whole grains, and would be greasy from picking up a lot of resins and oils that domestic birds don't. Furthermore, that wild species probably weighed in at about 10 pounds on the hoof which didn't leave much for the table."

Genetics, breeding, disease control and scientifically formulated feeds have resulted in birds the Pilgrims would scarely recognize. Pampered with soybean meal, corn, fishmeal, animal and vegetable fats, antibiotics, minerals and generous offerings of protein fortification, a tom turkey can eat its way into the supermarket locker in 24 weeks by packing on 25 pounds.

Mother Now Wants Her Son Back

WATSONVILLE (AP) — Mrs. Raymond Aubin rang a doorbell and thrust her 2-year-old son into the arms of the woman who answered.

"I can't feed him," the mother said, and fled to Southern California.

That was six weeks ago. Now Mrs. Aubin, of Lynwood, wants her boy back.

But Mrs. Kenneth Miller, the grocer's wife who was left holding the youngster, has begun formal adoption proceedings.

"We have already wraiped Sam's Christmas presents," Mrs. Miller said yesterday, "but we will depend on the court to do what's right for the baby."

Santa Cruz authorities are trying to decide what to do.

Mrs. Aubin has told juvenile officers she abandoned her son, whose real name is Paul, on Nov. 2, shortly after leaving her husband and 5-year-old son in Hayward.

She picked out the home of the Millers, who have two young children, at random.

Mrs. Aubin's mother, Mrs. George Escofie of Lynwood, later managed to reunite her daughter's family. The two women then pleaded with Santa Cruz authorities for the return of the child.

"My daughter has recovered from her emotional upset," said Mrs. Escofie, "and we would like to see the whole family together for Christmas."

Mrs. Miller in turn told authorities, "All we want is what's best for the baby. Of course we would like to keep him. He's gained weight and he's not as shy and nervous as he was."

Judge Sends Referee Out Of Martial Game

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—As every good sports fan knows, on the field the ref's word is law. But when the referee goes home the situation isn't necessarily the same, as soccer referee found when he fought his wife in a divorce action.

Refusing his petition, the judge said: "The picture I formed (from testimony) was that the necessary domination which a referee must exercise on the field was being carried into the home. He was in charge of the game, and he thought he should be in charge of the family."

Army Loves The Way She Washes Dishes

ALDERSHOT, England (UPI) —The major general was there. So was the band, and so were the troops in full array. It was all for Mrs. Rosanna Bunker, head cleaning woman at the Aldershot Army Catering Corps center.

The ceremony marked the award to her of the British Empire Medal for her skill in training employees in the art of keeping the Corps' pots and pans sparkling clean.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Better The Business, More Likely An Unclean Kitchen

VAN DELLEN

Health officers who inspect kitchens of restaurants, clubs, and hotels find that when meals are first served the kitchens usually are immaculate. The personnel is relaxed, and the food is handled with care. But as business increases, tension mounts; at the end of an hour everyone is working at top speed and the kitchen, like any busy workshop, becomes more and more messy. Make reservations early and avoid the possible consequences of such an environment.

CLEANLINESS in kitchens and the safe handling of food are essential for protection against food poisoning. There are several infections of this type and various routes through which contaminationi s possible.

In some instances food itself has decomposed or has been adulterated. In others, the blame rests with food handlers who have a cold or an infection on hands or fingers. The equipment may be unclean, especially dishes, silverware, and mixing bowls.

Unless the dishwashing machine works properly the dishes are not safe to use.

A COMMON type of food poisoning is brought on by staphylococci. These organisms are as fond as we are of foods containing custard and cream fillings as well as dairy products, meat, and cured ham. When the invaders gain a foothold they not only multiply rapidly but give off a noxious substance that is toxic.

Numerous epidemics have been traced to foods that have been allowed to stand at room temperature for hours during which time the bacteria increased rapidly.

This type of food poisoning is common in the summer months because heat acts like an incubator so far as germs are concerned. They grow so quickly that within a few hours that delectable looking ham or egg salad becomes a poisonous dish.

WE MUST RELY upon the integrity of our health departments who inspect restaurant facilities regularly. In case of doubt, avoid foods known to become tainted quickly including those mentioned previously.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

GLAUCOMA

A reader writes: During the last week my husband developed pain in the left eye and the doctor made a diagnosis of glaucoma. He said this is a serious condition that may lead to blindness. Do you have any information that will help us to better understand this disease?

REPLY

Yes, but it is a long story. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on glaucoma.

OLD WIVES' TALES

Mrs. B. writes: My pregnant sister has been told that if she does not get enough exercise her baby will grow to her. Is this possible?

REPLY

What a whopper! This notion does not have a semblance of truth.

ERADICATING HEAD LICE

M. Q. writes: How can an adult get rid of nits in the scalp hair?

REPLY

We have a leaflet on head lice and nits, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

SIGHING AND THE HEART

M. M. writes: Will frequent sighing affect the heart?

REPLY

Only when it leads to hyperventilation, which in turn increases the rate. This is not harmful, however, for exercise, anxiety, and too much coffee do the same.

Broken Glass Ends Bank Robber's Career

MONTREAL (AP) — A series of events that started yesterday when a bank robber slipped on a broken piece of glass resulted in the death of the robber and his accomplice and the recovery of more than $10,000 they had stolen. In the aftermath, a constable shot himself in the leg.

When police arrived at the scene, Yvon Dubreuil, 23, and Richard Lortie, 24, lay dead in their getaway car.

The sequence at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch in the Place Versailles shopping center was reconstructed like this:

The two men smashed their way into the bank with a crowbar and scooped up the money, estimated by the bank manager, Jean-Louis Grimard, at between $10,000 and $12,000.

One of the men, carrying a sawed-off shotgun, slipped on a piece of glass as the two fled. The first robber reached the getaway car and it leaped forward. The second man fell again and slipped beneath the vehicle.

The driver jumped out and away, but screeched to a stop after going 500 feet.

The driver was found dead of a shotgun wound in the chest and the second man, shotgun still clutched in his hands, had died of the injuries he suffered when the car ran over him.

Police said they do not know whether the driver was shot deliberately or accidentally.

In the aftermath, Constable Jean Rivard accidentally shot himself in the leg during a scuffle at the scene involving a brother of one of the dead men.

Forefathers Ate Tough Wild Turkey

ELK RIVER, Minn. (AP) — When the Pilgrims trotted out the turkeys for that first festive Thanksgiving, they proved again that an iron will — and jawbone similarly endowed — could prevail in the face of adversity.

For, according to a poultry specialist, the Pilgrims land of plenty would be too much for modern man — if he had to sink his teeth into one of those wild birds.

"You would porbably have to roast a wild turkey 10 hours to eat it," said Dr. Norman Magruder of the Cargill-Nutrena animal research farm here. "The meat was stringy, tough and dry, and the skin leathery. They ate whole grains, and would be greasy from picking up a lot of resins and oils that domestic birds don't. Furthermore, that wild species probably weighed in at about 10 pounds on the hoof which didn't leave much for the table."

Genetics, breeding, disease control and scientifically formulated feeds have resulted in birds the Pilgrims would scarely recognize. Pampered with soybean meal, corn, fishmeal, animal and vegetable fats, antibiotics, minerals and generous offerings of protein fortification, a tom turkey can eat its way into the supermarket locker in 24 weeks by packing on 25 pounds.

TELEVISION REVIEW

CBS Strikes Gold With A Musical

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV struck gold last night in the search for adaptations of children's stories, with an original tongue-in-cheek musical version of "Jack and the Beanstalk" by the Prince Street Players of New York.

This repertory company, which will be displayed on CBS-TV again Feb. 13 in "Pinocchio," represents without question an opportunity for the network to fortify its supply of childrn's tales in a bountiful and tasteful way.

HIGH RATING

For as CBS-TV notes, the Prince Street troupe has a repertoire of 10 children's stories "in new musical dress" and has "gained recognition for its presentations of beloved fairy stories in suburban theaters in New York, Milwaukee and Massachusetts."

"Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Pinocchio" were broadcast last season on the CBS-TV station in New York City. And, says the network, "the decision to present them to a nationwide audience...was prompted by the high critical and viewer acclaim...."

It was good judgment all around. For although last night's hour got off to a bit of a slow start in the manipulations that prompted Jack up the beanstalk, it soon took off as a fast and delightfully cuckoo show when he encountered the whimsical, zany giant who was as perfect a villain as any children's — or adult's — tale could have.

A GOOD GIANT

The giant was played by a gentleman named Will B. Able, and he really was wonderful, in song, dance and fast-fast vaudeville-style delivery of a line, and in his good nature overall. His tango number, "Take A Giant Step," with his tiny, deadpan housekeeper (Dorothy Greener) was charming. And a razzmatazz music hall number, "Oh, Them Golden Eggs," by the giant's golden goose (Marcie Stringer) was a wildly appropriate showstopper. The show was conceived and written by a gentleman named Jim Eiler. Merry Christmas, Mr. Eiler.

SCROOGE'S EYE VIEW

On the other hand, bah humbug to ABC-TV for its new, running beauty pageant, "Dream Girl of '67," which began on a daily basis yesterday afternoon. Each day celebrity judges interview four girls who later model some clothes, and a daily winner is chosen, and a weekly one too, and finally there's a yearly champ. Predictably, the debut was embarrassing, and there's no chance things will change.

A tenth of the earth's land surface still lies hidden beneath ice.

Film Studio Sued By Hell's Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The "Hell's Angels" motorcycle club has filed a $4 million suit in Superior Court against a motion picture studio, charging the firm with invasion of privacy.

Motion picture producer Roger Corman and American International Pictures were accused in the suit, filed yesterday, of producing a motion picture which allegedly portrays the "Hell's Angels" as being "vicious, degenerate, lawless and thoroughly depraved."

American International Pictures produced "The Wild Angels," a film about motorcyclists.

The suit contends that the movie has made it unsafe for members of "Hell's Angels" to be in public places without protection.

Toys Sought

"Toys for tots," a Marine Corps program to repair used toys for distribution to needy children, will collect toys this week from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. at Sausalito Rexall Pharmacy, 701 Bridgeway. Marines will pick up the toys Friday evening.

Appreciation Is Just Too Binding

SEDONA, Ariz. (AP) — The tie that binds Spec. 4 Michael Hawley in brotherhood with some Montagnard tribesmen is a little tight.

So his parents in Sedona, Ariz., are shipping surgical instruments to their soldier son in Vietnam for Christmas.

A tribal chief pounded a brass bracelet on Hawley's wrist in gratitude for the return of a village lad Hawley and some 1st Cavalry buddies had rescued from the Viet Cong.

"It made me feel good to have him do it," Hawley wrote home, but he added the bracelet was very tight and he couldn't get it off.

The instruments are to remedy that dilemma.

TV Show Blamed For Bomb Hoaxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency is blaming a television show about an airplane bomb for causing a sharp increase in hoax telephone calls warning about such devices.

The FAA said eight hoax calls have been placed in the last seven days — the same number received for all of November.

The first call in the series came while the National Broadcasting Co. television network was still airing "The Doomsday Flight," a drama Tuesday about a bomb planted in a pilot's briefcase.

The calls involved planes at Detroit, Washington, New York, Los Angeles, Waco, Tex., and Chicago.

Ernie Kovacs Estate Said Only $16,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The estate of the late comedian Ernie Kovacs, once estimated at $2 million, is worth only $16,184, says his widow, actress Edie Adams.

Miss Adams testified in Superior Court yesterday that debts and taxes reduced the estate's value. She said many of her late husband's holdings were mortgaged and about $300,000 in unpaid taxes were due when the comedian was killed in an auto accident nearly five years ago.

TELEVISION REVIEW

CBS Strikes Gold With A Musical

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV struck gold last night in the search for adaptations of children's stories, with an original tongue-in-cheek musical version of "Jack and the Beanstalk" by the Prince Street Players of New York.

This repertory company, which will be displayed on CBS-TV again Feb. 13 in "Pinocchio," represents without question an opportunity for the network to fortify its supply of childrn's tales in a bountiful and tasteful way.

HIGH RATING

For as CBS-TV notes, the Prince Street troupe has a repertoire of 10 children's stories "in new musical dress" and has "gained recognition for its presentations of beloved fairy stories in suburban theaters in New York, Milwaukee and Massachusetts."

"Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Pinocchio" were broadcast last season on the CBS-TV station in New York City. And, says the network, "the decision to present them to a nationwide audience...was prompted by the high critical and viewer acclaim...."

It was good judgment all around. For although last night's hour got off to a bit of a slow start in the manipulations that prompted Jack up the beanstalk, it soon took off as a fast and delightfully cuckoo show when he encountered the whimsical, zany giant who was as perfect a villain as any children's — or adult's — tale could have.

A GOOD GIANT

The giant was played by a gentleman named Will B. Able, and he really was wonderful, in song, dance and fast-fast vaudeville-style delivery of a line, and in his good nature overall. His tango number, "Take A Giant Step," with his tiny, deadpan housekeeper (Dorothy Greener) was charming. And a razzmatazz music hall number, "Oh, Them Golden Eggs," by the giant's golden goose (Marcie Stringer) was a wildly appropriate showstopper. The show was conceived and written by a gentleman named Jim Eiler. Merry Christmas, Mr. Eiler.

SCROOGE'S EYE VIEW

On the other hand, bah humbug to ABC-TV for its new, running beauty pageant, "Dream Girl of '67," which began on a daily basis yesterday afternoon. Each day celebrity judges interview four girls who later model some clothes, and a daily winner is chosen, and a weekly one too, and finally there's a yearly champ. Predictably, the debut was embarrassing, and there's no chance things will change.

A tenth of the earth's land surface still lies hidden beneath ice.

Film Studio Sued By Hell's Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The "Hell's Angels" motorcycle club has filed a $4 million suit in Superior Court against a motion picture studio, charging the firm with invasion of privacy.

Motion picture producer Roger Corman and American International Pictures were accused in the suit, filed yesterday, of producing a motion picture which allegedly portrays the "Hell's Angels" as being "vicious, degenerate, lawless and thoroughly depraved."

American International Pictures produced "The Wild Angels," a film about motorcyclists.

The suit contends that the movie has made it unsafe for members of "Hell's Angels" to be in public places without protection.

Toys Sought

"Toys for tots," a Marine Corps program to repair used toys for distribution to needy children, will collect toys this week from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. at Sausalito Rexall Pharmacy, 701 Bridgeway. Marines will pick up the toys Friday evening.

Appreciation Is Just Too Binding

SEDONA, Ariz. (AP) — The tie that binds Spec. 4 Michael Hawley in brotherhood with some Montagnard tribesmen is a little tight.

So his parents in Sedona, Ariz., are shipping surgical instruments to their soldier son in Vietnam for Christmas.

A tribal chief pounded a brass bracelet on Hawley's wrist in gratitude for the return of a village lad Hawley and some 1st Cavalry buddies had rescued from the Viet Cong.

"It made me feel good to have him do it," Hawley wrote home, but he added the bracelet was very tight and he couldn't get it off.

The instruments are to remedy that dilemma.

TV Show Blamed For Bomb Hoaxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency is blaming a television show about an airplane bomb for causing a sharp increase in hoax telephone calls warning about such devices.

The FAA said eight hoax calls have been placed in the last seven days — the same number received for all of November.

The first call in the series came while the National Broadcasting Co. television network was still airing "The Doomsday Flight," a drama Tuesday about a bomb planted in a pilot's briefcase.

The calls involved planes at Detroit, Washington, New York, Los Angeles, Waco, Tex., and Chicago.

Ernie Kovacs Estate Said Only $16,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The estate of the late comedian Ernie Kovacs, once estimated at $2 million, is worth only $16,184, says his widow, actress Edie Adams.

Miss Adams testified in Superior Court yesterday that debts and taxes reduced the estate's value. She said many of her late husband's holdings were mortgaged and about $300,000 in unpaid taxes were due when the comedian was killed in an auto accident nearly five years ago.

Novato Readers Test Above State Average

Although Novato first and second graders fell below national norms in reading tests last May, they did better than the state average, the Novato Unified School District Board was told last night.

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, reported Novato first graders tested a half-point above the state average, and second graders were seven and one-half points above the state average. The first graders were 16 and one-half points below the national norm; second graders, five points below.

The board voted $2,500 to purchase additional tape recorders and listening posts for elementary schools.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

1. Approved use of redwood plywood for the exterior of the Wilson Avenue Junior High School, and gave verbal approval for the preliminary plans for the library and gymnasium at San Marin High School.

2. Denied a claim of Donald Gauthier for $1,500 medical and $100,000 general damages for his son, Jon Eric Gauthier, injured playing football at Terra Linda and Novato high schools on Oct. 3 and 10.

3. Delayed action on awarding contracts for typewriters pending further study.

4. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Janet McCamish, third grade teacher at Rancho School.

No Protests Made On Dredging Plans

Two applications for commercial dredging north of Angel Island and in San Pablo Bay southwest of Mare Island have drawn no protests, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reported today.

The applications by the State Land Division were for extension of existing permits under United Sand and Gravel Division of A. G. Schoonmaker Co. of Sausalito for operations off Angel Island and a Watsonville firm for work in San Pablo Bay.

Library Plan Approval Asked

Sausalito Library Board last night unanimously recommended the city council approve preliminary plans for the new library presented by architect Aaron Green. The council will review the plan today at 8 p. m. in city hall.

The triangular library would provide 10,500 square feet of useable space and features large windows opening onto a bayside deck. A $250,000 bond election will be held March 7, to build the library on a city-owned site northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

Total cost of the library, with state and federal grants to pay one-third, is estimated at $424,732.

Coal is now used primarily to produce electricity.

Novato Readers Test Above State Average

Although Novato first and second graders fell below national norms in reading tests last May, they did better than the state average, the Novato Unified School District Board was told last night.

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, reported Novato first graders tested a half-point above the state average, and second graders were seven and one-half points above the state average. The first graders were 16 and one-half points below the national norm; second graders, five points below.

The board voted $2,500 to purchase additional tape recorders and listening posts for elementary schools.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

1. Approved use of redwood plywood for the exterior of the Wilson Avenue Junior High School, and gave verbal approval for the preliminary plans for the library and gymnasium at San Marin High School.

2. Denied a claim of Donald Gauthier for $1,500 medical and $100,000 general damages for his son, Jon Eric Gauthier, injured playing football at Terra Linda and Novato high schools on Oct. 3 and 10.

3. Delayed action on awarding contracts for typewriters pending further study.

4. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Janet McCamish, third grade teacher at Rancho School.

No Protests Made On Dredging Plans

Two applications for commercial dredging north of Angel Island and in San Pablo Bay southwest of Mare Island have drawn no protests, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reported today.

The applications by the State Land Division were for extension of existing permits under United Sand and Gravel Division of A. G. Schoonmaker Co. of Sausalito for operations off Angel Island and a Watsonville firm for work in San Pablo Bay.

Rick Barry May Be Lost Indefinitely

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rick Barry, the leading scorer in the National Basketball Assn., strained ligaments in his right ankle while practicing yesterday with the San Francisci Warriors and may be out of the lineup indefinitely.

Barry was listed as doubtful for tonight's game against the Los Angeles Lakers. He has started every game for the Warriors since breaking in with them last season as a rookie from Miami.

After taking a bad spill in the practice session, Barry was taken to a hospital for x-rays. They showed no break and the injury was not believed serious at first.

The Warriors, 20-11 for the season, had won 11 straight home games before Cincinnati and Boston dumped them. San Francisco has taken three easy wins from Los Angeles but Los Angeles Sunday night trimmed Boston about 24 hours after the Celts took the Warriors.

On Thursday, the Warriors face tough Philadelphia, which is riding an amazing 29-3 mark.

Warrior coach Bill Sharman pointed out that the Warriors hit but 36 per cent against Boston. He admitted the Celt defense helped keep San Francisco from shooting its best, but added "we have to shoot better than 36, that's for certain."

The Warriors may be in for a surprise from the Lakers, who almost blew the Celtics out of the sports arena in Sunday night's first half.

Behind the old pros, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, Los Angeles moved out to a 76-53 halftime lead.

The World Champion Celtics come back in the second half, however, and tied it up, 125-125, with 12 seconds to go on Sam Jones' 12-footer.

Former UCLA star Gail Goodrich then was fouled by John Havlicek and sank two game-winning free throws with three seconds left.

WESTERN QUINTETS TO TEST NEW FOUL RULES

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Western Athletic Conference basketball teams will play an experimental rule in conference games this season designed to lower scores and make games more interesting.

There will be no free throw awarded for the first five fouls except when a player is fouled in the act of shooting. With the sixth foul, the shot is taken.

Veteran Utah Coach Jack Gardner yesterday told the Northern California cage writers that the rule "is designed to keep the scores lower and stop the parade to the foul line. I think it's a good rule and will eventually be adopted nationally."

But he added that he believed "it may make the game too short, and I'd be in favor of lengthening it to 48 minutes instead of 40."

Improving Tars Go To Vallejo Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team, bolstered by a strong, stubborn showing against highly-touted and rated Contra Costa last Saturday, heads into another week of preparing for Golden Valley conference play.

The Tars, their lineup complete, more or less, trek to Vallejo to battle Solano College at 8 o'clock tonight.

Solano, on view in Marin during the College of Marin Tournament, is quite familiary in the losing feeling. It felt the touch twice during the tournament and has been beaten decisively by Diablo Valley and San Francisco City College, among others.

"They have a pretty good center," Tar coach, Cal Riemcke said. "But they seem to appear weak at the guard spots, something I think we'll be able to take advantage of."

The Tars, minus two regulars, still have Contra Costa, which had expected something of a runaway, a stiff, huff-and-puff battle, as they trailed by seven at the half, got to within four points in the second half before finally bowing, 57-70.

Riemcke will once again have the services of 6-9 Brad Luz and 6-5 Craig Kilby and they'll be a big help on the boards. They missed the Tars' last two games. Their absence may have been something of a blessing as Riemcke uncovered a surprising talent in Ron Blasingame, the game but inexperienced Tam grad who came through in the clutch with 11 and 9-point performances.

"He did an excellent job," Riemcke said. "Considering that he reported late because of football and that he did not play high school ball in his senior year, he did extremely well. He'll be playing a lot."

Riemcke will probably go with Bill Pandiani and Russ Smith, the Tars' one-two scorers at guard, and Terry Overlid, the No. 3 scorer at one forward, flanked by Blasingame. Luz will probably start at center to be spelled by Kilby.

The Tars will host Reedley College Friday at 8 p.m., then go to the three-day, tough Santa Montica Tournament Dec. 28-30.

Marin Cage Teams On Skids With 22-28 Mark

49ers To Candlestick In 1968; Voice Is Also Quite A Prophet

FLASH — The San Francisco 49ers will move from Kezar to Candlestick Park in 1968. The deal is signed, sealed and delivered and will be announced any day now.

SCOOP-BEE-DO-BEE-DO—"I look for Green Bay to breeze to the title, followed by Baltimore and the Rams. After that it should be a scramble between the 49ers, Bears, Lions and Vikings."

That statement by David Eric Scofield of Larkspur was printed in this space on Sept. 24.

JIM RAY HART

I hope you noticed the final NFL Western Division standings yesterday, to-wit: (1) Green Bay, (2) Baltimore, (3) Los Angeles, (4) San Francisco, (5) Chicago and Minnesota and Detroit tied for last.

You didn't know this was a prophetable column, did you? Scofield, a salesman for Timmer Realty of San Rafael, also happens to be the public address announcer at Kezar Stadium.

I'm going to ask him to go to the races with me next week.

SWAP SHOP—Would you believe that Charles Feeney, vice-president of the San Francisco Giants, recently tried to trade Jim Ray Hart and Jesus Alou to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder Billy Williams and minor league Bill Popovich?

That's what my baseball agent tells me, adding that the Cubbies turned it down faster than you can sing "Alou Young Glovers" and "I Left My Jim Ray in San Francisco."

SUPER MART—Want another trade tid-bit today? How about the 49ers swapping John "The Millionaire" Brodie to Fort Knox for some bullion cubes? There were a number of fans at Kezar Sunday who thought John-John was goldbricking it.

TENNIS, ANYONE—Local tennis pro Paul Wilkins was bursting with pride last week when the Northern California Junior Ratings were announced. Eleven of the 15 ranked Marinites were Wilkins-coached.

CAGE RATINGS — College of Marin's basketball team was listed 14th in pre-season California junior college basketball rankings but should slip down the ladder off its early 3-6 won-lost record.

Strange Season For Preps

Sadder but wiser, Marin County Athletic League cage teams head into what could be another gruelling slate of practice games.

The season that started out as showing Marin teams well ahead of non-conference opposition now has them behind, with a 22-28 won-lost record against outside competition.

It has been a strange season for MCAL teams.

Tamalpais, everyone's pick for the league title, is acting like a strong contender for the lower depths. The Indians, after winning their opener, have reeled off five straight setbacks, through no fault of guard Steve Woodward, who is third in league scoring with a 15.6 average.

Last week's action was a first for two teams, as previously hapless Novato became punch happy and recorded its first win of the season and followed it with another victory in the consolation rounds of the Chico Tournament.

Marin Catholic, which got off to a quick start by winning its first four, lost its first and then its second game last week as its usually strong offense fizzled.

San Rafael, another surprise team, had its five-game win streak abruptly snapped at the hands of Vallejo.

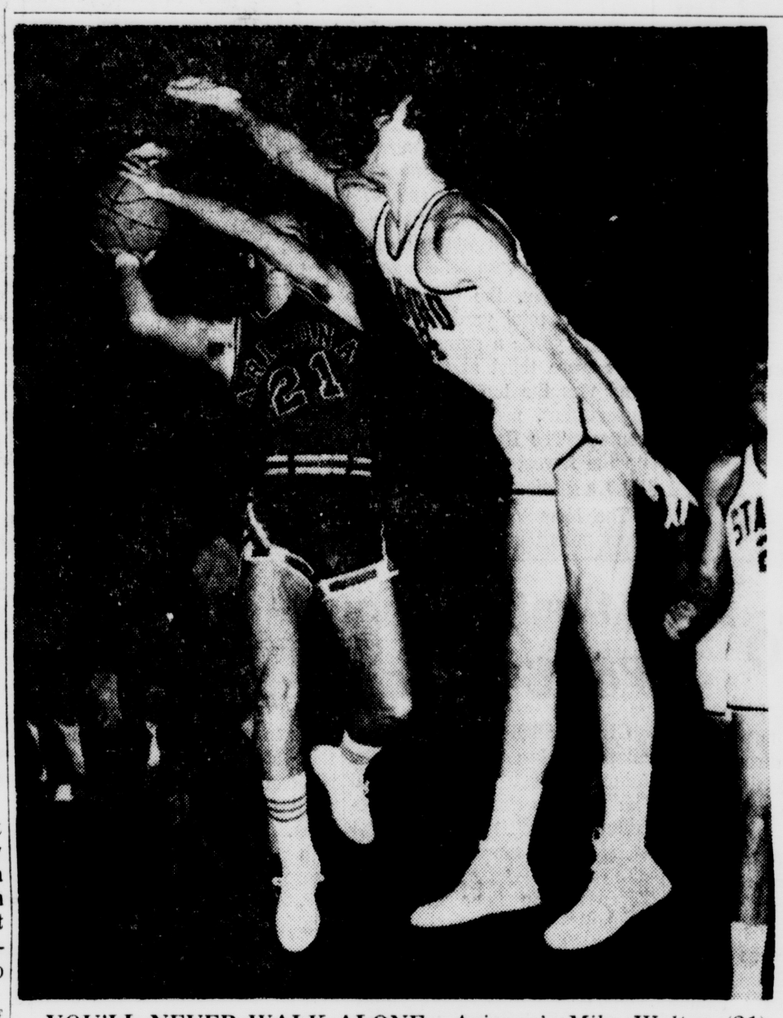
Redwood, which has been getting the heaviest workout in the MCAL, has come up with a more than respectable 6-4 record behind the one-two scoring punch of Andre Horn and Jack Fitzhenry, who are also one-two in MCAL scoring.

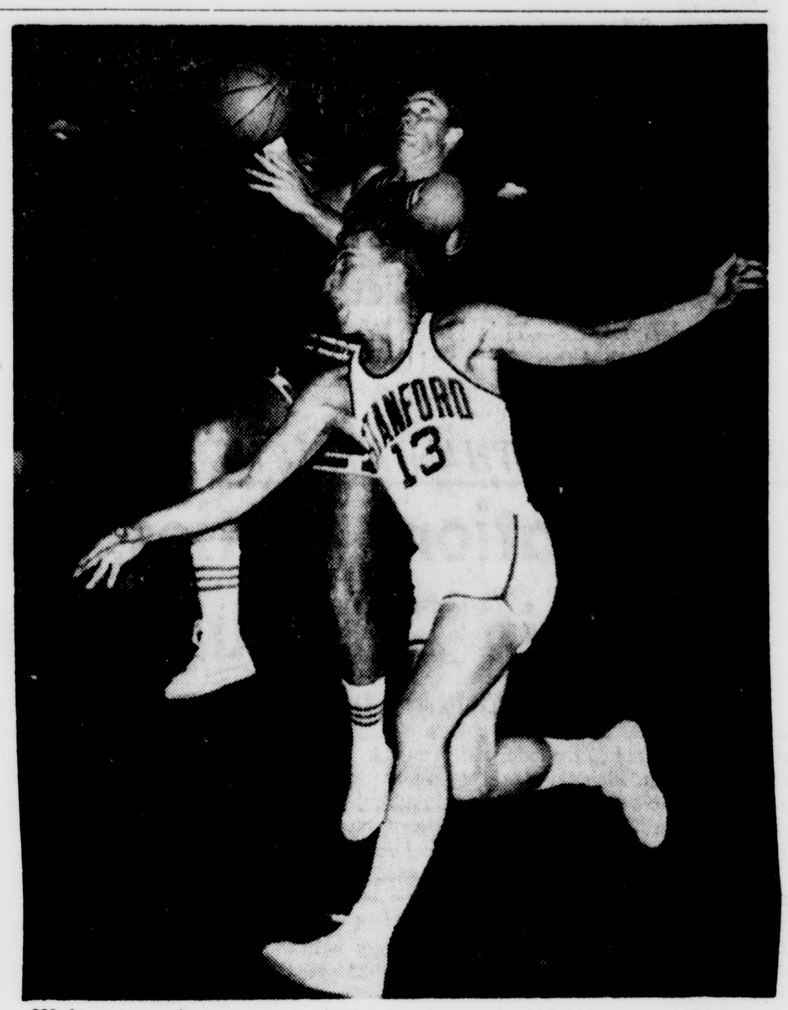
The Giants take a well-deserved rest this week as does Drake, which has posted a 4-3 mark so far.

With high school out on vacation, there are a few afternoon games on tap.

Marin Catholic will play powerful Poly of San Francisco tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Kentfield.

In other games this week, Marin Catholic tests Galileo in Kentfield at 1 p.m. Friday; Montgomery of Santa Rosa visits San Rafael tomorrow at 1 p.m.; Terra Linda battles its alumni at 8:15 p.m. Thursday; Tam meets St. Mary's of San Francisco Thursday afternoon at 1:30 and Novato takes on its alumni at 8:15 Friday.





YOU'LL NEVER WALK ALONE—Arizona's Mike Welton (21) never had to worry about being lonely on the basketball court last night as he drew the loving attention of Stanford defenders. Welton wasn't too appreciative as he scores despite the efforts of Stanford's Howard Hassen (34), left, and again, against the Indians' Gary Petersmeyer (13), right. The Indians' stick-to-itness got them an 82-67 victory. (AP Wirephotos)

Strike Threat For Bay Meadows, Anita

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Santa Anita and Bay Meadows racetracks today were confronted with a strike threat from the AFL-CIO Building Service Union unless an agreement was reached on a new contract by 12:01 a.m. Dec. 25.

The union, which represents a majority of racetrack employes including parimutuel clerks, served official notice of cancellation of its present contract. The current agreement expired in August but continued in effect pending negotiations on a new contract.

Attorney Leo Geffner, representing four union locals involved in the negotiations, said the cancellation notice of five days was required under the old agreement and was sent to the two tracks yesterday. Santa Anita is scheduled to open its rich winter meeting Dec. 26 while Bay Meadows starts a combination meeting.

The tracks, represented by the Federation of California Race Tracks, are scheduled to meet again with union representatives tomorrow. A meeting last week resulted in agreement only on minor points not involving wages.

The racing federation offered a wage increase of $1 a day for the first two years of a proposed five-year contract, with three additional increases of 75 cents a day for the remaining three years.

The union sought an increase of 7.5 per cent yearly and claimed the track offer amounted to less than the 2.5 per cent recommended for wage increases in guidelines laid down by the government.

If a strike materializes it will be second in three years against Santa Anita which was closed down for five days in 1964 by a Building Service Union walkout.

Bulldogs Bow To South S.F.

San Rafael's basketball team got hit hard early and wound up with its second straight loss in a practice game tilt yesterday at South San Francisco, 68-76.

Mike Donahoo dropped in 20 points for the Bulldogs who got added double figure performances from Chip Tyson and Rich Schau with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

The loss left San Rafael with a 5-3 record.

The San Rafael B team stormed from a 19-40 half-time deficit to take a courageous 66-65 victory as Phil Martino scored 24 points and Bruce Nave added 18.

San Rafael	11	17	16	24—68
South S.F.	14	22	24	16—76

San Rafael scoring — Roger Widmer, 2-2-6; Sam Crowell, 2-0-4; Rich Schau, 4-5-13; Dave Smith, 1-0-2; Chip Tyson, 4-7-1; Bob Hewitt, 3-0-6; John Farrar, 1-0-2; Mike Donahoo, 9-2-20. Totals: 26-16-68.

COAST CAGE ROUNDUP

Bears Win Again

It was a big night for unbeaten Seattle, California and Jimmy Walker last night in athrilling grab-bag of intersectional cage action.

Seattle made it six for six with an 84-66 win over Missouri. The Chiefs were down by three points at halftime, but rode to victory on the shooting of stron boys Tom Workman and Malkin Strong, a muscular pair of pro prospects. They scored 27 and 21 respectively.

California is a team everybody agreed would go nowhere, but now has won four in as many tries. The Bears hosted rugged Utah and squeaked out a 75-73 win as Charlie Perkins popped 25 points. California nursed a lead of from one to four points through the last five minutes of play.

Jimmy Walker of Providence is unbeaten when it comes to comparing him with any other college player in the East this year. He hooped 43 to lead the Friars to an 84-82 heartstopper at Santa Clara. The Friars hit 51 per cent of their shots and the Broncs 58 per cent with Walker and Santa Clara's Mike Gervasoni, who had 21, matching buckets down the stretch.

Stanford reserve Ed Martin came in with the score tied 57-all against Arizona and hooped three consecutive shots to push the Indians out in front go stay. The Indians won 82-67 and Martin hit 16. Arizona's Bill Davis had 21 during a fiery night that saw him draw two technicals and then get tossed out for fighting. Stanford is now 3-1 for the campaign.

Other action last night found Claremont hitting nine baskets in a row during the first two minutes and coasting to a 99-62 romp over Sonoma State. Dick Barton had 25 for the winners, now 7-4. Cal Aggies, with a real Far Western Conference contender, disposed of Southern California College, 90-67. Paul Crissman meshed 38 for the losers while John Frost and Alan Budde had 17 each for the winners, now 4-1. Montana took Seattle Pacific, 84-75, behind Dennis Biletnikoff's 27 points.

San Francisco State annually tours the nation in December and takes on some of the nation's best. While it has won one of the last 30 on these rugged tours, it at least is losing by smaller margins. Duquesne took the Gators 79-72. The tour annually produces its desired effect since the Gators always do better in the Far Western Conference than expected—undoubtedly because it already has been tested by the best.

Rick Barry May Be Lost Indefinitely

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rick Barry, the leading scorer in the National Basketball Assn., strained ligaments in his right ankle while practicing yesterday with the San Francisci Warriors and may be out of the lineup indefinitely.

Barry was listed as doubtful for tonight's game against the Los Angeles Lakers. He has started every game for the Warriors since breaking in with them last season as a rookie from Miami.

After taking a bad spill in the practice session, Barry was taken to a hospital for x-rays. They showed no break and the injury was not believed serious at first.

The Warriors, 20-11 for the season, had won 11 straight home games before Cincinnati and Boston dumped them. San Francisco has taken three easy wins from Los Angeles but Los Angeles Sunday night trimmed Boston about 24 hours after the Celts took the Warriors.

On Thursday, the Warriors face tough Philadelphia, which is riding an amazing 29-3 mark.

Warrior coach Bill Sharman pointed out that the Warriors hit but 36 per cent against Boston. He admitted the Celt defense helped keep San Francisco from shooting its best, but added "we have to shoot better than 36, that's for certain."

The Warriors may be in for a surprise from the Lakers, who almost blew the Celtics out of the sports arena in Sunday night's first half.

Behind the old pros, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, Los Angeles moved out to a 76-53 halftime lead.

The World Champion Celtics come back in the second half, however, and tied it up, 125-125, with 12 seconds to go on Sam Jones' 12-footer.

Former UCLA star Gail Goodrich then was fouled by John Havlicek and sank two game-winning free throws with three seconds left.

WESTERN QUINTETS TO TEST NEW FOUL RULES

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Western Athletic Conference basketball teams will play an experimental rule in conference games this season designed to lower scores and make games more interesting.

There will be no free throw awarded for the first five fouls except when a player is fouled in the act of shooting. With the sixth foul, the shot is taken.

Veteran Utah Coach Jack Gardner yesterday told the Northern California cage writers that the rule "is designed to keep the scores lower and stop the parade to the foul line. I think it's a good rule and will eventually be adopted nationally."

But he added that he believed "it may make the game too short, and I'd be in favor of lengthening it to 48 minutes instead of 40."

Improving Tars Go To Vallejo Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team, bolstered by a strong, stubborn showing against highly-touted and rated Contra Costa last Saturday, heads into another week of preparing for Golden Valley conference play.

The Tars, their lineup complete, more or less, trek to Vallejo to battle Solano College at 8 o'clock tonight.

Solano, on view in Marin during the College of Marin Tournament, is quite familiary in the losing feeling. It felt the touch twice during the tournament and has been beaten decisively by Diablo Valley and San Francisco City College, among others.

"They have a pretty good center," Tar coach, Cal Riemcke said. "But they seem to appear weak at the guard spots, something I think we'll be able to take advantage of."

The Tars, minus two regulars, still have Contra Costa, which had expected something of a runaway, a stiff, huff-and-puff battle, as they trailed by seven at the half, got to within four points in the second half before finally bowing, 57-70.

Riemcke will once again have the services of 6-9 Brad Luz and 6-5 Craig Kilby and they'll be a big help on the boards. They missed the Tars' last two games. Their absence may have been something of a blessing as Riemcke uncovered a surprising talent in Ron Blasingame, the game but inexperienced Tam grad who came through in the clutch with 11 and 9-point performances.

"He did an excellent job," Riemcke said. "Considering that he reported late because of football and that he did not play high school ball in his senior year, he did extremely well. He'll be playing a lot."

Riemcke will probably go with Bill Pandiani and Russ Smith, the Tars' one-two scorers at guard, and Terry Overlid, the No. 3 scorer at one forward, flanked by Blasingame. Luz will probably start at center to be spelled by Kilby.

The Tars will host Reedley College Friday at 8 p.m., then go to the three-day, tough Santa Montica Tournament Dec. 28-30.

49ers To Candlestick In 1968; Voice Is Also Quite A Prophet

FLASH — The San Francisco 49ers will move from Kezar to Candlestick Park in 1968. The deal is signed, sealed and delivered and will be announced any day now.

SCOOP-BEE-DO-BEE-DO—"I look for Green Bay to breeze to the title, followed by Baltimore and the Rams. After that it should be a scramble between the 49ers, Bears, Lions and Vikings."

That statement by David Eric Scofield of Larkspur was printed in this space on Sept. 24.

JIM RAY HART

I hope you noticed the final NFL Western Division standings yesterday, to-wit: (1) Green Bay, (2) Baltimore, (3) Los Angeles, (4) San Francisco, (5) Chicago and Minnesota and Detroit tied for last.

You didn't know this was a prophetable column, did you? Scofield, a salesman for Timmer Realty of San Rafael, also happens to be the public address announcer at Kezar Stadium.

I'm going to ask him to go to the races with me next week.

SWAP SHOP—Would you believe that Charles Feeney, vice-president of the San Francisco Giants, recently tried to trade Jim Ray Hart and Jesus Alou to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder Billy Williams and minor league Bill Popovich?

That's what my baseball agent tells me, adding that the Cubbies turned it down faster than you can sing "Alou Young Glovers" and "I Left My Jim Ray in San Francisco."

SUPER MART—Want another trade tid-bit today? How about the 49ers swapping John "The Millionaire" Brodie to Fort Knox for some bullion cubes? There were a number of fans at Kezar Sunday who thought John-John was goldbricking it.

TENNIS, ANYONE—Local tennis pro Paul Wilkins was bursting with pride last week when the Northern California Junior Ratings were announced. Eleven of the 15 ranked Marinites were Wilkins-coached.

CAGE RATINGS — College of Marin's basketball team was listed 14th in pre-season California junior college basketball rankings but should slip down the ladder off its early 3-6 won-lost record.

Strange Season For Preps

Sadder but wiser, Marin County Athletic League cage teams head into what could be another gruelling slate of practice games.

The season that started out as showing Marin teams well ahead of non-conference opposition now has them behind, with a 22-28 won-lost record against outside competition.

It has been a strange season for MCAL teams.

Tamalpais, everyone's pick for the league title, is acting like a strong contender for the lower depths. The Indians, after winning their opener, have reeled off five straight setbacks, through no fault of guard Steve Woodward, who is third in league scoring with a 15.6 average.

Last week's action was a first for two teams, as previously hapless Novato became punch happy and recorded its first win of the season and followed it with another victory in the consolation rounds of the Chico Tournament.

Marin Catholic, which got off to a quick start by winning its first four, lost its first and then its second game last week as its usually strong offense fizzled.

San Rafael, another surprise team, had its five-game win streak abruptly snapped at the hands of Vallejo.

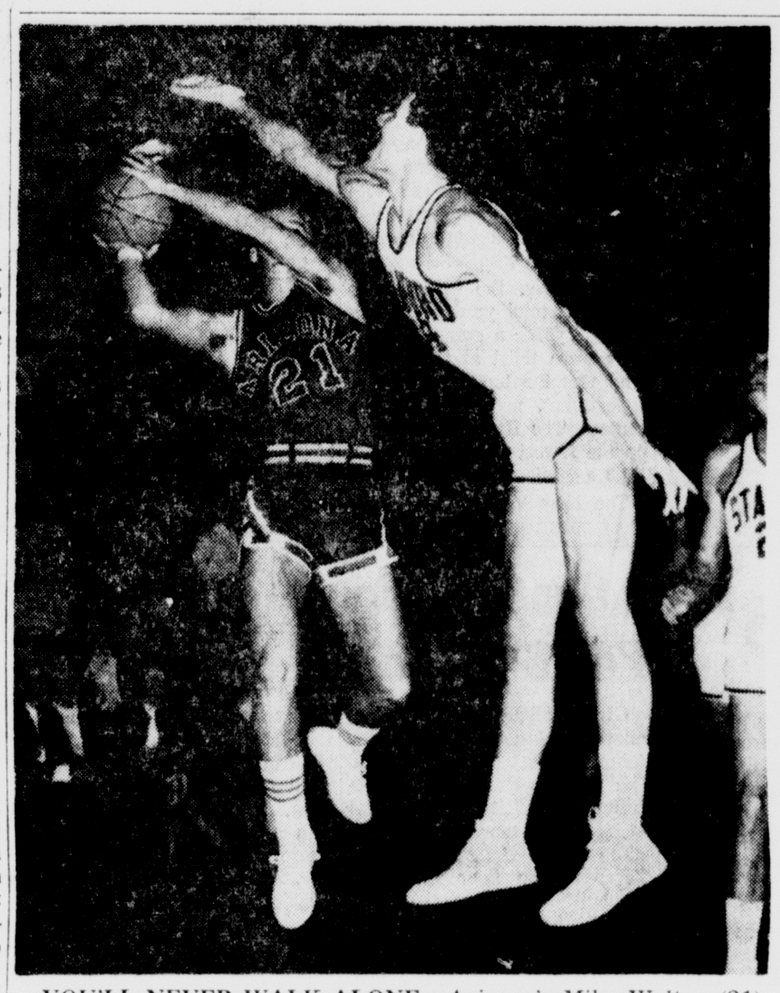
Redwood, which has been getting the heaviest workout in the MCAL, has come up with a more than respectable 6-4 record behind the one-two scoring punch of Andre Horn and Jack Fitzhenry, who are also one-two in MCAL scoring.

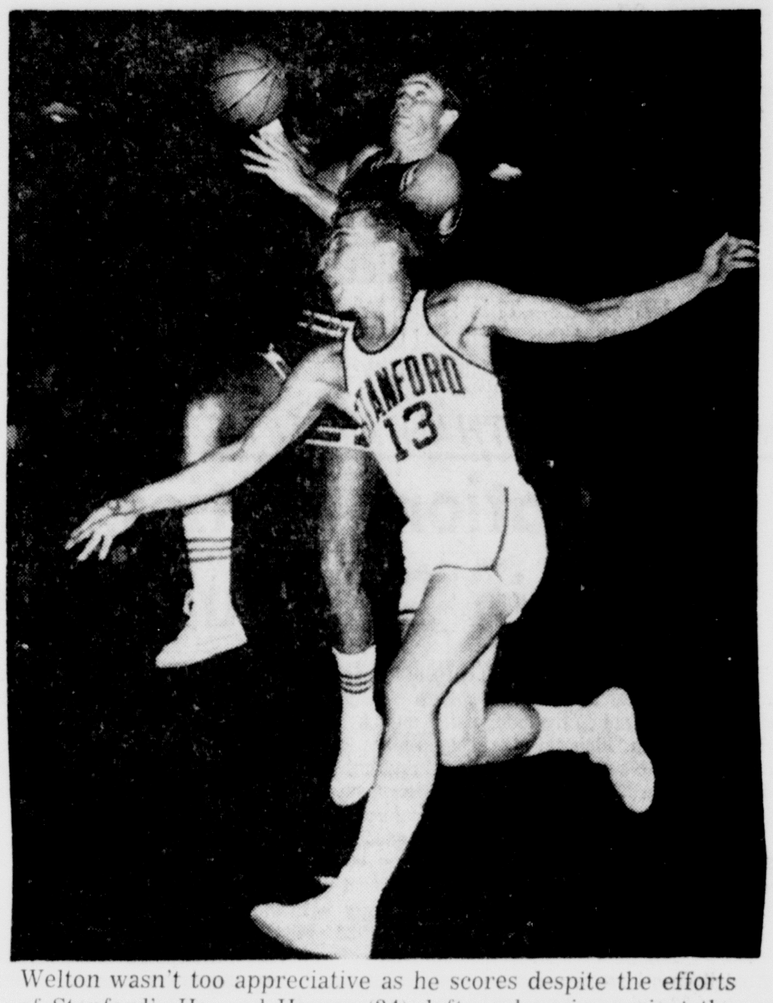
The Giants take a well-deserved rest this week as does Drake, which has posted a 4-3 mark so far.

With high school out on vacation, there are a few afternoon games on tap.

Marin Catholic will play powerful Poly of San Francisco tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Kentfield.

In other games this week, Marin Catholic tests Galileo in Kentfield at 1 p.m. Friday; Montgomery of Santa Rosa visits San Rafael tomorrow at 1 p.m.; Terra Linda battles its alumni at 8:15 p.m. Thursday; Tam meets St. Mary's of San Francisco Thursday afternoon at 1:30 and Novato takes on its alumni at 8:15 Friday.





YOU'LL NEVER WALK ALONE—Arizona's Mike Welton (21) never had to worry about being lonely on the basketball court last night as he drew the loving attention of Stanford defenders. Welton wasn't too appreciative as he scores despite the efforts of Stanford's Howard Hassen (34), left, and again, against the Indians' Gary Petersmeyer (13), right. The Indians' stick-to-itness got them an 82-67 victory. (AP Wirephotos)

There were five shutouts recorded on opening night. David Bacon of the Davidson Colts had the best individual output of the night with 28 points. He was followed by Dirk Granloser of the Davidson Raiders and Graig Hect of the Davidson Panthers who had 25 each.

Strike Threat For Bay Meadows, Anita

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Santa Anita and Bay Meadows racetracks today were confronted with a strike threat from the AFL-CIO Building Service Union unless an agreement was reached on a new contract by 12:01 a.m. Dec. 25.

The union, which represents a majority of racetrack employes including parimutuel clerks, served official notice of cancellation of its present contract. The current agreement expired in August but continued in effect pending negotiations on a new contract.

Attorney Leo Geffner, representing four union locals involved in the negotiations, said the cancellation notice of five days was required under the old agreement and was sent to the two tracks yesterday. Santa Anita is scheduled to open its rich winter meeting Dec. 26 while Bay Meadows starts a combination meeting.

The tracks, represented by the Federation of California Race Tracks, are scheduled to meet again with union representatives tomorrow. A meeting last week resulted in agreement only on minor points not involving wages.

The racing federation offered a wage increase of $1 a day for the first two years of a proposed five-year contract, with three additional increases of 75 cents a day for the remaining three years.

The union sought an increase of 7.5 per cent yearly and claimed the track offer amounted to less than the 2.5 per cent recommended for wage increases in guidelines laid down by the government.

If a strike materializes it will be second in three years against Santa Anita which was closed down for five days in 1964 by a Building Service Union walkout.

Bulldogs Bow To South S.F.

San Rafael's basketball team got hit hard early and wound up with its second straight loss in a practice game tilt yesterday at South San Francisco, 68-76.

Mike Donahoo dropped in 20 points for the Bulldogs who got added double figure performances from Chip Tyson and Rich Schau with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

The loss left San Rafael with a 5-3 record.

The San Rafael B team stormed from a 19-40 half-time deficit to take a courageous 66-65 victory as Phil Martino scored 24 points and Bruce Nave added 18.

COAST CAGE ROUNDUP

Bears Win Again

It was a big night for unbeaten Seattle, California and Jimmy Walker last night in athrilling grab-bag of intersectional cage action.

Seattle made it six for six with an 84-66 win over Missouri. The Chiefs were down by three points at halftime, but rode to victory on the shooting of stron boys Tom Workman and Malkin Strong, a muscular pair of pro prospects. They scored 27 and 21 respectively.

California is a team everybody agreed would go nowhere, but now has won four in as many tries. The Bears hosted rugged Utah and squeaked out a 75-73 win as Charlie Perkins popped 25 points. California nursed a lead of from one to four points through the last five minutes of play.

Jimmy Walker of Providence is unbeaten when it comes to comparing him with any other college player in the East this year. He hooped 43 to lead the Friars to an 84-82 heartstopper at Santa Clara. The Friars hit 51 per cent of their shots and the Broncs 58 per cent with Walker and Santa Clara's Mike Gervasoni, who had 21, matching buckets down the stretch.

Stanford reserve Ed Martin came in with the score tied 57-all against Arizona and hooped three consecutive shots to push the Indians out in front go stay. The Indians won 82-67 and Martin hit 16. Arizona's Bill Davis had 21 during a fiery night that saw him draw two technicals and then get tossed out for fighting. Stanford is now 3-1 for the campaign.

Other action last night found Claremont hitting nine baskets in a row during the first two minutes and coasting to a 99-62 romp over Sonoma State. Dick Barton had 25 for the winners, now 7-4. Cal Aggies, with a real Far Western Conference contender, disposed of Southern California College, 90-67. Paul Crissman meshed 38 for the losers while John Frost and Alan Budde had 17 each for the winners, now 4-1. Montana took Seattle Pacific, 84-75, behind Dennis Biletnikoff's 27 points.

San Francisco State annually tours the nation in December and takes on some of the nation's best. While it has won one of the last 30 on these rugged tours, it at least is losing by smaller margins. Duquesne took the Gators 79-72. The tour annually produces its desired effect since the Gators always do better in the Far Western Conference than expected—undoubtedly because it already has been tested by the best.

SKI CLUB HOME—This is the A-frame cabin that the Marin Ski Club built and uses on weekends for social activities and housing. It was built by club members on work weekends and during the summer.

MORE SOCIAL THAN ATHLETIC

'Relaxation, Parties, Fun' Is Marin Ski Club Motto

The words somehow have the ring of the jet set, international movie stars who ski on the side, swimming pools high in the mountains and bikinis and martinis mixed in with snowballs.

The Marin Ski Club is probably several income tax scales removed from the jet set. It is closer in spirit to cozy Vermont and the sigh of a relaxing weekend. And it has no swimming pool.

What it does have is a membership of 80 and a long waiting list. And a cabin. Built by non-carpenters, non-plumbers, white collars equipped with saws and nails and a steady desire to have a place to go on a weekend to ski and get away from it all in the company of friends.

The cabin, designed by Walter Stevens of Mill Valley and Charles Massen of Larkspur, is located just east of Soda Springs along Highway 40 in the Sierra. It is a finished product now, a completion of efforts during work weekends in the summer by all the members.

The club is not a haven for intramural sports bugs. The members ski, but not through athletic recreation directing.

"It's more of a social club," Mrs. Massen, the club's social director, said. "It's just sort of a group that gets together at the cabin to relax, have a good time. We have some parties, car pools for the trips to the cabin, barbecues and so on."

NO RITUALS

There are no secret rituals or handshakes to join the club. The only restriction right now is capacity. Other than that you show up at one of the weekly meetings held by the club at Sam's in Tiburon. You do have to work, to participate in work weekends as a prerequisite for membership, which consists of cleaning, fixing, repair work or addition work to the A-frame cabin.

The cabin is the picture of weekend comfort. It's a three-story structure with all of the necessary facilities such as showers, lockers, repair shop, storage space, rest-rooms, and dormitories for the members. There is a game room for youngsters with dart boards and ping pong tables. The main room has space for dancing, a stereo, poker and chess table, couches and so on. It's for the adults, with no children to trip over.

No jet set here. Just comfort and a little work.

Club officers are Barry Evergettis of San Anselmo, president; Paul Baumann, San Francisco and Claire Gannon, San Anselmo, vice presidents; Arthur Walenta, Berkeley, treasurer; Rosemary Seal, Sausalito, corresponding secretary and Brian Wittenkeller, San Francisco, housing chairman.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Mary Crawford, Leonard Tallent Lead Inverness Striper Derby

Congratulations to fisherwoman Mary Crawford who now leads the feminine fisherfolk participating in the bass derby now in progress at the Golden Hinde Boatel at Inverness. Mary attained her enviable position by hooking, playing and landing a nice 17-pound striper.

STEVENS

Talking with Davis Campbell of the Golden Hinde, I was told that Leonard Tallent still maintains his lead in the male department with his 39-pounder landed a while ago.

Davis also reported that action has slowed down a bit in his area but, if history repats itself, other big runs are about due. Here's hoping.

DOWRELIO'S HARBOR at Crockett reported very good sturgeon fishing and good bass action in the upper San Pablo Bay. On Friday, one boat came back to port with four bass and four sturgeon, with one of the sturgeon weighing 130 pounds. On Saturday, another party boat brought in 8 bass from 14 to 24 pounds and 6 sturgeon to 75 pounds.

I ASKED Charlie Schmeltz if any of the boats out of Dowrelio's had fished the lower Suisun Bay, and if so had the gasoline spill in the Suisun Slough recently had any ill effects on the fishery. Apparently very few boats had worked the waters near the Suisun and Montezuma Slough region, so he wasn't able to say. A game warden, however, expressed the opinion that the gasoline spill could have been fatal to fish life in the area contaminated.

THE PUBLICITY given to the war games being staged in the Suisun Bay and the Delta region has worried some of the angling group, but it is highly improbable that any damage will result. Some years ago we fished in Frank's Tract where target practice was done by planes dropping false bombs. No accidents happened and the action to fishing—trolling or coiled line fishing—wasn't hampered.

ACTION OF sturgeon and striper fishing in the San Pablo Bay, especially on the shell banks above the Pump House, and in the area known as Corregidor has continued—or did continue—over last weekend until about Wednesday, when it clowed down a bit.

A REPORT from Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia stated that the action was very good the first of the week, but slowed a bit from Wednesday on. However it would seem the slowing was due to the fishermen not locating the schools until Friday when two boats hit the locale with bass from 21 to 24 pounds. Incidentally, Mrs. Edding of Buck's Landing reported 13 sturgeon brought in with one of them going to 92 pounds.

ASKED ABOUT duck shooting out of Buck's Landing, Mrs. Edding reported shooting was slow on the morning try, but better in the p.m. Saturday. Then it was completely reversed on Sunday when lots of birds were downed.

RIVER WATERS are clearing, but are still a bit murky in the Delta Region. Too dark for trolling but not for bait fishing.

Two Raiders On All-AFL Squad

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City's Western Division champions dominated the voting for the American Football League All-Star team as expected, but the unexpected developed when Jon Morris of Boston stole the center spot on the elite squad from Jim Otto of Oakland.

While the Chiefs were grabbing nine spots on the 22-man squad selected for The Associated Press by three-man committees in each of the league cities, Morris outpolled Otto, who had been picked for the first-string unit every year dating back to the league's first season of operation in 1960.

Morris, a 6-foot-2, 240-pound product of Holy Cross in his third pro season, drew 15 of the 27 votes to 10 for Otto, a seven-year pro veteran and former Miami, Fla. star. Otto had been the last of the AFL originals to hold onto his first-string berth since the league began.

Morris was joined on the first team by two Boston teammates, fullback Jim Nance, the only unanimous choice among the 22 players picked by the sports writers and sports casters in the AP poll, and Nick Buoniconti, the Patriots' peerless middle linebacker.

But Kansas City took the big share with five men on the offensive unit and four men on the defensive squad.

Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, missed by only one vote of being a unanimous choice and was joined on the offensive squad by teammates Fred Arbanas at tight end, Otis Taylor at split end, Jim Tyrer at tackle and Ed Budde at guard.

The Chiefs' defensive contingent consisted of end Jerry Mays, tackle Buck Buchanan, corner linebacker Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Joining Nance and Dawson in the All-Star backfield were Lance Alworth, San Diego's standout flanker, and Clem Daniels, Oakland's versatile running back.

The offensive line was completed by the selection of Ron Mix of San Diego at tackle and Billy Shaw of Buffalo at guard.

The Bills, while placing only one man on offense, matched Kansas City's total on the defensive team, grabbing spots with Roland McDole at end, Jim Dunaway at tackle, Mike Stratton at corner linebacker and Butch Byrd at corner back.

The other members of the defensive unit were Kent McCloughan of Oakland at corner back and Ken Graham of San Diego at safety.

Oakland Had Best Defense In AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Kansas City Chiefs meet the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League championship game Jan. 1, the league's most potent running forces will clash with the league's most potent anti-running forces.

According to final AFL statistics released today, the Chiefs had the best rushing offense this season, gaining 162.4 yards a game, while the Bills had the stingiest defense against rushing, allowing only 75.1 yards a game.

The Chiefs were only fourth in pass offense but still managed to win the total offense title with an average of 365.3 yards a game. The Bills were third in that category with 337.6 a game.

Defensively, the Chiefs were second in total yardage, giving up 282.8 yards a game, and the Bills were third at 293.5. Oakland was the top team in that department, permitting 279.3 a contest. The Raiders also gave up the fewest yards in the air, 151.3 a game.

The New York Jets had the most potent pass offense, gaining 247.4 yards a game that way.

In the individual races, Jim Nance of Boston was the top rusher with a record 1,458 yards, Kansas City's Len Dawson topped the passers with 159 completions in 284 attempts for 2,527 yards and 26 touchdowns and Lance Alworth of San Diego won the pass receiving crown with 73 catches.

Boston's Gino Cappelletti won the scoring championship for the fifth time in seven years with 119 points while teammates Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt of Kansas City each intercepted 10 passes.

Atlantic League Joins Pac-8 In Cage Appeal

GREENSBORO (AP) — Commissioner Jim Weaver says the Atlantic Coast Conference will join with the Pacific Eight Conference (AAWU) in an appeal on basketball tournament dates.

The appeal will be carried to the convention floor when the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. NCAA membership meets in Houston, Texas, Jan. 9-12.

The NCAA first round games are scheduled Saturday, March 11. The Pacific Eight ends its season that date and the ACC's championship tournament at Greensboro ends that date. Thus, champions of these two conferences could not compete in NCAA games that night.

The ACC has amended its rules to permit the runner-up in the conference to play in the National Invitational Tournament (NIT) in New York City. Thus, the ACC could find itself with the champion going nowhere and the runnerup to the NIT.

UCLA, a likely winner of the Pacific Eight title, has been told by the NCAA that its bye in the national event has been canceled because its junior college transfer requirements fail to Meet NCAA standards. The ACC stands to lose its bye because it has declined to meet an NCAA request that it alter its regulation which permits a graduate student to play out his eligibility.

iWthout a bye, neither conference could get its champion to a March 11 NCAA tournament.

The NCAA executive established the requirement for the 1967 basketball bye at its meeting in August, saying that all allied conferences which have automatic qualification (bye) for the 1967 NCAA basketball championship must confirm that they abide by regular season eligibility rules which are at least as stringent as those of the NCAA.

Paradise Takes Tourney Opener

Cooley and Riolo of Vallejo and Paradise Pharmacy took opening round victories in the San Rafael Adult Recreation League Christmas Basketball Tournament yesterday.

Cooley and Riolo stormed past Mill Valley Boys Club, 73-52 and Paradise Pharmacy nicked Celonis of San Rafael, 63-56.

Al Jones paced Cooley with 20 points while Brad Bush had 16 for Mill Valley. Jeff Chapman dumped in 20 for Paradise and Jesse Mungon had 14 for Celonis.

In a regular B league game, Marins Marines whipped Fairchild's, 71-23 as Rod Pierson scored 23 points.

Brymer Nabs Turkey Shoot

Ernie Brymer won his second straight title at the annual Mill Valley Golf Club turkey shoot Sunday by coming in first with an 85-24—61.

Tom Wallace and Fred Greenland were next with scores of 81-18—63 and 84-21—63.

Casey Ambler took third with a 77-13—64, followed by Kevin Hogan with a 75-10—65, Al Walton, 78-13—65; and Byron Eggleston, 72-7—65.

Hamilton Wins

Hamilton Air Force Base swamped San Francisco State frosh in the Holiday Frosh Invitational Basketball Tournament at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday.

In other games, the Fresno State Frosh nicked Nevada, 76-75; University of California at Davis topped Sacramento State, 63-52 and Chico State trounced Humboldt State 87-49.

Thrills And Heartbreak In Surfing

HONOLULU (AP) — World surfing champion Nat Young of Australia proved yesterday he can ride the big ones.

Young, 19, piled up 122 points to lead all men in the senior division quarter finals of the 14th International Surfing Championship at Makaha, near Honolulu, which has drawn 600 entries.

He took off time and again on the biggest—15 foot—waves of the sets.

There was speculation that Young, used to waves in the six foot class, would not be able to handle the bigger waves. His display, however, made him a favorite for this year's championship.

The meet was full of heartbreaks for surfers such as United States Surfing Assn. champion Corkey Carroll who lost his board on a bottom turn, and Joey Cabell of Hawaii and California who lost out to Peruvian champion Felipe Pomar.

Men's senior quarter-finals:

Mike Doyle, California; Richard Keaulana, Hawaii; Edward Piper, Hawaii; Jeff Hakman, Hawaii; Leroy Ah Choy, Hawaii; Jock Sutherland, Hawaii; Felipe Pomar, Peru; Rusty Miller, California; Nat Young, Australia; and Fred Hemmings, Hawaii.

Men's junior winners in the final four qualifying heats:

Doug Yamashita, Bill Wakefield, Solomon Maldonado, Steve Wells, Charles Bauguen, John Yannell, Clyde Benkins Jr., and Dennis Pang, all of Hawaii.

Sad Stories For Cage Scriveners

By RON BERGMAN

OAKLAND (AP)—"We didn't play any kind of basketball at all against BYU," moaned Mike Cimino, whose St. Mary's Gaels lost 108-57 last week to Brigham Young.

"I started three sophomores," recounted Cimino. "They stood around for the first seven minutes and it was 20-2 before they did anything — they called a time out."

Cimino's plaint wasn't the topper yesterday at the Northern California Basketball Writers and Sportcasters. That'll come later. Everyone went to Oakland to mark the debut of college basketball in the Oakland Arena tomorrow with a doubleheader. Santa Clara meets Missouri in the opener and the University of San Francisco takes on Providence in the second game.

USF's Dennis Black was the player-of-the-week for his performances in losing games to St. Louis and Houston. He scored 15 points and grabbed 13 rebounds in the first loss and got 29 points and 15 rebounds in the second.

Topping Cimino was Rick Gamble, the publicist for San Francisco State.

"We're in the midst of an Eastern road trip," said Gamble. "We've played three games and lost all three. We've won only oen of 35 games on our Eastern trips in eight years.

"We got to within two points late in the game against Gannon and brought the ball downcourt three times. Unfortunately we were called for the three-second zone violation each time and eventually lost 62-52 by 10.

"Against Youngstown, 28 fouls were called against San Francisco State. Five were called against Youngstown — none of them two-shot fouls.

"Our next opponent was Akron, ranked fourth among small colleges. It was Akron's 42nd straight homecourt victory."

California coach Rene Herrerias preserved his perfect 3-0 record.

"We had a good week," said Herrerias. "We had exams and didn't play."

San Jose State coach Danny Glines said he wasn't too discouraged because his varsity lost 89-86 to the alumni although "they had us at one time by 19 points."

Stanford coach Howie Dallmar said before the Indians were thrashed 100-87 by Utah, "We were riding the crest of a two-game win streak."

Seals Help Pension Fund

The Western Hockey League's pension fund was $625 richer today after a row of fines were assessed by the league office.

California Seals general manager Rudy Pilous was the top contributor. He was dunned $300 for verbal and physical abuse of a Vancouver goal judge during the Seals-Canuck game in Vancouver Friday.

Pilous thought his team should have been given a goal, but the judge didn't see it that way. Ron Harris tossed his stick at a referee in the same game and drew a $200 fine and two-game suspension while Seals captain Charlie Burns had a $25 fine from the same contest.

The other $100 came from the Vancouver-Portland game in Portland Saturday night.

Two Raiders On All-AFL Squad

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City's Western Division champions dominated the voting for the American Football League All-Star team as expected, but the unexpected developed when Jon Morris of Boston stole the center spot on the elite squad from Jim Otto of Oakland.

While the Chiefs were grabbing nine spots on the 22-man squad selected for The Associated Press by three-man committees in each of the league cities, Morris outpolled Otto, who had been picked for the first-string unit every year dating back to the league's first season of operation in 1960.

Morris, a 6-foot-2, 240-pound product of Holy Cross in his third pro season, drew 15 of the 27 votes to 10 for Otto, a seven-year pro veteran and former Miami, Fla. star. Otto had been the last of the AFL originals to hold onto his first-string berth since the league began.

Morris was joined on the first team by two Boston teammates, fullback Jim Nance, the only unanimous choice among the 22 players picked by the sports writers and sports casters in the AP poll, and Nick Buoniconti, the Patriots' peerless middle linebacker.

But Kansas City took the big share with five men on the offensive unit and four men on the defensive squad.

Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, missed by only one vote of being a unanimous choice and was joined on the offensive squad by teammates Fred Arbanas at tight end, Otis Taylor at split end, Jim Tyrer at tackle and Ed Budde at guard.

The Chiefs' defensive contingent consisted of end Jerry Mays, tackle Buck Buchanan, corner linebacker Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Joining Nance and Dawson in the All-Star backfield were Lance Alworth, San Diego's standout flanker, and Clem Daniels, Oakland's versatile running back.

The offensive line was completed by the selection of Ron Mix of San Diego at tackle and Billy Shaw of Buffalo at guard.

The Bills, while placing only one man on offense, matched Kansas City's total on the defensive team, grabbing spots with Roland McDole at end, Jim Dunaway at tackle, Mike Stratton at corner linebacker and Butch Byrd at corner back.

The other members of the defensive unit were Kent McCloughan of Oakland at corner back and Ken Graham of San Diego at safety.

Oakland Had Best Defense In AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Kansas City Chiefs meet the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League championship game Jan. 1, the league's most potent running forces will clash with the league's most potent anti-running forces.

According to final AFL statistics released today, the Chiefs had the best rushing offense this season, gaining 162.4 yards a game, while the Bills had the stingiest defense against rushing, allowing only 75.1 yards a game.

The Chiefs were only fourth in pass offense but still managed to win the total offense title with an average of 365.3 yards a game. The Bills were third in that category with 337.6 a game.

Defensively, the Chiefs were second in total yardage, giving up 282.8 yards a game, and the Bills were third at 293.5. Oakland was the top team in that department, permitting 279.3 a contest. The Raiders also gave up the fewest yards in the air, 151.3 a game.

The New York Jets had the most potent pass offense, gaining 247.4 yards a game that way.

In the individual races, Jim Nance of Boston was the top rusher with a record 1,458 yards, Kansas City's Len Dawson topped the passers with 159 completions in 284 attempts for 2,527 yards and 26 touchdowns and Lance Alworth of San Diego won the pass receiving crown with 73 catches.

Boston's Gino Cappelletti won the scoring championship for the fifth time in seven years with 119 points while teammates Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt of Kansas City each intercepted 10 passes.

MORE SOCIAL THAN ATHLETIC

'Relaxation, Parties, Fun' Is Marin Ski Club Motto

The words somehow have the ring of the jet set, international movie stars who ski on the side, swimming pools high in the mountains and bikinis and martinis mixed in with snowballs.

The Marin Ski Club is probably several income tax scales removed from the jet set. It is closer in spirit to cozy Vermont and the sigh of a relaxing weekend. And it has no swimming pool.

What it does have is a membership of 80 and a long waiting list. And a cabin. Built by non-carpenters, non-plumbers, white collars equipped with saws and nails and a steady desire to have a place to go on a weekend to ski and get away from it all in the company of friends.

The cabin, designed by Walter Stevens of Mill Valley and Charles Massen of Larkspur, is located just east of Soda Springs along Highway 40 in the Sierra. It is a finished product now, a completion of efforts during work weekends in the summer by all the members.

The club is not a haven for intramural sports bugs. The members ski, but not through athletic recreation directing.

"It's more of a social club," Mrs. Massen, the club's social director, said. "It's just sort of a group that gets together at the cabin to relax, have a good time. We have some parties, car pools for the trips to the cabin, barbecues and so on."

NO RITUALS

There are no secret rituals or handshakes to join the club. The only restriction right now is capacity. Other than that you show up at one of the weekly meetings held by the club at Sam's in Tiburon. You do have to work, to participate in work weekends as a prerequisite for membership, which consists of cleaning, fixing, repair work or addition work to the A-frame cabin.

The cabin is the picture of weekend comfort. It's a three-story structure with all of the necessary facilities such as showers, lockers, repair shop, storage space, rest-rooms, and dormitories for the members. There is a game room for youngsters with dart boards and ping pong tables. The main room has space for dancing, a stereo, poker and chess table, couches and so on. It's for the adults, with no children to trip over.

No jet set here. Just comfort and a little work.

Club officers are Barry Evergettis of San Anselmo, president; Paul Baumann, San Francisco and Claire Gannon, San Anselmo, vice presidents; Arthur Walenta, Berkeley, treasurer; Rosemary Seal, Sausalito, corresponding secretary and Brian Wittenkeller, San Francisco, housing chairman.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Mary Crawford, Leonard Tallent Lead Inverness Striper Derby

STEVENS

Congratulations to fisherwoman Mary Crawford who now leads the feminine fisherfolk participating in the bass derby now in progress at the Golden Hinde Boatel at Inverness. Mary attained her enviable position by hooking, playing and landing a nice 17-pound striper.

Talking with Davis Campbell of the Golden Hinde, I was told that Leonard Tallent still maintains his lead in the male department with his 39-pounder landed a while ago.

Davis also reported that action has slowed down a bit in his area but, if history repats itself, other big runs are about due. Here's hoping.

DOWRELIO'S HARBOR at Crockett reported very good sturgeon fishing and good bass action in the upper San Pablo Bay. On Friday, one boat came back to port with four bass and four sturgeon, with one of the sturgeon weighing 130 pounds. On Saturday, another party boat brought in 8 bass from 14 to 24 pounds and 6 sturgeon to 75 pounds.

I ASKED Charlie Schmeltz if any of the boats out of Dowrelio's had fished the lower Suisun Bay, and if so had the gasoline spill in the Suisun Slough recently had any ill effects on the fishery. Apparently very few boats had worked the waters near the Suisun and Montezuma Slough region, so he wasn't able to say. A game warden, however, expressed the opinion that the gasoline spill could have been fatal to fish life in the area contaminated.

THE PUBLICITY given to the war games being staged in the Suisun Bay and the Delta region has worried some of the angling group, but it is highly improbable that any damage will result. Some years ago we fished in Frank's Tract where target practice was done by planes dropping false bombs. No accidents happened and the action to fishing—trolling or coiled line fishing—wasn't hampered.

ACTION OF sturgeon and striper fishing in the San Pablo Bay, especially on the shell banks above the Pump House, and in the area known as Corregidor has continued—or did continue—over last weekend until about Wednesday, when it clowed down a bit.

A REPORT from Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia stated that the action was very good the first of the week, but slowed a bit from Wednesday on. However it would seem the slowing was due to the fishermen not locating the schools until Friday when two boats hit the locale with bass from 21 to 24 pounds. Incidentally, Mrs. Edding of Buck's Landing reported 13 sturgeon brought in with one of them going to 92 pounds.

ASKED ABOUT duck shooting out of Buck's Landing, Mrs. Edding reported shooting was slow on the morning try, but better in the p.m. Saturday. Then it was completely reversed on Sunday when lots of birds were downed.

RIVER WATERS are clearing, but are still a bit murky in the Delta Region. Too dark for trolling but not for bait fishing.

Brymer Nabs Turkey Shoot

Ernie Brymer won his second straight title at the annual Mill Valley Golf Club turkey shoot Sunday by coming in first with an 85-24—61.

Tom Wallace and Fred Greenland were next with scores of 81-18—63 and 84-21—63.

Casey Ambler took third with a 77-13—64, followed by Kevin Hogan with a 75-10—65, Al Walton, 78-13—65; and Byron Eggleston, 72-7—65.

In a complete rundown on age group records for 1966 by Swimming World Magazine, Marin County swimmers from the San Rafael Swim Club, the Ann Curtis Swim Club and the Marin Pirates placed in the top five 29 times, with two records, five seconds, four thirds and nine fourth and fifith places.

Jim Morris of the Ann Curtis Club, which is now merged with the Marin Pirates, holds the long course record for boys aged 13 and 14 in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:08.4 and the San Rafael Swim Club finished one-two in the girls 11 and 12 age long course 440-yard medley relay with the team of Jo Hislop, Kim Knudsen, Cookie Arrighi and Katie Parnow holding the record of 5:41.

Sad Story Of Ex-Pug Named Packey East

If there's anything sadder in life than sitting down with an old, broken-down ex-prize fighter, I hope I never find out what it is.

I sat across the lunch table from one recently. You should have seen this fellow in his prime! I mean, a left that shattered the air with force and majesty, a right that made strong men wince, footwork so dazzling he could lick the guy dangling from a rope.

They still talk about him around Ohio—the night he held Cyclone Yelski to a clear-cut draw. The night he held Happy Walsh to a clear-cut knock-out.

HIS SPECIALTY was the knock-out. He participated in some of the most artistic ones on record. In fact, he starred in them. As the Koockee, not the knocker. They say he still holds the Northern Ohio record for bouncing, the night he got knocked out by Happy Walsh. He looked like a guy getting tossed in a blanket. They came from yards around to see him fight.

AS THESE things go, his life has all been downhill since those carefree days. I mean, the same old ratrace: a little vaudeville, a dabble in pictures, his footprints in Grauman's Chinese. He began to neglect his pool game. The once great left hand was gone. The magnificent torso, the one that had so frightened Cyclone Yelski that he laughed, began to go. His dealing hand in cards slipped. He began to take handouts—like one from Y. Frank Freeman—a million at a time.

HIS FRIENDS tried to talk to him—to get him back to the pool hall and the card game and the one-a-day on the Fanchon & Marco. He wept. But he said "don't feel sorry for the old bomber. Some day I'm going to throw the old equalizer—the old right hook—right in the world's kisser." His friends went away shaking their heads. Just another guy done in by the bright lights.

HE WAS a sucker for a benefit. Policemen, firemen, mailmen, he put on a benefit for the guy who came to read the meter. He was on the staff of more diseases than a bacillus. When the war came along, he was in more front lines than mortar fire, with a personally-paid-for troupe.

HE WAS the world's sucker, all right. He was so careless with his money, he left it lying around in banks. He was such a mark for real estate hustlers, he bought up property a state at a time. He had enough to start his own country.

Like all ex-pugs, he made some terrible investments. Not dry wells, gold bricks, or land under water, or an option on the Brooklyn Bridge, but the Rams and the Cleveland Indians which were the same thing.

HIS RING name was "Packey East," but he had to change it when he went into show business, I guess because there was a "Packey West."

Tears filled his eyes as he looked back on chances wasted the other day, He could only toy with his caviar. He didn't even have a handkerchief to wipe his eyes. Just the sleeve of his $500 jacket.

"WELL, PACKEY," I asked softly, "where do you think you went wrong?"

He dried his eyes.

"Well," he said, "it might have been when I first heard Jones and Hare. I know I haven't made much of my life. My ring career—just thrown away, thrown away. Here I sit, and all I have to show for my life is 56 movies"—here he leaned forward and added sharply "the latest of which is '8 on the Lam' for United Artists, coming soon to your local theater—put that in there in this story of heartbreak."

HE STRUGGLED to control himself.

"All I have left to show for my life is half of Palm Springs—which my wife just gave away to a hospital—and a nine-handicap at Lakeside. It'll make a four-handkerchief picture."

"Looking back," he added, "I guess I went wrong in the Cyclone Yelski flight. I should have jabbed him more. Why, I might have been the Greater Cleveland welter-weight champion!"

IT WON'T mean much to the gang back around Euclid Ave. but he goes by the name of "Bob Hope" now. Never did a day's harm to anyone. Drop him a line. Cheer him up. If you don't have his address put it in care of "Bank of America." They'll know where to get in touch with him.

Sonny Randle Expects Cards To Trade Him

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sonny Randle, who has gained almost 5,500 yards and snagged 60 touchdown passes for the St. Louis Cardinals since 1959, says "I expect to be traded," according to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"I didn't issue a trade-me-or-play me ultimatum, but I think it will come," said the eight-year veteran after a conference yesterday with Cardinal Coach Charley Winner.

The Cards dropped from a tie for first to fourth place in the Eastern Division of the NFL in the last three weeks of the season.

Randle, who was sidelined with a broken hand in the early part of the season, caught only 17 passes this year. He was replaced in the starting line-up by Billy Gambrell in the last few games.

But, said Randle, "there is no question in my mind that I can still play top-flight football in the NFL . . . I know I didn't lose it in one year."

Randle said there are other teams in the league who are interested in his services. "In fact, I know who some of them are," he added.

Indoor Tennis Tourney Opens

Ann Curtis Cuneo In 'Hall Of Fame'

Her times look almost slow today but apparently the swimming fame of Ann Curtis hasn't been forgotten.

The former Olympic Gold Medal winner now living in Terra Linda will officially join the greats of swimming lore when she is inducted into the Swimming Hall of Fame Shrine at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Dec. 28 at the running of the International Swimming Competitions.

Ann Curtis, now Mrs. Gordon Cuneo, the mother of five children who runs the Ann Curtis Swim School and is a coach in the Marin Swim Club, will join 24 other nominees as new members of the elite of swimming. The induction and meet will be televised by CBS and, along with the meet, will be broadcast on the network's sports show the weekend after the ceremonies.

Joining Mrs. Cuneo among the honorees are Helene Madison, Shelly Mann, Ragnhild Hveger, Chris Von Saltza, Eleanor Hom, Alan Ford, Alfred Hajos, Arne Borg, Steve Clark, Jack Medica, Wally Ris, Bill Smith, Joe Verdeur and Pete Desjardins.

Earlier choices have included Buster Crabbe, Don Schollander and Johnny Weissmuller.

"I was surprised," Mrs. Cuneo said after learning of the honor this last week. "I was surprised and very flattered. It seems like such a long time ago."

It was not too long ago that Mrs. Cuneo dominated U.S. swimming for nearly all of the 1940's. At the 1948 Olympics in London she won a gold medal as the U.S. champion in the 400 meters. She won four national 100 meter freestyle gold medals, won the 400 six years in a row, the indoor 440 five years in a row and the 800 meters six times and the 1500 twice. She was the only swimmer until Don Schollander to win the Sullivan Award as the outstanding amateur athlete in the nation.

"This is a once in a lifetime thing," she added. "It's such a wonderful opportunity and such an honor. There will be so many people there I haven't seen in such a long time."

UCLA No. 1; Kentucky Is Dropped

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky and Brigham Young, both two-time losers last week, tumbled from college basketball's Top Ten this week.

UCLA, of course, remained in the No. 1 spot, polling all 35 first-place votes in the balloting announced today.

Kentucky, which won 27 of 29 games last season in finishing second to Texas Western in the NCAA tournament, suffered an almost unheard of fate in dropping two games on its home floor. North Carolina beat the Wildcats 64-55 and Florida beat them 78-75.

Those results were enough to drop the Wildcats from fourth to nowhere.

Brigham Young fell from seventh to the same place after losing to Seattle 85-83 in overtime and to Oregon State 92-76.

Texas Western, No. 2 last week, lost one game, 71-62 to New Mexico, and slid to fourth. New Mexico, in turn, lost to New Mexico State 62-61 in overtime and slipped from fifth to sixth.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1b asis:

1. UCLA (35)	3-0	350

Sad Story Of Ex-Pug Named Packey East

If there's anything sadder in life than sitting down with an old, broken-down ex-prize fighter, I hope I never find out what it is.

I sat across the lunch table from one recently. You should have seen this fellow in his prime! I mean, a left that shattered the air with force and majesty, a right that made strong men wince, footwork so dazzling he could lick the guy dangling from a rope.

They still talk about him around Ohio—the night he held Cyclone Yelski to a clear-cut draw. The night he held Happy Walsh to a clear-cut knock-out.

HIS SPECIALTY was the knock-out. He participated in some of the most artistic ones on record. In fact, he starred in them. As the Koockee, not the knocker. They say he still holds the Northern Ohio record for bouncing, the night he got knocked out by Happy Walsh. He looked like a guy getting tossed in a blanket. They came from yards around to see him fight.

AS THESE things go, his life has all been downhill since those carefree days. I mean, the same old ratrace: a little vaudeville, a dabble in pictures, his footprints in Grauman's Chinese. He began to neglect his pool game. The once great left hand was gone. The magnificent torso, the one that had so frightened Cyclone Yelski that he laughed, began to go. His dealing hand in cards slipped. He began to take handouts—like one from Y. Frank Freeman—a million at a time.

HIS FRIENDS tried to talk to him—to get him back to the pool hall and the card game and the one-a-day on the Fanchon & Marco. He wept. But he said "don't feel sorry for the old bomber. Some day I'm going to throw the old equalizer—the old right hook—right in the world's kisser." His friends went away shaking their heads. Just another guy done in by the bright lights.

HE WAS a sucker for a benefit. Policemen, firemen, mailmen, he put on a benefit for the guy who came to read the meter. He was on the staff of more diseases than a bacillus. When the war came along, he was in more front lines than mortar fire, with a personally-paid-for troupe.

HE WAS the world's sucker, all right. He was so careless with his money, he left it lying around in banks. He was such a mark for real estate hustlers, he bought up property a state at a time. He had enough to start his own country.

Like all ex-pugs, he made some terrible investments. Not dry wells, gold bricks, or land under water, or an option on the Brooklyn Bridge, but the Rams and the Cleveland Indians which were the same thing.

HIS RING name was "Packey East," but he had to change it when he went into show business, I guess because there was a "Packey West."

Tears filled his eyes as he looked back on chances wasted the other day, He could only toy with his caviar. He didn't even have a handkerchief to wipe his eyes. Just the sleeve of his $500 jacket.

"WELL, PACKEY," I asked softly, "where do you think you went wrong?"

He dried his eyes.

"Well," he said, "it might have been when I first heard Jones and Hare. I know I haven't made much of my life. My ring career—just thrown away, thrown away. Here I sit, and all I have to show for my life is 56 movies"—here he leaned forward and added sharply "the latest of which is '8 on the Lam' for United Artists, coming soon to your local theater—put that in there in this story of heartbreak."

HE STRUGGLED to control himself.

"All I have left to show for my life is half of Palm Springs—which my wife just gave away to a hospital—and a nine-handicap at Lakeside. It'll make a four-handkerchief picture."

"Looking back," he added, "I guess I went wrong in the Cyclone Yelski flight. I should have jabbed him more. Why, I might have been the Greater Cleveland welter-weight champion!"

IT WON'T mean much to the gang back around Euclid Ave. but he goes by the name of "Bob Hope" now. Never did a day's harm to anyone. Drop him a line. Cheer him up. If you don't have his address put it in care of "Bank of America." They'll know where to get in touch with him.

Sonny Randle Expects Cards To Trade Him

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sonny Randle, who has gained almost 5,500 yards and snagged 60 touchdown passes for the St. Louis Cardinals since 1959, says "I expect to be traded," according to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"I didn't issue a trade-me-or-play me ultimatum, but I think it will come," said the eight-year veteran after a conference yesterday with Cardinal Coach Charley Winner.

The Cards dropped from a tie for first to fourth place in the Eastern Division of the NFL in the last three weeks of the season.

Randle, who was sidelined with a broken hand in the early part of the season, caught only 17 passes this year. He was replaced in the starting line-up by Billy Gambrell in the last few games.

But, said Randle, "there is no question in my mind that I can still play top-flight football in the NFL . . . I know I didn't lose it in one year."

Randle said there are other teams in the league who are interested in his services. "In fact, I know who some of them are," he added.

Ann Curtis Cuneo In 'Hall Of Fame'

Her times look almost slow today but apparently the swimming fame of Ann Curtis hasn't been forgotten.

The former Olympic Gold Medal winner now living in Terra Linda will officially join the greats of swimming lore when she is inducted into the Swimming Hall of Fame Shrine at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Dec. 28 at the running of the International Swimming Competitions.

Ann Curtis, now Mrs. Gordon Cuneo, the mother of five children who runs the Ann Curtis Swim School and is a coach in the Marin Swim Club, will join 24 other nominees as new members of the elite of swimming. The induction and meet will be televised by CBS and, along with the meet, will be broadcast on the network's sports show the weekend after the ceremonies.

Joining Mrs. Cuneo among the honorees are Helene Madison, Shelly Mann, Ragnhild Hveger, Chris Von Saltza, Eleanor Hom, Alan Ford, Alfred Hajos, Arne Borg, Steve Clark, Jack Medica, Wally Ris, Bill Smith, Joe Verdeur and Pete Desjardins.

Earlier choices have included Buster Crabbe, Don Schollander and Johnny Weissmuller.

"I was surprised," Mrs. Cuneo said after learning of the honor this last week. "I was surprised and very flattered. It seems like such a long time ago."

It was not too long ago that Mrs. Cuneo dominated U.S. swimming for nearly all of the 1940's. At the 1948 Olympics in London she won a gold medal as the U.S. champion in the 400 meters. She won four national 100 meter freestyle gold medals, won the 400 six years in a row, the indoor 440 five years in a row and the 800 meters six times and the 1500 twice. She was the only swimmer until Don Schollander to win the Sullivan Award as the outstanding amateur athlete in the nation.

"This is a once in a lifetime thing," she added. "It's such a wonderful opportunity and such an honor. There will be so many people there I haven't seen in such a long time."

UCLA No. 1; Kentucky Is Dropped

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky and Brigham Young, both two-time losers last week, tumbled from college basketball's Top Ten this week.

UCLA, of course, remained in the No. 1 spot, polling all 35 first-place votes in the balloting announced today.

Kentucky, which won 27 of 29 games last season in finishing second to Texas Western in the NCAA tournament, suffered an almost unheard of fate in dropping two games on its home floor. North Carolina beat the Wildcats 64-55 and Florida beat them 78-75.

Those results were enough to drop the Wildcats from fourth to nowhere.

Brigham Young fell from seventh to the same place after losing to Seattle 85-83 in overtime and to Oregon State 92-76.

Texas Western, No. 2 last week, lost one game, 71-62 to New Mexico, and slid to fourth. New Mexico, in turn, lost to New Mexico State 62-61 in overtime and slipped from fifth to sixth.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1b asis:

1. UCLA (35)	3-0	350
2. Louisville	6-0	288
3. North Carolina	5-0	236
4. Texas Western	6-1	208
5. Michigan State	4-0	167
6. New Mexico	5-1	153
7. Cincinnati	5-0	127
8. Houston	8-1	96
9. Kansas	6-1	49
10. Vanderbilt	6-1	27

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Boston College, Bowling Green, Brigham Young, California, Colorado State, Creighton, Duke, Florida, Illinois, Kansas State, Kentucky, LaSalle, Mississippi State, Northwestern, Oregon State, Princeton, Providence, St. John's, N.Y., St. Louis, Seattle, Southern California, Syracuse, Temple, Tennessee, Toledo, Tulsa, Utah, Utah State, Virginia Tech., Western Kentucky, West Virginia.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Here's How Expert Found The Missing High Cards

Part of the art of playing bridge is to sniff out the location of the missing high cards.

Eric Murray made a difficult contract by good sniffing during the 10-day November tournament in which he won a berth on the 1967 North American bridge team, together with his partner, Sammy Kehela.

FIRST PLAY

Murray took the king of hearts in dummy and returned a diamond.

East stepped up with the ace of diamonds and returned the jack of spades.

Declarer could let this ride around to dummy and thus get a sure trick with the queen of spades, but Murray has learned to be suspicious of gifts.

East could not have the king of spades for his play, and if West had the king of spades there was no hurry about setting up dummy's queen.

Murray stepped up with the ace of spades, drew trumps with the ace and queen, and then led a spade toward dummy's queen.

PLAYS LOW

West played low, and dummy's queen won the trick. Murray returned a spade from dummy, giving West his sure spade trick.

West innocently returned the seven of clubs, and Murray was put to the guess.

Should he play the king or the jack of clubs from dummy?

SOLVES PROBLEM

The Canadian expert solved this problem quickly, putting up the king of clubs to make his contract. He would have gone down, of course, if he had played the jack of clubs from dummy.

"That didn't take much of a sniff," Murray explained. "East had only one spade and two hearts. He would have bid if he held two aces. Besides, if West had the queen of clubs instead of the ace he would have waited for me to tackle the clubs. You have to know your customers."

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K 10 9 8 3
♥ 9 3 2
♦ 4 3
♣ A 8 7

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

Despite the strong trump support, this is a very weak hand and you can afford only a minimum response.

Heavy For Cast Caesar Just Too

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) —The script read "exit Caesar, carried," but Tom Garrett, "Caesar" of the local Amateur Dramatic Society, weighs 220 pounds and fellow amateurs rebelled at trying to hoist him.

The script was changed to read, "two Romans enter with stretcher and bear off assassinated Caesar."

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 20, the 354th day of 1966 with 11 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American manufacturer and producer of rubber, Harvey Firestone, was born on this day in 1868.

On this day in history:

In 1803, the American government officially took over from France the land bought in the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1864, Gen. William Sherman completed his "march to the sea" and arrived in Savannah, Ga.

In 1922, the fourteen Russian republics combined to form the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1864, Gen. William Sherman completed his "march to the sea" and arrived in Savannah, Ga.

In 1922, the fourteen Russian republics combined to form the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics.

In 1952, 87 servicemen were killed when an Air Force "globemaster" plane crashed at Moses Lake in Washington.

A thought for the day— American poet Walt Whitman said: "Once fully enslaved, no nation, state, city of the earth, ever afterward resumes its liberty."

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 20, the 354th day of 1966 with 11 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American manufacturer and producer of rubber, Harvey Firestone, was born on this day in 1868.

On this day in history:

In 1803, the American government officially took over from France the land bought in the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1864, Gen. William Sherman completed his "march to the sea" and arrived in Savannah, Ga.

In 1922, the fourteen Russian republics combined to form the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1864, Gen. William Sherman completed his "march to the sea" and arrived in Savannah, Ga.

In 1922, the fourteen Russian republics combined to form the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics.

In 1952, 87 servicemen were killed when an Air Force "globemaster" plane crashed at Moses Lake in Washington.

A thought for the day— American poet Walt Whitman said: "Once fully enslaved, no nation, state, city of the earth, ever afterward resumes its liberty."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Here's How Expert Found The Missing High Cards

Part of the art of playing bridge is to sniff out the location of the missing high cards.

Eric Murray made a difficult contract by good sniffing during the 10-day November tournament in which he won a berth on the 1967 North American bridge team, together with his partner, Sammy Kehela.

FIRST PLAY

Murray took the king of hearts in dummy and returned a diamond.

East stepped up with the ace of diamonds and returned the jack of spades.

Declarer could let this ride around to dummy and thus get a sure trick with the queen of spades, but Murray has learned to be suspicious of gifts.

East could not have the king of spades for his play, and if West had the king of spades there was no hurry about setting up dummy's queen.

Murray stepped up with the ace of spades, drew trumps with the ace and queen, and then led a spade toward dummy's queen.

PLAYS LOW

West played low, and dummy's queen won the trick. Murray returned a spade from dummy, giving West his sure spade trick.

West innocently returned the seven of clubs, and Murray was put to the guess.

Should he play the king or the jack of clubs from dummy?

SOLVES PROBLEM

The Canadian expert solved this problem quickly, putting up the king of clubs to make his contract. He would have gone down, of course, if he had played the jack of clubs from dummy.

"That didn't take much of a sniff," Murray explained. "East had only one spade and two hearts. He would have bid if he held two aces. Besides, if West had the queen of clubs instead of the ace he would have waited for me to tackle the clubs. You have to know your customers."

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

Despite the strong trump support, this is a very weak hand and you can afford only a minimum response.

Heavy For Cast Caesar Just Too

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—The script read "exit Caesar, carried," but Tom Garrett, "Caesar" of the local Amateur Dramatic Society, weighs 220 pounds and fellow amateurs rebelled at trying to hoist him.

The script was changed to read, "two Romans enter with stretcher and bear off assassinated Caesar."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Switch Cyclical Stock If It Causes Concern

By ROGER E. SPANN

Q. "I need your advice since my husband is ill, due to a stroke. Would you tell me, please, if you think Burlington Industries is safe to hold. We have a few shares, mainly for income, and it is the only stock about which we are concerned." D. B.

A. I am exteremely sorry that your husband is ill and I hope that he will fully recover. I believe that Burlington Industries is a sound stock and safe to hold. Due to the cyclical nature of the textile business, however, it may not be wise for you to hold it — particularly if it is causing you concern. I suggest that you sell your Burlington Industries and put the proceeds into Columbia Gas, selling around the same price level. The dividend seems safe here and may be increased.

Q. "I have some questions pertaining to short selling. To sell short on the New York Stock Exchange, would I deposit with the broker the full cash value of the shares sold or can this be handled as a margin transaction? Does the short seller participate in dividends?" M. R.

A. Technically all short sales are considered margin transactions. You may deposit with your broker the full cash value of your commitment when you go short; or you can handle the transaction on a 70 per cent margin basis, if your broker approves. As a short seller, you do not participate in any dividends —quite the reverse. Since your broker must borrow stock to make delivery against your short, he will collect from you any dividends declared until you have covered.

Matson Plans Big Expansion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Matson Navigation Co. has approved a $46 million program to expand its freight service to the Far East.

Norman Scott, Matson's executive vice president, said yesterday the expansion would involve conversion of two C3 freighters and the eventual addition of two other ships.

Matson said that the new service, an extension of the company's present container ship service between the West Coast and Hawaii, would not reduce Matson's present service to Hawaii.

Pacific Telephone Plans Big Outlay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A $453.5 million construction program in California next year by Pacific Telephone has been reported.

President E. Hornsby Wasson said 450,000 new telephones were added in 1966,bringing the total in service in California to 8.9 million, and the figure should reach 9 million by early spring.

CAIRO (UPI) — Authorities have decided to abolish all offices in Cairo of companies having their main plant elsewhere in the U.A.R. Managements will be ordered to operate from the factories, according to the Advisory Committee for the Industrial Sector.

Courts Hurt Merger Of Mighty Railroads

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a growing possibility that the planned merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads might collapse if further long postponements develop.

The odds still are greatly in favor of the consolidation, which has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the effective date has been delayed by court cases.

Since early 1926, the plan has managed to stay on the tracks despite more than 140 days of hearings, challenges by other railroads and opposition from the Justice Department.

Now, the chairman of the Pennsylvania and the chairman of the ICC foresee a collapse if delays continue indefinitely. Privately, some railroad people are even more pessimistic.

In ICC hearings, Chairman Stuart Saunders of the Pennsy conceded that merger planning between the two lines was "decelerating" because of the delays.

The 19,356-mile Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co. was to have been a reality on Oct. 1, 1966, which in itself represented a delay from a June 1 deadline. The ICC gave its approval last April 27.

On Sept. 21 a three-judge federal court delayed the plan to consider an appeal for additional hearings by several other rail lines. In the next month the same court rejected this appeal by a 2-to-1 vote.

The Supreme Court then stepped in to review the lower court ruling. A one-day hearing now is set for Jan. 9 in Washington, making a final decision unlikely until late February or early spring.

The court question now concerns a challenge by several lines, including the Norfolk & Western. The Pennsy and Central say the N&W is obstructionist in delaying the Pennsy-Central merger. Saunders has even suggested that the N&W's motive is to delay additional competition from the merged line.

Basic to this fight is the fact that the N&W, itself, has an application before the ICC to merge with the Chesapeake & Ohio, a plan which Saunders has said he will oppose vigorously as "not in the public interest."

When the Pennsy-Central application was filed in 1962, nobody expected the decision to drag out five years. That it has can, in a sense, be considered a tribute to the thoroughness of the ICC and the courts.

During this time, however, important decisions reportedly have been postponed, others have been kept in month-to-month suspension, and capital spending plans have been confused between the realities of present need and the uncertain hopes of tomorrow.

"It is simply impossible to operate these properties in suspense this way," Saunders said.

John W. Bush, ICC chairman, said a further indefinite postponement might even destroy the merger plan.

Among the problems of further delays are these:

—Plans to construct terminals and other facilities must be delayed at a great cost in efficiency.

—Morale of employes will be damaged. Advancements may have to be held up. Central freight solicitors still must compete with the Pennsy for traffic.

—The financial situation of the railroads and the economic situation of country are changing.

Many Now In $10,000 Group

NEW YORK (UPI)—Families with an annual income of $10,000 or more a year now make up about half the entire income of all families in the United States, according to an analysis by the Institute of Life Insurance of data made public by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

In 1960, the $10,000 and plus group represented only a third of nation's family income, and less than a fifth in 1955, showing a great upward shift in the country's purchasing power, the institute said.

About 10 million elementary and secondary students and 600,000 college and university students now receive part of their curriculum by television, according to the Foard Foundation.

New Washing Compound Firm Opens San Anselmo Outlet

Much has been written about the increasing contamination of our waterways and alarming destruction of fish and wildlife due to the everyday detergents used by the housewife — particularly those containing boron, a chemical some authorities say is fine for cleaning but murderous in its biological action.

Comes now a company — Amway Products — which claims to have the right "solution" in the form of a marketable biodegradable compound that not only does the washing job but actually cleans out previously accumulated hard detergent deposits in the pipes and flushes them down through the sewer system. The compound is said to break down quickly and to be non-toxic to human, fish and living organisms in the water and irrigation lands.

Locally, Amway's outlet is a new business on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile called Amway Distributors, located in the Essex Square Building, 412 Red Hill Avenue. This is operated by Merle and Patricia Corwin, residents of Marin about five years and previously from Santa Barbara. He was a business management counselor; she was an interior decorator — and both are now devoting full time to Amway lines.

These include laundry compounds, bleaches, germicidals, softeners and other household products — all sold direct to the consumer. Sales force is being expanded. Other distributors are being appointed. Office is open to visitors Mondays through Fridays.

ELLIS B. LANGLEY, former San Rafael division sales manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., who has been in Chico since last year, has been promoted to manager of PG&E's San Jose division, effective Jan. 1. He was here about a year in 1964-1965.

NEWEST Small Business Reporter of Bank of America deals with mobile home parks. Leroy Rudolph, vice president and manager of the San Rafael office, says copies are available.

SAM CHENEY of Fairfax was among 15 employees honored recently by a dinner on their retirement from Levi Strauss and Co., San Francisco garment manufacturer. Cheney started with the firm in 1932 as a leather coat cutter and since 1950 has been a member of the factory office staff.

RULON E. BROWN of San Rafael, a Frigidaire salesman in the Oakland zone, has been appointed a director in the company's Frigidaire Goal-Maker Club because of his outstanding 1966 sales record.

AN ADVANCED case study appraisal course will be offered by the University of San Francisco beginning Jan. 14 and will be sponsored by the Northern California chapter of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. Registration is limited to individuals meeting requirements of the institute. Applications for admission are being taken by Arthur G. Lee, course secretary, 46 Kearney Street, San Francisco.

SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE will hold its annual Executives' Symposium on Feb. 1 and 2. Keynote speaker is Otto N. Miller, president of Standard Oil Co. of California. Other nationally known business executives (some of them women) will also participate. The symposium will be held on the Saint Mary's campus in the Berkeley hills near Moraga.

AMERICAN SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSN. is expected to open its new building in Northgate after Christmas. Ribbon cutting will be held the evening of Dec. 27 for the 8,000-square foot facility. It should be open for business the morning of Dec. 28.

Cadillac Sets Mark For Car Production

DETROIT — More new cars rolled off Cadillac Motor Car Division's assembly lines last week than any other week in history.

New Branches Of Tire Firm

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Toyo Rubber Industry Co. of Osaka said today it has established a tire manufacturing firm in Los Angeles with branch offices in San Francisco and Seattle.

It said the firm will be known as Toyo Tire Co. and will be the first Japanese tire manufacturing company set up in the United States.

It is capitalized at $100,000 with all capital subscription put up by Toyo Rubber Industry Co., the Osaka company said.

It said the new firm hopes to produce some $2 million worth of automobile tires next year.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Switch Cyclical Stock If It Causes Concern

By ROGER E. SPANN

Q. "I need your advice since my husband is ill, due to a stroke. Would you tell me, please, if you think Burlington Industries is safe to hold. We have a few shares, mainly for income, and it is the only stock about which we are concerned." D. B.

A. I am exteremely sorry that your husband is ill and I hope that he will fully recover. I believe that Burlington Industries is a sound stock and safe to hold. Due to the cyclical nature of the textile business, however, it may not be wise for you to hold it — particularly if it is causing you concern. I suggest that you sell your Burlington Industries and put the proceeds into Columbia Gas, selling around the same price level. The dividend seems safe here and may be increased.

Q. "I have some questions pertaining to short selling. To sell short on the New York Stock Exchange, would I deposit with the broker the full cash value of the shares sold or can this be handled as a margin transaction? Does the short seller participate in dividends?" M. R.

A. Technically all short sales are considered margin transactions. You may deposit with your broker the full cash value of your commitment when you go short; or you can handle the transaction on a 70 per cent margin basis, if your broker approves. As a short seller, you do not participate in any dividends —quite the reverse. Since your broker must borrow stock to make delivery against your short, he will collect from you any dividends declared until you have covered.

Matson Plans Big Expansion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Matson Navigation Co. has approved a $46 million program to expand its freight service to the Far East.

Norman Scott, Matson's executive vice president, said yesterday the expansion would involve conversion of two C3 freighters and the eventual addition of two other ships.

Matson said that the new service, an extension of the company's present container ship service between the West Coast and Hawaii, would not reduce Matson's present service to Hawaii.

YEARS OF SERVICE—After 41 years with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., Samuel G. Bagshaw of 200 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley will retire Dec. 30. For the past 25 years, he has been a Northern California personnel supervisor. Born in England, 65-year-old Bagshaw has lived in Mill Valley since he was a year old.

Pacific Telephone Plans Big Outlay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A $453.5 million construction program in California next year by Pacific Telephone has been reported.

President E. Hornsby Wasson said 450,000 new telephones were added in 1966,bringing the total in service in California to 8.9 million, and the figure should reach 9 million by early spring.

A Cairo Crackdown

CAIRO (UPI) — Authorities have decided to abolish all offices in Cairo of companies having their main plant elsewhere in the U.A.R. Managements will be ordered to operate from the factories, according to the Advisory Committee for the Industrial Sector.

Courts Hurt Merger Of Mighty Railroads

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a growing possibility that the planned merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads might collapse if further long postponements develop.

The odds still are greatly in favor of the consolidation, which has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the effective date has been delayed by court cases.

Since early 1926, the plan has managed to stay on the tracks despite more than 140 days of hearings, challenges by other railroads and opposition from the Justice Department.

Now, the chairman of the Pennsylvania and the chairman of the ICC foresee a collapse if delays continue indefinitely. Privately, some railroad people are even more pessimistic.

In ICC hearings, Chairman Stuart Saunders of the Pennsy conceded that merger planning between the two lines was "decelerating" because of the delays.

The 19,356-mile Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co. was to have been a reality on Oct. 1, 1966, which in itself represented a delay from a June 1 deadline. The ICC gave its approval last April 27.

On Sept. 21 a three-judge federal court delayed the plan to consider an appeal for additional hearings by several other rail lines. In the next month the same court rejected this appeal by a 2-to-1 vote.

The Supreme Court then stepped in to review the lower court ruling. A one-day hearing now is set for Jan. 9 in Washington, making a final decision unlikely until late February or early spring.

The court question now concerns a challenge by several lines, including the Norfolk & Western. The Pennsy and Central say the N&W is obstructionist in delaying the Pennsy-Central merger. Saunders has even suggested that the N&W's motive is to delay additional competition from the merged line.

Basic to this fight is the fact that the N&W, itself, has an application before the ICC to merge with the Chesapeake & Ohio, a plan which Saunders has said he will oppose vigorously as "not in the public interest."

When the Pennsy-Central application was filed in 1962, nobody expected the decision to drag out five years. That it has can, in a sense, be considered a tribute to the thoroughness of the ICC and the courts.

During this time, however, important decisions reportedly have been postponed, others have been kept in month-to-month suspension, and capital spending plans have been confused between the realities of present need and the uncertain hopes of tomorrow.

"It is simply impossible to operate these properties in suspense this way," Saunders said.

John W. Bush, ICC chairman, said a further indefinite postponement might even destroy the merger plan.

Among the problems of further delays are these:

—Plans to construct terminals and other facilities must be delayed at a great cost in efficiency.

—Morale of employes will be damaged. Advancements may have to be held up. Central freight solicitors still must compete with the Pennsy for traffic.

—The financial situation of the railroads and the economic situation of country are changing.

Many Now In $10,000 Group

NEW YORK (UPI)—Families with an annual income of $10,000 or more a year now make up about half the entire income of all families in the United States, according to an analysis by the Institute of Life Insurance of data made public by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

In 1960, the $10,000 and plus group represented only a third of nation's family income, and less than a fifth in 1955, showing a great upward shift in the country's purchasing power, the institute said.

About 10 million elementary and secondary students and 600,000 college and university students now receive part of their curriculum by television, according to the Foard Foundation.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

New Washing Compound Firm Opens San Anselmo Outlet

Much has been written about the increasing contamination of our waterways and alarming destruction of fish and wildlife due to the everyday detergents used by the housewife — particularly those containing boron, a chemical some authorities say is fine for cleaning but murderous in its biological action.

Comes now a company — Amway Products — which claims to have the right "solution" in the form of a marketable biodegradable compound that not only does the washing job but actually cleans out previously accumulated hard detergent deposits in the pipes and flushes them down through the sewer system. The compound is said to break down quickly and to be non-toxic to human, fish and living organisms in the water and irrigation lands.

Locally, Amway's outlet is a new business on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile called Amway Distributors, located in the Essex Square Building, 412 Red Hill Avenue. This is operated by Merle and Patricia Corwin, residents of Marin about five years and previously from Santa Barbara. He was a business management counselor; she was an interior decorator — and both are now devoting full time to Amway lines.

These include laundry compounds, bleaches, germicidals, softeners and other household products — all sold direct to the consumer. Sales force is being expanded. Other distributors are being appointed. Office is open to visitors Mondays through Fridays.

Blind Opposition Can Scuttle Needed Freeway

The "agin-ers," who always manage to make themselves heard, are once again active among us.

People who oppose some proposal for public action invariably speak out first and with the loudest voice. They usually make a noise out of proportion to their numbers.

For years, Tamalpais High School District had trouble getting public approval for a series of necessary bond issues and tax increases because a handful of opponents kicked up a storm and misled a substantial part of the electorate who did not take the time to fully inform themselves.

We seem to be witnessing the same situation on the Highway 17 freeway proposals.

Each individual whose ox would be gored; that is, whose property would be taken or whose home would be near one of the freeway routes, naturally opposes the specific route that "injures" him.

When opponents of a number of routes get together, their emotions are fanned to a fever pitch and the entire group blindly joins in opposing any and all freeways. They create such a ruckus that those on the sidelines are induced to go along with some of the objections raised.

The result is that Marin faces the danger of losing this chance for much-needed highway improvement, even as Tamalpais High School District lost opportunities for purchase of property and construction of buildings at lower prices if financing had been approved sooner.

Those who oppose freeways per se, regardless of design or location, are entitled to their opinion. But those who recognize that freeways are one of the necessary evils accompanying progress and population growth will also realize that an east-west mainstream route traversing Marin is a must.

Our approach should be not one of blind opposition to all proposals but of constructive criticism with preferences and alternatives.

Merchants of the Miracle Mile in San Rafael have joined the many organizations opposed to certain routes, but they have indicated they are not opposed to the concept of freeways. And if a freeway must pass through their area, they have indicated a routing that would be less obnoxious than others.

This is an enlightened approach, and those who take it are to be commended.

Those who abuse and berate the highway engineers at every hearing and suggest that engineers and all freeways can go jump in the lake are taking a short-sighted view.

Hundreds of commuters curse their way each morning and night over a badly-clogged Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. These commuters will be doomed to a fate of near immobility, if we continue to lash out blindly against all freeways and highway engineers.

Christmas Cards From Far Away

Everyone likes to think that his or her friends are thinking about him or her at holiday time. One way to demonstrate this interest is by sending Christmas cards. Preferably, with a note inside.

We value the cards from people we don't see very often, and from distant lands, the most.

We know we are old-fashioned in at least one regard. We'd rather have a close friend shake our hand and wish us a Merry Christmas in person, than receive a card from a fellow we see every day.

But some people might regard the absence of a card as a deliberate slight, so most people send them anyway.

Federal Government Aid To Education—Too Fast

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A congressional sub-committee recently held hearings in San Francisco on the subject of federal aid to education, and at the hearing, secured some so-called grass roots information pertaining to such aid from the California School Boards Assn.

"Federal government activity in education," Robert W. Formhals, executive secretary of the association, declared, "has grown too fast and without adequate planning or personnel."

Formhals told the committee about one of the educational bureaucrats from Washington, who was investigating a civil rights complaint.

"This representative said we're not interested in facts, only in complaints and how people feel. The local school officials who reported that incident expressed great dissatisfaction with the strong-arm tactics of the federal employee," Formhals stated.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS are experiencing difficulties, he said, because the Congress does not appropriate federal funds for education early enough in the year for school districts to use in budgeting purposes. This hampers continuity and causes loss of trained personnel when a lack of uncertainty is felt due to lack of funding.

One solution, he pointed out, would be the funding of federal funds through state departments of education.

"Almost all officials queried," Formhals declared, "even the very large urban districts, indicated that they believe all funds for school districts which come from the federal government should go through the state department of education."

ONE OF THE major criticisms of federal aid to education has been the belief that dispensing of funds from Washington would bring with it a national control of the education function through the states, and through the school districts of the states.

"Some of the larger urban districts," Formhals stated, "have indicated that federal government activity in education has grown too fast, and without adequate planning or personnel.

"Too much time is spent by local school districts in trying to qualify for federal funds and many school districts are contending that the amount of money received from the federal grants is not worth the effort. Educators want general, instead of categorical aid."

HE ALSO SAID the National Assessment of Education, known as national testing, which is scheduled to begin next April, was reviewed critically and fear is expressed about how the results might be used. Educators throughout the state, he declared, have indicated that release of information on the state-wide testing program has already done considerable harm, and that national testing results, if released without adequate information, could prove even more damaging.

School officials, he said, agree that evaluation is necessary, but prefer to have local testing instead of national.

The criticisms of the federal program will be taken into consideration by the congressional sub-committee, for reference to legislation in the forthcoming session of congress.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Anti-Nuclear Protest Filed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It would seem that in addition to creating an ever-present threat of total destruction to every citizen in the land, there is an utter aimlessness in the theory and pursuit of thermonuclear weaponry and "preparedness" (!)

In fact, it is seriously to be questioned if individuals who insist on, or foster, this notably psychotic and barbaric "advance" in the system of warfare are really qualified to be national or international leaders.

If the reader has not already read a reliable book on thermonuclear warfare, HE MOST CERTAINLY SHOULD. Its pages will be terrifying reading, but they should awaken him to his own constant and personal peril every day that nuclear weaponry is permitted to remain as a "way of life."

Probably the average citizen easily forgets that the great difference between war-waging in the past eras and the nuclear type of bellicosity is this: THERE WOULD BE NO SURVIVORS (to speak of) and, of course, THERE WOULD BE NO "VICTORY" FOR ANY POLITICAL SYSTEM.

Insofar as it can be achieved, a vast improvement in world unity, over that of the present condition, is, in this nuclear age, an absolute necessity for survival . . . unless, of course, sanity returns and nuclear stockpiles and further stockpiling is abolished. This utopian state naturally cannot be achieved "overnight."

But at least a start might be made by powerful nation-states ceasing to proclaim that THEIRS is the ONLY way of life to be desired — and according to nations whom they consider "deviates" at least RECOGNITION, and an opportunity to participate in the established parleying devices of nations. So long as there continues to be CONTENDING nation-states, there will never be peace — or security of life — for any citizen in any land.

Mr. and Mrs. "John Doe" should think about this — NOW — and do something, however small, which is constructive toward the POLITICS OF PEACE. They could write their governmental representatives stating their wish that action be taken toward militaristic denuclearization . . . their letter would only cost them 5 cents in money, and five minutes in time!

World Not Your Dogsitter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A letter by Mrs. Robert Rapp appeared in the I-J on Dec. 14 reporting the sad experience with their family dog, a victim of hit-and-run. I think Mrs. Rapp is passing the blame from herself and she deserves criticizing for owning a dog "too big to fence-in or tie up all day" while she works. Even big dogs deserve tender loving care and companionship and a place to romp in safety.

I have a "family dog" and I don't expect the world to be a dog-sitter for me, nor do I show my neighbors the disrespect of allowing my dog to dirty up their properties.

Too often I've seen near-fatalities because of some dog darting out before a moving vehicle, or using the street as a playground with other doggies . . . Let such guilty dog owners be honest with themselves for a change; they shouldn't be dog-owners in the first place.

To people like Mrs. Rapp I say: Try a cat—It has nine lives.

Reply To Doctor's Letter On Abortion

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Dr. Leo A. Wagner's letter appearing in these columns on Dec. 12 is most interesting because it is thoughtful and exhibits attitudes which well may be prevalent among the medical profession and a large segment of our community.

I do not agree with him for several reasons. If, as Dr. Wagner says, we may terminate the life of a several weeks old infant because it is not a baby but has only the potential of becoming one (if all goes well), then we can say with equal certitude that the baby has only the potential to become a child (if all goes well); a child the potential to become a man, etc. Following this line of reasoning we can also say that we can terminate the life of a baby which has not the potential to become a "normal child" or to terminate the life of a child which has not the potential to become a "normal" adult. Thus, a three or four year old child who contracts spinal meningitis and suffers brain damage may be eliminated because he has lost the potential of what we define as "normal development." I do not agree with this, nor do I think would Dr. Wagner.

Dr. Wagner says the Roman Catholic Church has changed its position as to when life begins. I hope so, and this is quite proper, since it must rely on science for its opinion in this area. As scientific knowledge develops the Church revises its ideas in the light of improved understanding . . .

Dr. Wagner poses a very intriguing idea in analyzing the life pattern of the sex cells. He states with respect to ovum and sperm that "life can be more truly said to continue than to begin".

To use his own reasoning, if the egg and the sperm are "alive", what is their life potential? Unless the ovum is fertilized, their life span is very limited and there is no potential for a human person to develop. However, when the egg is fertilized, there is present the potential for full human life and this is something uniquely different from an unfertilized ovum or unused sperm. It seems logical to say that here human life truly begins and this is of course the crux of the issue. For if human life begins here, then it is human life we destroy by abortion.

It seems pointless to ascribe wicked motives to Miss Maginnis. We must assume she is acting in accord with her conscience. While one may feel that what she is doing is terribly and morally wrong, I do not see how calling her names adds anything to our understanding of what is at stake here. By the same token, one must hope for Dr. Wagner's assent to the good will of the Church for all mankind and its concomitant obligation to speak out on what is seen as a violation of a basic human right (curiously enough, the subject for the I-J editorial of Dec. 12).

Who will speak for the unborn child? Who will defend his right to life? Who will protect him, if the law does not?

As a fellow former fetus "who worked out all right", I salute Dr. Wagner for his thoughtful letter and the I-J for publishing it.

All The Oath, Not Just Part

As simple as that!

When an "oath of office" is required for membership in an organization, it stands to reason that its purpose is to exclude the sort of person who might object to taking it — all of it.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

IT WAS THE great Jewish humorist, Sholom Aleichem, who observed, "The only chance a poor man has for rejoicing is when he loses one of his pitiful possessions—then finds it again." He tells of one such character who recounted to a group of sympathizers how his wife and children were pursued by wolves over an icy lake, how the ice cracked, and sleigh and passengers sank without a trace. "Thanks to the Lord," concluded the narrator with a sigh, "there is one good feature to the story. It's a lie from beginning to end."

A DISAPPROVING mother phoned her beatnik son at a new Greenwich Village walkup he had rented despite her strenuous objections. A voice replied, "He's taking a bath." "Sorry," apologized the mother. "I must have the wrong number."

JAMES MARLOW

Christmas 1966 Not Going To Be Joyous And Glistening

WASHINGTON — This it not going to be one of those glistening, joyous Christmases even if the snow flies and warm candles light a thousand windows.

There is too much unfinished business knocking around the edges of the holiday, too much uncertainty, too much uneasiness.

In the Holy Land itself there is no war, but there is no real peace. There is tension between Jews and Moslems.

THERE WILL BE 48-hour Christmas and New Year's truces in Vietnam, and President Johnson's administration says it is ready to discuss an extension of the truces.

But the White House has indicated it is not interested in extending a pause in the bombing—as it did last year, with no visible benefit for the American side—without some corresponding action from the other side.

So far there has been none. As of now the prospect is for the same old war between the holidays and afterwards and no sign anywhere that the war is closer to an end than it was last Christmas.

THIS MAKES the favorite holiday phrase, "peace on earth, good will to men," more a wish than a reality.

The Soviets have upped their military spending about 8 per cent, blaming the need for the boost on what they call American aggression in Vietnam, just at a time when American-Soviet relations might have been improving.

The Red Chinese are not a menace yet on a world scale but they are trying hard to be, and soon will be, making present days seem as tranquil and noiseless as the times when man's only weapon was a rock.

In this country the economy seems to be having twitches. Industrial production dropped in November as the output of automobiles, other consumer goods, iron and steel went down.

NO ONE SEEMS to know at this minute whether Johnson—he himself may not know right now—will ask for higher taxes in 1967. Meanwhile, his own popularity, according to the polls, like industrial production is going down.

There is general puzzlement about Johnson himself, provoked by his strange abstinence from politics for months, even though his Democrats suffered damage in the last elections and he himself is a genuine, original, home-grown, life-long politician.

His withdrawal from politics, his failure to make speeches or explanations of almost any kind, although in his earlier White House days he always seemed to have a microphone in his hand, seems almost incredible.

IN ADDITION, his Great Society program is in trouble. The war on poverty is in retreat, the war on city problems has slowed down, any try for new civil rights legislation in 1967 is in for a rough time.

While calamities are neither in sight nor expected, although they could happen, there has been an erosion of peace and peace of mind.

Cost Of French Ouster: $1 Billion

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President de Gaulle's imperious expulsion of U.S. forces from France apparently is going to cost this country $1 billion in abandoned bases, airfields, pipelines, communications systems and scores of other expensive NATO installations and facilities.

Primarily responsible for this almost certain immense loss is the inexplicable negligence of the State and Defense departments in requiring payment for such properties.

Written agreements between the U.S. and France explicitly provide for the "recovery of the residual value" of NATO facilities turned back to France. But not until recently have the two departments — tepidly—made any attempt to enforce these long-standing commitments.

THESE BELATED gestures have gotten nowhere. De Gaulle has blandly ignored them.

Dating back to 1956, and well before De Gaulle's eviction of U.S. forces, 27 NATO installations that cost the U.S. more than $21 million were returned to the French government without the slightest move to recover their "residual value" —despite the written agreements requiring that.

Of these facilities, 17 are now being used by the French army, air force and municipal agencies; a school is part of the educational system of the town of Pessac; a $2 million hospital at Aufredy has been taken over by the Ministry of Pensions; and six properties that cost the U.S. more than $946,000 have been sold to private interests by the French government—which has kept the money.

THESE PROPERTIES include a large printing plant in Bordeaux, and housing in Campagne and on the Marne.

Not until August, 1964, eight years after the first installation was turned over to the French, did the State Department finally bestir itself and raise the question of payment by "suggesting discussions" on the matter.

De Gaulle shrugged it off. He didn't even bother to say "no." He totally ignored the "suggestion."

The same thing happened when the U.S. embassy in Paris subsequently made several "informal inquiries" about the matter. And that is the status of this astonishing situation to this day. Absolutely nothing has been done about it.

IN THIS SAME eight-year period—1956 to 1964—the U.S. gave France $425 million in military equipment — planes, guns, tanks, ships, motor vehicles, communications supplies, etc.

These and other blistering charges are detailed in a comprehensive staff study of the Senate Subcommittee on Foreign Aid Expenditures, headed by Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska.

With these dollars spent for France's defense, the De Gaulle government has raided this country's gold reserve for more than $2.5 billion in the past several years.

As a consequence, France now has a gold reserve of more than $5 billion — the third largest after the U.S. and Russia.

Another jarring disclosure by the Gruening committee study is that the State and Defense have done nothing to ensure that the U.S. will be repaid for similar heavy expenditures in other NATO countries.

"The State and Defense Departments have failed to cover by inclusion in treaties or agreements," say the report, "adequate provision for the determination of the residual values of facilities no longer needed in other countries . . . The Defense Department has advised:

" 'We are unaware of any agreement covering the disposal of property in the case of a facility no longer needed for NATO purposes.' The department gave no reason why such measures were not taken at the time the U.S. constructed such NATO facilities."

Blind Opposition Can Scuttle Needed Freeway

The "agin-ers," who always manage to make themselves heard, are once again active among us.

People who oppose some proposal for public action invariably speak out first and with the loudest voice. They usually make a noise out of proportion to their numbers.

For years, Tamalpais High School District had trouble getting public approval for a series of necessary bond issues and tax increases because a handful of opponents kicked up a storm and misled a substantial part of the electorate who did not take the time to fully inform themselves.

We seem to be witnessing the same situation on the Highway 17 freeway proposals.

Each individual whose ox would be gored; that is, whose property would be taken or whose home would be near one of the freeway routes, naturally opposes the specific route that "injures" him.

When opponents of a number of routes get together, their emotions are fanned to a fever pitch and the entire group blindly joins in opposing any and all freeways. They create such a ruckus that those on the sidelines are induced to go along with some of the objections raised.

The result is that Marin faces the danger of losing this chance for much-needed highway improvement, even as Tamalpais High School District lost opportunities for purchase of property and construction of buildings at lower prices if financing had been approved sooner.

Those who oppose freeways per se, regardless of design or location, are entitled to their opinion. But those who recognize that freeways are one of the necessary evils accompanying progress and population growth will also realize that an east-west mainstream route traversing Marin is a must.

Our approach should be not one of blind opposition to all proposals but of constructive criticism with preferences and alternatives.

Merchants of the Miracle Mile in San Rafael have joined the many organizations opposed to certain routes, but they have indicated they are not opposed to the concept of freeways. And if a freeway must pass through their area, they have indicated a routing that would be less obnoxious than others.

This is an enlightened approach, and those who take it are to be commended.

Those who abuse and berate the highway engineers at every hearing and suggest that engineers and all freeways can go jump in the lake are taking a short-sighted view.

Hundreds of commuters curse their way each morning and night over a badly-clogged Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. These commuters will be doomed to a fate of near immobility, if we continue to lash out blindly against all freeways and highway engineers.

Christmas Cards From Far Away

Everyone likes to think that his or her friends are thinking about him or her at holiday time. One way to demonstrate this interest is by sending Christmas cards. Preferably, with a note inside.

We value the cards from people we don't see very often, and from distant lands, the most.

We know we are old-fashioned in at least one regard. We'd rather have a close friend shake our hand and wish us a Merry Christmas in person, than receive a card from a fellow we see every day.

But some people might regard the absence of a card as a deliberate slight, so most people send them anyway.

Federal Government Aid To Education—Too Fast

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A congressional sub-committee recently held hearings in San Francisco on the subject of federal aid to education, and at the hearing, secured some so-called grass roots information pertaining to such aid from the California School Boards Assn.

"Federal government activity in education," Robert W. Formhals, executive secretary of the association, declared, "has grown too fast and without adequate planning or personnel."

Formhals told the committee about one of the educational bureaucrats from Washington, who was investigating a civil rights complaint.

"This representative said we're not interested in facts, only in complaints and how people feel. The local school officials who reported that incident expressed great dissatisfaction with the strong-arm tactics of the federal employee," Formhals stated.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS are experiencing difficulties, he said, because the Congress does not appropriate federal funds for education early enough in the year for school districts to use in budgeting purposes. This hampers continuity and causes loss of trained personnel when a lack of uncertainty is felt due to lack of funding.

One solution, he pointed out, would be the funding of federal funds through state departments of education.

"Almost all officials queried," Formhals declared, "even the very large urban districts, indicated that they believe all funds for school districts which come from the federal government should go through the state department of education."

ONE OF THE major criticisms of federal aid to education has been the belief that dispensing of funds from Washington would bring with it a national control of the education function through the states, and through the school districts of the states.

"Some of the larger urban districts," Formhals stated, "have indicated that federal government activity in education has grown too fast, and without adequate planning or personnel.

"Too much time is spent by local school districts in trying to qualify for federal funds and many school districts are contending that the amount of money received from the federal grants is not worth the effort. Educators want general, instead of categorical aid."

HE ALSO SAID the National Assessment of Education, known as national testing, which is scheduled to begin next April, was reviewed critically and fear is expressed about how the results might be used. Educators throughout the state, he declared, have indicated that release of information on the state-wide testing program has already done considerable harm, and that national testing results, if released without adequate information, could prove even more damaging.

School officials, he said, agree that evaluation is necessary, but prefer to have local testing instead of national.

The criticisms of the federal program will be taken into consideration by the congressional sub-committee, for reference to legislation in the forthcoming session of congress.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Anti-Nuclear Protest Filed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It would seem that in addition to creating an ever-present threat of total destruction to every citizen in the land, there is an utter aimlessness in the theory and pursuit of thermonuclear weaponry and "preparedness" (!)

In fact, it is seriously to be questioned if individuals who insist on, or foster, this notably psychotic and barbaric "advance" in the system of warfare are really qualified to be national or international leaders.

If the reader has not already read a reliable book on thermonuclear warfare, HE MOST CERTAINLY SHOULD. Its pages will be terrifying reading, but they should awaken him to his own constant and personal peril every day that nuclear weaponry is permitted to remain as a "way of life."

Probably the average citizen easily forgets that the great difference between war-waging in the past eras and the nuclear type of bellicosity is this: THERE WOULD BE NO SURVIVORS (to speak of) and, of course, THERE WOULD BE NO "VICTORY" FOR ANY POLITICAL SYSTEM.

Insofar as it can be achieved, a vast improvement in world unity, over that of the present condition, is, in this nuclear age, an absolute necessity for survival . . . unless, of course, sanity returns and nuclear stockpiles and further stockpiling is abolished. This utopian state naturally cannot be achieved "overnight."

But at least a start might be made by powerful nation-states ceasing to proclaim that THEIRS is the ONLY way of life to be desired — and according to nations whom they consider "deviates" at least RECOGNITION, and an opportunity to participate in the established parleying devices of nations. So long as there continues to be CONTENDING nation-states, there will never be peace — or security of life — for any citizen in any land.

Mr. and Mrs. "John Doe" should think about this — NOW — and do something, however small, which is constructive toward the POLITICS OF PEACE. They could write their governmental representatives stating their wish that action be taken toward militaristic denuclearization . . . their letter would only cost them 5 cents in money, and five minutes in time!

World Not Your Dogsitter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A letter by Mrs. Robert Rapp appeared in the I-J on Dec. 14 reporting the sad experience with their family dog, a victim of hit-and-run. I think Mrs. Rapp is passing the blame from herself and she deserves criticizing for owning a dog "too big to fence-in or tie up all day" while she works. Even big dogs deserve tender loving care and companionship and a place to romp in safety.

I have a "family dog" and I don't expect the world to be a dog-sitter for me, nor do I show my neighbors the disrespect of allowing my dog to dirty up their properties.

Too often I've seen near-fatalities because of some dog darting out before a moving vehicle, or using the street as a playground with other doggies . . . Let such guilty dog owners be honest with themselves for a change; they shouldn't be dog-owners in the first place.

To people like Mrs. Rapp I say: Try a cat—It has nine lives.

Reply To Doctor's Letter On Abortion

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Dr. Leo A. Wagner's letter appearing in these columns on Dec. 12 is most interesting because it is thoughtful and exhibits attitudes which well may be prevalent among the medical profession and a large segment of our community.

I do not agree with him for several reasons. If, as Dr. Wagner says, we may terminate the life of a several weeks old infant because it is not a baby but has only the potential of becoming one (if all goes well), then we can say with equal certitude that the baby has only the potential to become a child (if all goes well); a child the potential to become a man, etc. Following this line of reasoning we can also say that we can terminate the life of a baby which has not the potential to become a "normal child" or to terminate the life of a child which has not the potential to become a "normal" adult. Thus, a three or four year old child who contracts spinal meningitis and suffers brain damage may be eliminated because he has lost the potential of what we define as "normal development." I do not agree with this, nor do I think would Dr. Wagner.

Dr. Wagner says the Roman Catholic Church has changed its position as to when life begins. I hope so, and this is quite proper, since it must rely on science for its opinion in this area. As scientific knowledge develops the Church revises its ideas in the light of improved understanding . . .

Dr. Wagner poses a very intriguing idea in analyzing the life pattern of the sex cells. He states with respect to ovum and sperm that "life can be more truly said to continue than to begin".

To use his own reasoning, if the egg and the sperm are "alive", what is their life potential? Unless the ovum is fertilized, their life span is very limited and there is no potential for a human person to develop. However, when the egg is fertilized, there is present the potential for full human life and this is something uniquely different from an unfertilized ovum or unused sperm. It seems logical to say that here human life truly begins and this is of course the crux of the issue. For if human life begins here, then it is human life we destroy by abortion.

It seems pointless to ascribe wicked motives to Miss Maginnis. We must assume she is acting in accord with her conscience. While one may feel that what she is doing is terribly and morally wrong, I do not see how calling her names adds anything to our understanding of what is at stake here. By the same token, one must hope for Dr. Wagner's assent to the good will of the Church for all mankind and its concomitant obligation to speak out on what is seen as a violation of a basic human right (curiously enough, the subject for the I-J editorial of Dec. 12).

Who will speak for the unborn child? Who will defend his right to life? Who will protect him, if the law does not?

As a fellow former fetus "who worked out all right", I salute Dr. Wagner for his thoughtful letter and the I-J for publishing it.

IT WAS THE great Jewish humorist, Sholom Aleichem, who observed, "The only chance a poor man has for rejoicing is when he loses one of his pitiful possessions—then finds it again." He tells of one such character who recounted to a group of sympathizers how his wife and children were pursued by wolves over an icy lake, how the ice cracked, and sleigh and passengers sank without a trace. "Thanks to the Lord," concluded the narrator with a sigh, "there is one good feature to the story. It's a lie from beginning to end."

Christmas 1966 Not Going To Be Joyous And Glistening

WASHINGTON — This it not going to be one of those glistening, joyous Christmases even if the snow flies and warm candles light a thousand windows.

There is too much unfinished business knocking around the edges of the holiday, too much uncertainty, too much uneasiness.

In the Holy Land itself there is no war, but there is no real peace. There is tension between Jews and Moslems.

THERE WILL BE 48-hour Christmas and New Year's truces in Vietnam, and President Johnson's administration says it is ready to discuss an extension of the truces.

But the White House has indicated it is not interested in extending a pause in the bombing—as it did last year, with no visible benefit for the American side—without some corresponding action from the other side.

So far there has been none. As of now the prospect is for the same old war between the holidays and afterwards and no sign anywhere that the war is closer to an end than it was last Christmas.

Chance For A Santa Claus Tradition Is Turned Down

Novato is so close to Hamilton Air Force Base and has never developed areas where races live apart, that integration is more of an accepted way of life than most places. Peoples of all races live together all over the city and intermingle probably better than most places. This is no doubt due to the lack of segregation in the military stationed at Hamilton, but it has carried on through the community.

It is so well integrated that no one even commented when Negroes were named to city commissions and appointed to the police force. I give this as background for the following incident.

ONE ORGANIZATION within the city was trying to find someone to play Santa Claus. After several rejections, the person in charged phoned one member who was Negro.

After he heard the request, it was followed by a hearty laugh.

"You're kidding of course! Who ever heard of a brown Santa Claus" he answered laughing.

He refused, but I wish he hadn't. It might have started a tradition. And certainly would have been an eye opener to some people.

Come to think of it, why not?

WE ALL MAKE mistakes and the Independent-Journal is no exception. Somewhere between the Novato teletype and the printed paper in San Rafael, the story of the City of Novato's seventh birthday plans got fouled up.

Mrs. Bea Carpenter, who is known for her sewing ability, had made a suggestion that the home economics department at Novato High School make the birthday cake.

When the story came out, Bea was head of the home economics department going to bake the cake.

Nobory got a bigger laugh out than Bea.

"I can use a needle and thread, but in the kitchen I'm a total loss. My cooking is like that of Phyllis Diller," she laughed.

NOVATO'S POSTMASTER Harry Overly took me on a personal tour of the Novato Post Office during the Christmas mailing rush. Desks were jammed into a little space so that more of it could be used for the handling of the mail. Mail sorting racks were so close together that anyone with claustrophobia would go nuts. Facilities are entirely inadequate. There is one man's toilet for 59 men working there. There are 26 routes being handled out of a building whose space was inadequate years ago.

Harry said that two years ago the post office inspectors recommended a building three times as large as that for the Novato Post Office. And that was before the volume of mail was nearly doubled with the opening of the McGraw-Hill Book Co. north of the city.

So instead of getting larger quarters for the post office, the government last month signed a five year lease on the present inadequate building.

IT SEEMS AS though the federal government can take care of everyone from the poor who won't work to the natives of the jungle who don't want to and don't need to work, except their own post office employees.

In spite of this, the Novato Post Office has kept up with the Christmas rush. There has not been a line waiting at the windows to mail packages and the office has handled more than 50,000 letters a day during the peak of the season.

With that kind of help, everyone who receives or sends Christmas packages or cards will get them for Christmas. It is the post office's way of helping everybody have a merry Christmas.

Bobby Kennedy Tackling Giant When He Takes On FBI Chief

I AM NOT ONE to underrate Bobby Kennedy, whose meteoric rise from obscurity to stardom is a saga that outdoes anything Horatio Alger ever dreamed of. And, moreover, Bobby—ask Jimmy Hoffa— is for real.

If proof is needed that ours is a classless society and that it is not necessary to be born in a log cabin in order to succeed, we can all point pridefully to Bobbly.

His school marks may not have been the highest, and no university would have asked him to represent it on "College Bowl." Indeed, in the summer of 1960, when a TV interviewer asked how he stood on the Connally Amendment, Bobby admitted he didn't know what it was.

BUT HE MUST have boned up. For six months later the new President, who had promised to pick only the best men for his cabinet, unerringly chose Bobby as attorney-general.

And in 1964, realizing New York desperately needed representation in the Senate, Bobby made the sacrifice of giving up his beloved Massachusetts to take over the Democratic Party in the Empire State. Cynics said New Yorkers would never take outsiders—but they took Bobby and liked it.

A formidable record, to be sure. And yet the Senator may have overstepped himself in taking on J. Edgar Hoover, who has a fair record of his own.

THE FIRST TIME I ever heard of J. Edgar Hoover was back in the early days of the FDR regime. At a small Washington dinner Homer Cummings, then Attorney-general, was telling us what he hoped to do with the FBI, whose chief claim to fame at that day lay in receiving stolen automobiles. "Keep your eye on this young fellow, Hoover, we've got to run the department," said Mr. Cummings. "I have a notion he'll do us all proud."

AND THAT IS PRECISELY what that young fellow has been doing for some thirty-odd yers. He took a small, comparatively unknown agency and, by installing it with an esprit de corps equivalent to that of the marines, has turned it into a protective arm of the government that has struck fear into the hearts of criminal syndicates. "The FBI is on the case," are words they dread more than the guns of rival gangsters.

And to the rest of us—Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public—that same sentence has been a shield under which we felt safer during times of stress. Much as, to carry the analogy on, a besieged group of Americans might feel to know the marines had landed.

IF WE RESPECT the FBI and do not fear it, give Hoover credit for being scrupulous not to overstep his bounds. My job, he has said, is to procure evidence, not to judge it. When the investigator becomes the judge, you have a Gestapo—and that will never happen while I am here."

He has lived up to that precept, I daresay, better than any other officer. Indeed, the only time when the FBI was used to wake newspapermen in the middle of the night to demand the source of their information was at the specific direction of Attorney-Gen. Robert Kennedy, then Hoover's immediate superior.

I SAW HOOVER on the only occasion he ever, to my knowledge, asked to testify publicly —and that was when he felt his competence had been questioned. The name of Harry Dexter White, who Truman had conspicuously honored, had cropped up several times during a Senate investigation of Communist activities.

Truman, in his own inimitable way, denounced this as a vicious smear on a dead patriot whose loyalty, he knew, had never been even remotely questioned.

Whereupon Hoover, riled, produced chapter and verse to show he had laid the complete dossier on White, up for promotion, before Truman and two Supreme Court Justices. And was Truman's face red!

So, in the current feud, my money's on the FBI man. I could be wrong, but it is hard to believe that Bobby Kennedy, who could tell South Africa how to handle its problems and Mayor Yorty how to run Los Angeles, could be so incredibly unaware of what went on in his own bailiwick.

It's so out of character, Senator.

Fund Request On Agenda In Sausalito

Sausalito's application to the federal government to fund the second half of its $55,000 "701" planning program will be heard today by the city council when it meets at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

The first half, to update the 1959 general plan, is to be completed next month by the city's planning consultants, William Spangle and Associates of Menlo Park. The second half would provide a detailed plan for the central waterfront area. The government provides two-thirds of the funds.

Also on the agenda is a proposed contract with Lawrence Halprin and Associates, landscape architects, for detailed design work and supervision of the $439,031 project to widen Bridgeway between Princess and Richardson streets.

Councilmen are to adopt a resolution setting the amount and date of a bond election for a new library. They agreed Dec. 6 to a $250,000 bond election March 7.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Chance For A Santa Claus Tradition Is Turned Down

Novato is so close to Hamilton Air Force Base and has never developed areas where races live apart, that integration is more of an accepted way of life than most places. Peoples of all races live together all over the city and intermingle probably better than most places. This is no doubt due to the lack of segregation in the military stationed at Hamilton, but it has carried on through the community.

It is so well integrated that no one even commented when Negroes were named to city commissions and appointed to the police force. I give this as background for the following incident.

ONE ORGANIZATION within the city was trying to find someone to play Santa Claus. After several rejections, the person in charged phoned one member who was Negro.

After he heard the request, it was followed by a hearty laugh.

"You're kidding of course! Who ever heard of a brown Santa Claus" he answered laughing.

He refused, but I wish he hadn't. It might have started a tradition. And certainly would have been an eye opener to some people.

Come to think of it, why not?

WE ALL MAKE mistakes and the Independent-Journal is no exception. Somewhere between the Novato teletype and the printed paper in San Rafael, the story of the City of Novato's seventh birthday plans got fouled up.

Mrs. Bea Carpenter, who is known for her sewing ability, had made a suggestion that the home economics department at Novato High School make the birthday cake.

When the story came out, Bea was head of the home economics department going to bake the cake.

Nobory got a bigger laugh out than Bea.

"I can use a needle and thread, but in the kitchen I'm a total loss. My cooking is like that of Phyllis Diller," she laughed.

NOVATO'S POSTMASTER Harry Overly took me on a personal tour of the Novato Post Office during the Christmas mailing rush. Desks were jammed into a little space so that more of it could be used for the handling of the mail. Mail sorting racks were so close together that anyone with claustrophobia would go nuts. Facilities are entirely inadequate. There is one man's toilet for 59 men working there. There are 26 routes being handled out of a building whose space was inadequate years ago.

Harry said that two years ago the post office inspectors recommended a building three times as large as that for the Novato Post Office. And that was before the volume of mail was nearly doubled with the opening of the McGraw-Hill Book Co. north of the city.

So instead of getting larger quarters for the post office, the government last month signed a five year lease on the present inadequate building.

IT SEEMS AS though the federal government can take care of everyone from the poor who won't work to the natives of the jungle who don't want to and don't need to work, except their own post office employees.

In spite of this, the Novato Post Office has kept up with the Christmas rush. There has not been a line waiting at the windows to mail packages and the office has handled more than 50,000 letters a day during the peak of the season.

With that kind of help, everyone who receives or sends Christmas packages or cards will get them for Christmas. It is the post office's way of helping everybody have a merry Christmas.

20 YEARS AGO

Nearly $1 million was allocated by the State Division of Highways to expand a section of Sears Point Road between Vallejo Wye to Sears Point cutoff to a four-lane highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson sold the Inverness Lodge to Mary Richardson of Sleepy Hollow and Eugene J. Stillings.

A. M. Dewey was elected president of the Marin Rod and Gun Club succeeding Silvio Ruffino.

Bobby Kennedy Tackling Giant When He Takes On FBI Chief

I AM NOT ONE to underrate Bobby Kennedy, whose meteoric rise from obscurity to stardom is a saga that outdoes anything Horatio Alger ever dreamed of. And, moreover, Bobby—ask Jimmy Hoffa— is for real.

If proof is needed that ours is a classless society and that it is not necessary to be born in a log cabin in order to succeed, we can all point pridefully to Bobbly.

His school marks may not have been the highest, and no university would have asked him to represent it on "College Bowl." Indeed, in the summer of 1960, when a TV interviewer asked how he stood on the Connally Amendment, Bobby admitted he didn't know what it was.

BUT HE MUST have boned up. For six months later the new President, who had promised to pick only the best men for his cabinet, unerringly chose Bobby as attorney-general.

And in 1964, realizing New York desperately needed representation in the Senate, Bobby made the sacrifice of giving up his beloved Massachusetts to take over the Democratic Party in the Empire State. Cynics said New Yorkers would never take outsiders—but they took Bobby and liked it.

A formidable record, to be sure. And yet the Senator may have overstepped himself in taking on J. Edgar Hoover, who has a fair record of his own.

THE FIRST TIME I ever heard of J. Edgar Hoover was back in the early days of the FDR regime. At a small Washington dinner Homer Cummings, then Attorney-general, was telling us what he hoped to do with the FBI, whose chief claim to fame at that day lay in receiving stolen automobiles. "Keep your eye on this young fellow, Hoover, we've got to run the department," said Mr. Cummings. "I have a notion he'll do us all proud."

AND THAT IS PRECISELY what that young fellow has been doing for some thirty-odd yers. He took a small, comparatively unknown agency and, by installing it with an esprit de corps equivalent to that of the marines, has turned it into a protective arm of the government that has struck fear into the hearts of criminal syndicates. "The FBI is on the case," are words they dread more than the guns of rival gangsters.

And to the rest of us—Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public—that same sentence has been a shield under which we felt safer during times of stress. Much as, to carry the analogy on, a besieged group of Americans might feel to know the marines had landed.

IF WE RESPECT the FBI and do not fear it, give Hoover credit for being scrupulous not to overstep his bounds. My job, he has said, is to procure evidence, not to judge it. When the investigator becomes the judge, you have a Gestapo—and that will never happen while I am here."

He has lived up to that precept, I daresay, better than any other officer. Indeed, the only time when the FBI was used to wake newspapermen in the middle of the night to demand the source of their information was at the specific direction of Attorney-Gen. Robert Kennedy, then Hoover's immediate superior.

I SAW HOOVER on the only occasion he ever, to my knowledge, asked to testify publicly —and that was when he felt his competence had been questioned. The name of Harry Dexter White, who Truman had conspicuously honored, had cropped up several times during a Senate investigation of Communist activities.

Truman, in his own inimitable way, denounced this as a vicious smear on a dead patriot whose loyalty, he knew, had never been even remotely questioned.

Whereupon Hoover, riled, produced chapter and verse to show he had laid the complete dossier on White, up for promotion, before Truman and two Supreme Court Justices. And was Truman's face red!

So, in the current feud, my money's on the FBI man. I could be wrong, but it is hard to believe that Bobby Kennedy, who could tell South Africa how to handle its problems and Mayor Yorty how to run Los Angeles, could be so incredibly unaware of what went on in his own bailiwick.

It's so out of character, Senator.

10 YEARS AGO

Ross led Marin County's building boom with more than a 100 per cent increase in the value of building construction during the year.

Corte Madera Police Chief Frank L. Nelson was elected president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn., succeeding Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich.

The three-quarter-mile tunnel linking Fort Baker and Fort Barry was reopened after almost five months of renovation, the first over-all renovation since the tunnel was constructed in 1918.

Fund Request On Agenda In Sausalito

Sausalito's application to the federal government to fund the second half of its $55,000 "701" planning program will be heard today by the city council when it meets at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

The first half, to update the 1959 general plan, is to be completed next month by the city's planning consultants, William Spangle and Associates of Menlo Park. The second half would provide a detailed plan for the central waterfront area. The government provides two-thirds of the funds.

Also on the agenda is a proposed contract with Lawrence Halprin and Associates, landscape architects, for detailed design work and supervision of the $439,031 project to widen Bridgeway between Princess and Richardson streets.

Councilmen are to adopt a resolution setting the amount and date of a bond election for a new library. They agreed Dec. 6 to a $250,000 bond election March 7.

Hearing Held On Marijuana

A 22-year-old San Francisco State College student, Garth J. B. Upton, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possession of marijuana and having marijuana for sale. He is to enter plea Jan. 3.

Upton, arrested by San Rafael police Nov. 18, allegedly had a $20,000 cache of marijuana in the trunk of a car he was driving. Two companions also were arrested, but were released for insufficient evidence, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas.

Upton is free on $5,500 bail.

Trustees Approve Race Conference

Five students from Tamalpais High School, calling themselves the "ad hoc committee of concerned students," last night received approval of Tamalpais High School District trustees for a February conference on race problems at their school.

The students said they hoped to invite some top-name speakers, such as Dick Gregory and Stokely Carmichael, to the one-day conference, called a "listening day."

The five are Sylvia Hart, Terry Harris, Pete Scheaffer, Ron Blasingame and Bill Hindman.

The board again refused the request of the Tamalpais District Teachers Assn. that a board member and district administrator sit in on the teachers' discussions toward setting up a merit pay system.

In response to the teachers' request for clarification on what the board wants in a merit pay system, Dr. John C. Siemens, acting chairman in the absence of William B. Lewis, said the merit awards should be in pay increases rather than such things as promotions or in-service training.

He said the board wants to end the "lock-step" pay system under which raises are given strictly for the amount of time a teacher has been in the district and the number of college credits accumulated.

The board asked that the teachers have a proposal ready before salaries are considered next year.

Sabbatical leaves for next school year were granted to Robert Baugh and Robert Higins of Redwood High School, Mrs. Virginia Kraft of Tamalpais High School, and Adina Robinson, John Tassone and Wilma Thomas of Sir Francis Drake High School. Sixteen teachers had requested sabbatical leave.

The Tamalpais High School District Board also:

1. Approved application for $54,000 in federal funds for an experimental English composition program at Redwood High School.

2. Awarded a $11,028.16 contract for microscopes to Laboratory Equipment Co., and a $4,772 contract for shop equipment to A. L. Young Machinery Co.

3. Accepted a gift of books to Tamalpais High library from Jack Foisie of Mill Valley, a war correspondent in Vietnam.

4. Accpted the resignation of Claire Hurley, an English teacher at Drake High.

5. Set the next board meeting for Jan. 16, as the next regular meeting date falls on a holiday.

School Site Is Discussed

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle told Tamalpais High School District trustees last night that he feels a 35-acre site in the "downtown" area of Marincello will provide a high school to serve students beyond the Marincello area.

He said he is attending a series of meetings with representatives of Frouge Corp., developers of Marincello, the Marin County Planning Commission, and the Mill Valley and Sausalito School districts to discuss school needs in Marincello.

Tie Vote Halts Subdivision Plan

A San Anselmo Planning Commission motion to approve a three-lot subdivision on Camino De Herrera, owned by Martha Bruckner, failed on a tie vote last night.

Commissioners Dennis Moore, John West and Philip Heinecke voted against the subdivision after Mrs. Bruckner's representative indicated reluctance to complete the required improvements.

The commission granted Perrone Hardware's request to display merchandise outdoors in the Red Hill Shopping Center.

A discussion on increasing minimum lot size was postponed because Commissioner Kenneth Anderson was absent.

Pettijohn Enters Plea Of Insanity

Pleas of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity were entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Lewis Barton Pettijohn Jr., 33, charged with escape from county jail and two counts each of kidnaping and armed robbery.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson appointed two psychiatrists to report on Pettijohn's sanity Jan. 9.

Case of a co-defendant, Ronald Harold Berg, 21, was continued until Jan. 3 for appointment of psychiatrists.

The pair fled county jail Nov. 23, then allegedly kidnaped and robbed cab driver Bruce Hall, 35, of Forest Knolls, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Jorgensen and their son, Larry, of 510 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, prior to being recaptured.

Berg yesterday was sentenced to five years to life in state prison for the Aug. 17 armed robbery of Edgewater Inn Motel in Corte Madera.

Jury trial for Pettijohn on charges of passing a worthless check for $110 on June 4, 1964, and failure to return to county jail from work furlough on May 29, 1964, has been scheduled for the week of March 13.

Escobedo Found Innocent If Unlawful Weapons Use

CHICAGO (AP) — Danny Escobedo, 29, principal in an historic U.S. Supreme Court ruling on the right of suspects to legal counsel, was acquitted yesterday of a charge of unlawful use of weapons.

Escobedo was found innocent by a Circuit Court jury which had been told by defense attorney Marshall Schwarzbach that "the Chicago Police Department is out to get Danny Escobedo." Schwarzbach said the police have made Escobedo their "most hated person" because of the Supreme Court ruling in his favor.

Escobedo was arrested March 20 by Patrolman Joseph Curtin who testified he found a loaded gun in the front seat of Escobedo's car.

Escobedo is awaiting trial on charges of disorderly conduct and burglary.

Escobedo's name became a legal symbol when the Supreme Court reversed his 1960 murder conviction on the ground that he was not properly counseled before interrogation by police.

Yule Thieves Keeping Busy In Novato

Christmas thieves were still busy in Novato yesterday, one even cut three ornamental evergreen trees from one front yard in broad daylight, according to Novato police reports.

Antone Joaquin Monteire, 72, of 1009 Reichert Avenue, reported that while he was gone between 10:45 and 11:45 a.m., someone cut two white fir trees and a redwood tree from his yard.

Five residents reported ornaments and lights stolen from their outside decorations. These were Nina Louise Bettencourt of 1515 Center Road, who lost a snowman and lights: Lourdes Rivamonte of 1279 Leafwood Drive, lights valued at $3 and a name plate; Marguerite V. Fogler of 1567 Buchanan Street, 20 lights; Kathline Ann Heyman of 1416 Buchanan, eight lights, and Samuel F. Emmons of 6 Balra Drive, lights valued at $3.

Because of his new appointment under the U.S. Agency for International Development's Alliance for Progress, Fanning has resigned the vice presidency of Haley Corp. in San Francisco, but will continue to be associated with that firm. He is also president of Creative Tourism Ltd., a firm specializing in complete destination development, including real estate, architectural, engineering and promotional aspects.

Fanning, a travel agent for 16 years with Cartan Travel of Chicago and San Francisco and the Haley Corp., has twice been elected president of the Northern California Chapter of the American Society of Travel Agents. He has served on the management committee of the Pacific Area Travel Assn. and has been chairman of its workshop, publicity and promotion committees. He organized PATA's first Pacific sales seminar and is helping plan the 1967 conference in Seattle.

He and his wife and three daughters live a 4 Burrell Court, Tiburon. Fanning will remain here and conduct his tourism duties mostly from the U.S.
